

Richmond Public Library

STAR WARS

CHARACTER ENCYCLOPEDIA
UPDATED AND EXPANDED

Building Toy Ages
6+

NEW EXCLUSIVE MINIFIGURE

ORIGINAL 10

31143011427318

J 688.72 Dolan, H.

Dolan, Hannah,

Character encyclopedia /

Westside

J

Westside

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2021 with funding from Kahle/Austin Foundation

<https://archive.org/details/legostarwarschar0000dola>

STAR WARS®

CHARACTER ENCYCLOPEDIA UPDATED AND EXPANDED

WRITTEN BY HANNAH DOLAN, ELIZABETH DOWSETT, CLARE HIBBERT, SHARI LAST, AND VICTORIA TAYLOR

INTRODUCTION

Minifigures bring the LEGO® Star Wars galaxy to life—whether they are celebrated heroes like Obi-Wan Kenobi and Luke Skywalker, humble droids, or virtually identical clone troopers. They may be small figures, but they have many LEGO elements that make them fascinating and highly collectible.

How to use this book:

The book is divided into nine Star Wars sections—Episodes I through VI, the Clone Wars, Rebels and Legends. The minifigures are ordered according to the Star Wars property in which they first appeared or mostly featured. The series bar at the top of each page indicates every Star Wars property in which a minifigure appears (see above)*. As most Star Wars characters appear in the wider universe of Legends, that tab is highlighted only if a minifigure appears in a Legends set. The book distinguishes between “versions” of minifigures and “variants.” Versions are separate minifigures in their own right—so most versions have their own page. Variants are the same version of a minifigure but with modifications. For example, there are ten versions of Luke Skywalker in this book; one of those is X-wing pilot Luke, and that minifigure has been released in six different variations or variants. Like Luke, some minifigures have lots of variants, though, sadly, not all of them can fit in this book. The most significant ones, however, are shown in a “star variant” picture box. Data boxes on every page detail a minifigure’s first set release number and name, the year that set was released, the number of LEGO pieces from which the minifigure is made, and any accessories or weapons it carries. An alphabetical index of minifigures at the end of the book lists all the LEGO Star Wars sets in which each minifigure has ever appeared, its number of variants, and its page number.

*Note that if a character has both a Clone Wars minifigure and a classic minifigure, the Clone Wars tab is highlighted only on the Clone Wars version’s page.

EPISODE I

Qui-Gon Jinn 4
 Obi-Wan Kenobi (Padawan) 5
 Protocol Droids 6
 Jar Jar Binks 8
 Padmé Naberrie 9
 Queen Amidala 10
 Captain Panaka 11
 Anakin Skywalker (Podracer) 12
 R2-D2 13
 Watto 14
 Sebulba 15
 W.Wald 16
 Gasgano 17
 Aldar Beedo 18
 Pit Droid 19
 Darth Maul 20
 Yoda 21
 Mace Windu 22
 Republic Captain 23
 R2-R7 24
 Gungan Soldier 25
 Battle Droid 26
 Destroyer Droid 27
 Battle Droids (Specialists) 28
 Naboo Fighter Pilot 30
 Naboo Security Guard 31

EPISODE II

Obi-Wan Kenobi (Jedi Knight) 32
 R4-P17 33
 Anakin Skywalker (Padawan) 34
 Zam Wessell 35
 Jango Fett 36
 Boba Fett (Young Clone) 37
 Tusken Raider 38

Padmé Amidala (Tatooine) 39
 Jedi Knight 40
 Coleman Trebor 41
 Stass Allie 42
 Geonosian Battle Droid 43
 Count Dooku 44
 Poggle the Lesser 45
 Geonosian Warrior 46
 Super Battle Droid 47
 Clone Trooper (Phase I Armor) 48
 Clone Troopers (Ranks) 49
 Clone Pilot 50
 FA-4 Pilot Droid 51

CLONE WARS

Anakin Skywalker (CW) 52
 R2-D2 (CW) 53
 Obi-Wan Kenobi (CW) 54
 Plo Koon 55
 Yoda (CW) 56
 Luminara Unduli (CW) 57
 Ahsoka Tano 58
 R7-A7 59
 Rotta The Hutt 60
 Clone Trooper (CW - Phase I) 61
 Clone Troopers
 (Phase I Specialists) 62
 Clone Troopers (Ranks) 64
 Captain Rex 65
 Clone Troopers (Specialists) 66
 Clone Troopers (Units) 68
 Commander Cody 70
 Mandalorian Super Commando 71
 Count Dooku (CW) 72
 Asajj Ventress 73
 Chancellor Palpatine 74

General Grievous (CW) 75
 MagnaGuard 76
 Padmé Amidala (Senator) 77
 Nute Gunray 78
 Onaconda Farr 79
 Elite Assassin Droid 80
 Commander Fox 81
 Pilot Droid (CW) 82
 Shaak Ti 83
 TX-20 84
 Clone Commander Wolffe 85
 Rocket Droid Commander 86
 Commando Droid 87
 Clone Commander Gree 88
 Senate Commando Captain 89
 Nahdar Vebb 90
 A4-D 91
 Hondo Ohnaka 92
 Turk Falso 93
 Aayla Secura 94
 Anakin Skywalker (Parka Gear) 95
 Thi-Sen 96
 Cad Bane 97
 Sugi 98
 Embo 99
 Ki-Adi-Mundi 100
 Barriss Offee 101
 Eeth Koth 102
 Winged Geonosian Warrior 103
 Zombie Geonosian 104
 Pre Vizsla 105
 Mandalorian 106
 Aurra Sing 107
 Shahan Alama 108
 Quinlan Vos 109
 Savage Opress 110

Saasee Tiin 111
R8-B7 112
Even Piell 113
Umbaran Soldier 114
Pong Krell 115
Rako Hardeen 116
Nikto Guard 117
Darth Maul (Mechanical Legs) 118

EPISODE III

Commander Neyo 119
Clone Trooper (CW - Phase II) 120
Anakin Skywalker (Jedi Knight) 121
Obi-Wan Kenobi (Jedi Master) 122
Clone Pilot (Episode III) 123
Astromech Droids 124
Buzz Droid 126
General Grievous 127
Chancellor Palpatine
(Kidnapped Leader) 128
Kit Fisto 129
Agen Kolar 130
Chief Tarfful 131
Wookiee Warrior 132
Chewbacca 133
Clone Troopers (Units) 134
Clone Troopers (Specialists) 136
Chancellor Palpatine (Sith Lord) 138
Emperor Palpatine 139
Captain Jag 140
Neimoidian Warrior 141
Anakin Skywalker (Fallen Jedi) 142
2-IB 143
FX-6 144
Darth Vader 145

REBELS

TIE Pilot 146
Hera Syndulla 147
C1-10P 148
Kanan Jarrus 149
Stormtrooper (Rebels) 150
Sabine Wren 151
Zeb 152
Ezra Bridger 153
Imperial Officer (Rebels) 154
AT-DP Driver 155
Agent Kallus 156
Wulffwarro 157
Wookiee Warrior (Rebels) 158
The Inquisitor 159

EPISODE IV

Stormtrooper 160
C-3PO 161
Captain Antilles 162
Rebel Scout Trooper 163
Princess Leia (Senator) 164
Luke Skywalker (Tatooine) 165
Skyhopper Pilot 166
Owen Lars 167
Jawa 168

R5-D4 169
Droids 170
Dark Side Droids 172
ASP Droid 174
Obi-Wan "Ben" Kenobi 175
Sandtrooper 176
Bith Musician 177
Han Solo 178
Greedo 179
Grand Moff Tarkin 180
Imperial Officer 181
Imperial Gunner 182
Death Star Droid 183
Luke Skywalker (Stormtrooper) 184
Han Solo (Stormtrooper) 185
Luke Skywalker (X-Wing Pilot) 186
Rebel Pilot 187
Dutch Vander 188
Biggs Darklighter 189
Jek Porkins 190
Wedge Antilles 191
TIE Pilot 192
Luke Skywalker
(Medal Ceremony) 193
Han Solo (Medal Ceremony) 194

EPISODE V

Luke Skywalker (Hoth) 195
Han Solo (Hoth) 196
Princess Leia (Hoth) 197
General Rieekan 198
Hoth Trooper 199
Luke Skywalker (Infirmary) 200
Admiral Firmus Piett 201
General Veers 202
AT-AT Driver 203
Snowtrooper 204
Zev Senesca 205
Dak Ralter 206
Luke Skywalker (Dagobah) 207
Bossk 208
Dengar 209
Boba Fett 210
IG-88 211
Lando Calrissian 212
Lobot 213
Bespin Security Guard 214
Princess Leia (Cloud City) 215
Luke Skywalker (Cloud City) 216
Han Solo (Carbonite) 217

EPISODE VI

Jabba The Hutt 218
Gamorrean Guard 219
Bib Fortuna 220
B'omarr Monk 221
Oola 222
Salacious B. Crumb 223
EV-9D9 224
Malakili 225
Boushh 226
Luke Skywalker (Jedi Knight) 227

Princess Leia (Jabba's Prisoner) 228
Lando Calrissian (Skiff Guard) 229
Weequay Skiff Guard 230
Ree-Yees 231
Max Rebo 232
R2-D2 (with Serving Tray) 233
Kithaba 234
Imperial Navy Trooper 235
Imperial Pilot 236
R2-Q5 237
Royal Guard 238
Mon Mothma 239
Admiral Ackbar 240
General Crix Madine 241
Lando Calrissian (General) 242
B-Wing Pilot 243
Ten Numb 244
Rebel Technician 245
General Airen Cracken 246
Gray Squadron Pilot 247
A-Wing Pilot 248
Luke Skywalker (Endor) 249
Princess Leia (Endor) 250
Rebel Commando 251
Scout Trooper 252
AT-ST Driver 253
Wicket W. Warrick 254
Teebo (Ewok) 255
Paploo 256
Logray 257
Tokkat 258
Chief Chirpa 259
Ewok Warrior 260

LEGENDS

Darth Revan 261
Jace Malcom 262
Darth Malgus 263
Jedi Consular 264
Jedi Knight (OR) 265
Sith Warrior 266
Republic Trooper 267
Satele Shah 268
T7-O1 269
Sith Trooper 270
Ithorian Jedi Master 271
Jek-14 272
RA-7 Protocol Droid 273
Bounty Hunter 274
R4-GO 275
Special Forces Clone Trooper 276
V-Wing Pilot 277
R2-Q2 278
Glen Marek 279
Juno Eclipse 280
Darth Vader (Battle Damaged) 281
Shadow Trooper 282
Shadow Guard 283

Behind the scenes 284
Index of minifigures 286
Acknowledgments 288

Qui-Gon Jinn

JEDI MASTER

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Maverick Jedi Master Qui-Gon Jinn has appeared in nine LEGO Star Wars sets since 1999. There are five slightly different variants of Qui-Gon, but he always appears in his Jedi robe and tunic, ready to undertake a mission for the Jedi Order. Each variant wears a cape and has either his unique brown hair or a brown hood, which helps him to keep a low profile.

Dual-sided head—on the other side, Qui-Gon is raising an eyebrow

Green lightsaber blade with silver hilt

Torso with Jedi tunic and utility belt was updated in 2011

Jedi robes are a standard brown fabric cape

STAR VARIANTS

First Qui-Gon

With a yellow head and hands, this Qui-Gon has a cape but no hood. He dates from 1999 and stars in five LEGO Star Wars sets.

Hooded Qui-Gon

From the 2007 limited edition Republic Cruiser (set 7660), this hooded variant is the first to have a flesh-colored head. Early issues of the set had different face printing.

Submarine hero

This Qui-Gon travels in the 2012 Gungan Sub (set 9499). He has an aquatic rebreather to travel to the underwater city of Otoh Gunga.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75058 MTT

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Cape, lightsaber

STAR VARIANTS

Hooded hero

The hooded 2011 Obi-Wan has a dual-sided head to look relaxed or serious.

The first flesh-colored variant appears in 2007.

Padawan braid
Obi-Wan has a Padawan braid in Jedi Defense I (set 7103). He has the same head piece as the 1999 variant (Gungan Sub set 7161).

Aquatic Obi-Wan

Aboard the 2012 Gungan Sub (set 9499), Padawan Obi-Wan has a two-sided head. Like his master Qui-Gon, he wears an aquatic rebreather on one side.

Young Padawan Obi-Wan

Kenobi is apprentice to Jedi Master Qui-Gon Jinn, faithfully learning the ways of the Force. This version of Obi-Wan appears in five different sets and each minifigure has a slight variation. He is, however, always dressed in his Jedi apparel and is seldom without his blue lightsaber.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75058 MTT

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Cape, lightsaber

Obi-Wan Kenobi
PADAWAN APPRENTICE

Protocol droids are among the smartest droids in the LEGO Star Wars universe. They assist their masters with everything from general secretarial duties to complex tactical planning and spy detection. Many protocol droids prove invaluable to their masters—K-3PO, for example, was promoted to lieutenant in the rebel army for his exceptional work.

TC-14 is one of only two chrome minifigures. The other being the chrome stormtrooper (p.160).

Female droid

Most protocol droids are programmed to be male. TC-14 is an exception. Her feminine personality helped her owner, Viceroy Nute Gunray. He made TC-14 distract Qui-Gon Jinn and Obi-Wan Kenobi, who were disguised as Republic ambassadors, while he tried to gas them.

DATA FILE

NAME: TC-14
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 5000063
TC-14
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Red coloring matches the robes of his master, Chancellor Palpatine

Chrome silver leg piece is only found on one other minifigure, a silver stormtrooper

Mechanical elements and wires also printed on the back of TC-4's torso

Unique leg printing shows metal plating

DATA FILE

NAME: TC-4
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 5002122
TC-4
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

R-3PO performs his espionage duties by closely observing others with his photoreceptors

Distinctive red protocol droid armor

Plate pattern also printed on the back of R-3PO's torso

No tattoo

R-3PO is thought to sport a tattoo on his left posterior that says "Thank the Maker", but there is no sign of it on his minifigure! R-3PO has plain red minifigure hip and leg pieces.

DATA FILE

NAME: R-3PO
YEAR: 2011[†]
FIRST SET: 7879 Hoth Echo Base
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Standard print

Apart from K-3PO's special rank branding, the rest of the printing on his torso is exactly the same as on other 3PO series droid minifigures, such as R-3PO.

K-3PO is branded with two red dots that identify him as a rebel lieutenant

Ridged pelvic armor plate

K-3PO's armor is all-white—perfect camouflage on the icy planet of Hoth

DATA FILE

NAME: K-3PO
YEAR: 2007
FIRST SET: 7666 Hoth Rebel Base
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Protocol Droids

HUMANOID HELPERS

Jar Jar Binks

GOOFY GUNGAN

Bumbling Gungan Jar Jar Binks broke the LEGO mold as the first minifigure ever to have a unique head sculpt. He found his way into five Episode I sets in 1999–2000, and then made a comeback in the 2011 set The Battle of Naboo (7929). In 2011, Jar Jar's head-mold had printing added to give him a new look.

Flat eyes, painted yellow with black pupils

Mottled skin is good for camouflage

This Jar Jar has flesh-colored arms and hands, while the original has lighter tan arms and hands

STAR VARIANT

Early Jar Jar

The first LEGO Jar Jar Binks has a very similar head-mold to the 2011 design except for one thing: his eye stalks are split to depict his eyes. On the 2011 design, Jar Jar's eye stalks are flat and he has printed eyes.

Amphibious ears

Jar Jar's distinct floppy ears are integrated into his head-mold and are printed with a mottled skin pattern.

Jar Jar is an outcast from his people and lives alone in the swamps, so his clothing is dirty and ragged

Torso design is first seen on the 2011 variant. The pattern continues on Jar Jar's back

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7929
The Battle of Naboo
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Energy balls

STAR VARIANT

First Queen

The original Padmé Naberrie minifigure has yellow flesh, a unique head with a wide smile, and slightly different printing on her torso. She comes in two sets: Anakin's Podracer (set 7131) and Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171).

Padmé's long hair is braided at the top and flows down her back

Don't tell anyone, but Padmé Naberrie is actually Queen Amidala of Naboo in disguise! She is dressed as one of her handmaidens to avoid detection on the planet Tatooine. Padmé appears in this disguise in three LEGO Star Wars sets, in two variations. Padmé's battle-ready attire is quite different from the royal robes she wears as queen on board the Gungun Sub (p.10).

Two faces
One side of Padmé's head is smiling, but turn it around and the other side has a look of concern.

Padmé is simply dressed in a gray vest and blue undershirt. This unique torso pattern continues on the back

Red-jeweled belt

Padmé carries a short blaster pistol to protect herself

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7961 Darth Maul's Sith Infiltrator
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Padmé Naberrie
DISGUISED QUEEN OF NABOO

Queen Amidala

STEADFAST LEADER

Queen Amidala of Naboo isn't afraid to stand out. She leads her people fearlessly, never bowing to tyranny or corruption. This exclusive 2012 minifigure of the Queen certainly stands out, too! It features her distinctive white face and an elaborate head piece that incorporates her trademark hairstyle.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9499
 Gungan Sub
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 None

Bright red printed skirt piece is unique to this minifigure

Gungan Sub (set 9499)

Obi-Wan Kenobi, Qui-Gon Jinn and Jar Jar Binks set off to rescue Queen Amidala aboard the Gungan Sub. The cockpit has no seat for the Queen, but that's not a problem—she never actually traveled on the sub.

Magnificent head piece of traditional Naboo royal design

Exclusive molds

Every part of Queen Amidala's minifigure is unique to her. The headdress and skirt pieces were made using new LEGO molds, created especially for this minifigure.

Royal pattern of Naboo is printed on torso and skirt piece

Base of the skirt piece is the same size as a round 4x4 plate

Sith Infiltrator (set 7961)

Captain Panaka's minifigure is exclusive to this 2011 set. Ready Sith apprentice Darth Maul is in pursuit of Captain Panaka and his charge, Queen Padmé Amidala, in his Sith Infiltrator. Can the minifigures escape Maul?

Unique gold and red LEGO helmet bears the Naboo Security crest

Captain Panaka has a unique LEGO head. His stern expression shows how seriously he takes his responsibilities as Head of Security

Protective reddish-brown gloves

As a Naboo High Officer, Panaka wears a protective jerkin with inbuilt anti-blast armor plates

A great deal of responsibility rests on this minifigure's shoulders. Captain Panaka is head of the Royal Naboo Security Forces. He is also solely responsible for the Queen's safety. Dressed in a distinctive Naboo High Officer uniform, the minifigure makes his first and only appearance in Darth Maul's Sith Infiltrator (set 7961).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7961, Darth

Maul's Sith Infiltrator

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Captain Panaka

NABOO HEAD OF SECURITY

Young slave Anakin Skywalker may be just a boy, but he can handle a Podracer like no one else! This minifigure made his Podracing debut in 1999 and has since sped into seven sets. The 2011 variant can change from ordinary slave boy to Podracing supremo, ready to ride in his redesigned Podracer.

Anakin Skywalker and Sebulba's Podracers (set 7962)
In the final lap of the Boonta Eve Classic Podrace, Anakin and his rival are neck and neck. Sebulba plays dirty with a buzzsaw, but Anakin has the Force on his side.

In Naboo Starfighter (set 7877), Anakin has a brown helmet with flight goggles and has light brown hair.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7962
Anakin Skywalker and Sebulba's Podracers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
None

Necklace given to Anakin by his mother

The shorter LEGO legs do not have a moveable hip joint like regular legs

STAR VARIANTS

Short stuff

The young Anakin minifigure was one of the first to try out shorter legs. The first variant seen with them is in Naboo N-1 Starfighter with Vulture Droid (set 7660) in 2007.

Rare racer

This early variant is exclusive to Naboo Starfighter (set 7141) from 1999. A similar variant with a gray helmet appears in three 1999-2000 sets.

Anakin wears a simple slave tunic with a brown belt on Tatooine. His clothing can be seen on the back of his torso, too

Podrace face

One side of Anakin's face has goggles and a determined look. He is ready to Podrace

Anakin Skywalker PODRACING SLAVE BOY

STAR VARIANTS

Classic

The star of 14 sets from 1999 to 2008, the original R2-D2 has a white head with silver and blue printing.

New head

This variation with a light gray head appears in ten sets—the first was the Death Star (set 10188) in 2008.

Astromech

When Artoo was released, his entire body was made from unique LEGO pieces. Since then, other astromechs have used the same pieces but with varying printing and colors.

Brave astromech droid R2-D2 has ventured into 27 LEGO Star Wars sets to date, making him the most recurring minifigure in the LEGO line. R2-D2's head was redesigned in 2008, but the rest of his printing stayed the same until 2014. On Jabba's Sail Barge (sets 6210 and 75020), two different Artoos are forced to carry drinks on a tray built into his minifigure.

LEGO R2-D2 acquired a new bluish-gray head when he was redesigned in 2008

Camera eye records messages

Holoprojector transmits holographic images and acts as a spotlight

The 2013 R2-D2 in Ewok Village (set 10236) has lighter blue printing than this variant

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75038 Jedi Interceptor
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

LEGO® Technic pins join legs to his body

Acoustic signaler

Ventilation point

R2-D2 ASTROMECH DROID

This tricky Toydarian junk dealer is a tough minifigure to get hold of! Watto first appeared in a single set in 2001, Watto's Junkyard (set 7186), and was not seen again—until he resurfaced in 2011 with a new look. As he is constantly in flight, Watto's minifigure has a translucent stand to raise him high above the dusty earth of Tatooine.

STAR VARIANT

Blue Watto

The original variant of winged Watto is not one for details—he has a plain blue head and torso piece with no printing on it. Underneath that is a plain tan torso piece. This variant is rare, appearing just once in Watto's Junkyard (set 7186) in 2001.

Fast-moving wings

Narrowed, yellow-printed eyes may be considering a deal

Sandwich boards

Watto's head, wings, and torso are all a single LEGO piece. Such pieces are known as sandwich boards, like the wearable signs. Wookiee and Ewok minifigures also wear sandwich boards, as does the Gamorrean Guard (p.219).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7962
 Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Printed utility belt with welding equipment for fixing up junk

Rounded tummy filled with gas

Short LEGO legs. The first variant of Watto had standard LEGO legs

Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers (set 7962)

Sebulba's Podracer in the Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers set is built to intimidate. Not only is it bigger than his opponents' Podracers, but it also has a bunch of illegal weapons—some hidden—for sabotage purposes during the race.

STAR VARIANT

Static Sebulba

The original Sebulba is all one LEGO piece and has no movement capability, making it a very unusual minifigure. This variant is rare—it is exclusive to Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171) from 2001.

Racing cap with goggles

Sebulba walks on his arms. They are moveable on this 2011 redesign

Sebulba's head and body are one LEGO piece, but his arms are removeable

Sebulba has adapted his hind limbs to steer his Podracer

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7962
 Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Tight leg straps wind around Sebulba's hands

Sebulba

PODRACER PILOT

Young W. Wald is a slave on Tatooine. He is a Rodian—the third of his species to appear in LEGO minifigure form—and wears a simple tunic. He first appears alongside his friend Anakin Skywalker in 2011, in Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers (set 7962). He doubts his friend's Podracing skills, but maybe Anakin can change his mind in the Boonta Eve Classic!

Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers (set 7962)

Wald makes his one LEGO Star Wars appearance to date in this 2011 set.

The Rodian minifigure cheers on his friend, Anakin Skywalker, as he prepares to Podrace in the Boonta Eve Classic!

Wald's unique Rodian head has large and multifaceted eyes, rough green skin, and a protruding snout

Rodian

W. Wald is the third Rodian minifigure to appear in LEGO Star Wars sets—the first is bounty hunter Greedo (p.179). W. Wald's Rodian head is made from the same mold as Greedo's, but the color and printing are different.

Wald is a small Rodian child, so his minifigure has short, unposeable LEGO legs

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7962

Anakin's and Sebulba's Podracers

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: None

Simple, hardwearing slave tunic. This torso design is unique to Wald's minifigure

W. Wald
RODIAN SLAVE

Gasgano's Espa Podrace (set 7171)

Watch out for Gasgano in this 1999 LEGO set—he is one of the fastest Podracers on the track! This exclusive minifigure can reach enormous speeds in his powerful Espa Podracer thanks to anti-bulbance vanes that move as the craft races for the finish line of the Boonta Eve Classic.

Gasgano's arms

In Episode I, Gasgano has six arms, but his LEGO minifigure only has four! Two of Gasgano's arms work the foot pedals of his Podracer during a race and can't be seen—maybe why his minifigure has just four arms.

These arm pieces feature many droid minifigures in LEGO Star Wars

DATA FILE

YEAR: 1999
SET: 7171
PODRACER: Espa Podracer
OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 8
ACCESSORIES: None

Multitasking minifigure Gasgano likes to keep his Podracing competitors at arm's length! He employs his many LEGO arms to pilot his Podracer at great speeds and takes second place in the Boonta Eve Classic. Blink and you will miss him, as the minifigure only appears in one LEGO Star Wars set.

This light gray LEGO helmet is popular on the Podracing circuit—young Podracer Anakin Skywalker (p.12) also wears it

Gasgano's white head with large alien eyes and a driven stare is unique to his minifigure

Gasgano is the only LEGO minifigure to feature this piece. It is often part of a chainsaw tool in other sets

Gasgano
PODRACER PILOT

This mercenary minifigure has accepted payment for taking down his racing rival Sebulba during the Boonta Eve Classic Podrace. Can Aldar Beedo complete his task? His pretty impressive Podracer appears in Watto's Junkyard (set 7186) in 2001, along with the latest variant of his lanky Glymphid minifigure.

Watto's Junkyard (set 7186)

The 2001 variant of Aldar is exclusively featured in Watto's Junkyard. His impressive Podracer is a Mark IV Flat-Twin Turbojet model with huge engines and afterburners. Beedo fits inside the Pod.

This Podracer clearly isn't too worried about safety—he isn't wearing a flight helmet! But Beedo's original variant wears a brown helmet

Elongated Glymphid snout

Glymphids have suction cups on their fingertips

STAR VARIANT

Older Aldar

This variant of Aldar Beedo appears in LEGO Star Wars Podracing Bucket (set 7159), in a simplified version of Beedo's Podracer. The minifigure has no unique LEGO pieces and his body is mostly made up of parts from battle droid minifigures.

The LEGO Group created Aldar Beedo's long, thin minifigure mold especially for him

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2001
FIRST SET: 7186
 Watto's Junkyard Podracers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 1
ACCESSORIES: None

Stand fits into the cockpit of Beedo's Podracer. It is not removeable from his body

One piece

Aldar Beedo is one of the few LEGO minifigures to be made from a single LEGO piece. The original variant of Beedo's Podracing rival Sebulba (p.15) is the only other single-piece minifigure in the LEGO Star Wars theme.

Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171)

This 1999 set contains all three variants of the pit droid. Each one has a repair station with a fully-stocked tool rack and race flags in its Podracer's racing colors. It looks like Sebulba's afterburner needs some attention!

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Any Podracer problems are quickly fixed by the LEGO pit droid! There are three variants of the pit droid minifigure and all are present at the Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171). Each Podracer pilot included in the set—Anakin Skywalker, Sebulba, and Gasgano—has a dedicated pit droid. The pit droid is built to make speedy repairs, so its Podracer pilot won't be left waiting for long!

STAR VARIANTS

Gasgano's droid
This pit droid is made from the same LEGO pieces as Anakin's pit droid but they are mostly white. It only appears in Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171) from 1999.

Sebulba's droid
Sebulba is a shady character, so his droid is made up of dark-colored LEGO bricks! His mostly brown droid appears in Mos Espa Podrace (set 7171).

The pit droid's robotic arms handle various LEGO tools, including a circular saw and a power drill.

Single yellow photoreceptor

This head plate protects the pit droid from falling machinery

This pit droid is dedicated to Anakin's Podracer

Wide feet steady the pit droid when it is working at fast speeds

Pit Droid

PODRACER MECHANIC

DATA FILE

YEAR: 1999
FIRST SET: 7131
Anakin's Podracer
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 12
ACCESSORIES: None

Darth Maul is the terrifying Sith apprentice of Darth Sidious. He lurks in the shadows, waiting for his chance to attack the Jedi! Maul's minifigure appears in nine LEGO Star Wars sets. His horned Zabrak head-mold was created in 2011, and in his 2012 variant he is without his usual robes—so you can see the Nightbrother tattoos on his arms.

Merry Sithmas
The 2012 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar came with a Santa Maul. He wears a red cape with a fur-lined hood, and has a festive candy cane printed on the back of his torso.

STAR VARIANTS

The eyes have it

Early Maul minifigures have regular LEGO heads printed with Nightbrother tattoos and yellow eyes. This 1999 variant from Sith Infiltrator (set 7663) has black pupils in the eyes and different face patterns.

All in black

This 2011 minifigure appears in Darth Maul's Sith Infiltrator (set 7961). At the time, only two minifigures had double-bladed lightsabers: Maul and Savage Opress.

Darth Maul is a Nightbrother from Dathomir. His eyes have turned yellow from studying the dark side

In the first set to include Darth Maul—Lightsaber Duel (set 7101)—Maul's lightsaber hilt came with only one blade

This minifigure was used for promotional giveaways, including at the 2012 New York Toy Fair and Legoland Windsor in April 2012

New torso piece unique to this minifigure

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 5000062
MAUL MAUL
MAUL SETS: 1
ACCESSORIES:
Double-bladed
lightsaber

Darth Maul

SITH APPRENTICE

STAR VARIANT

An old Jedi

Yoda is over 900 years old! Although he can leap through the air during a lightsaber duel like a Jedi half his age, his minifigure also comes with a wooden walking stick in X-Wing Fighter (set 4502).

Getting a head

Yoda's head, with its large, distinctive ears, has been remolded several times. The 2013 minifigure has the most detailed head yet, with printed wisps of gray hair on the back. The rubberized plastic makes the ears slightly flexible.

Yoda's head is made of rubber instead of the ABS plastic used for most LEGO pieces

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75017

Duel on Geonosis

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber

Torso shows glimpse of green skin at the neck

Yoda's unique torso piece has detailed folds as well as a Jedi hood printed on the back

Yoda is smaller than most other Jedi, but his lightsaber is standard LEGO size. The variant in Jedi Temple (set 7103) also carries a lightsaber

Yoda was the first LEGO minifigure to have short, unposeable legs

Yoda
JEDI GRAND MASTER

Former Master of the Jedi Order Mace Windu has no sooner given over his title to Yoda than he is on the front line at the Battle of Geonosis, leading his Jedi knights against the Separatist forces! In this 2013 version from AT-TE (set 75019), Windu carries his trademark purple lightsaber, ready to take on his enemies.

STAR VARIANTS

On Coruscant

Windu is one of the four Jedi sent to arrest Senator Palpatine in Palpatine's Arrest (set 9526). His unique belt has one silver buckle and two brown ones.

Light-up weapon

In the 2005 Clone Turbo Tank (set 7261), Windu carries a light-up lightsaber. He uses a non-light-up equivalent in the set's 2006 reissue.

Clone Wars Windu

This big-eyed version of Windu flies in Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter (set 7868) and the Republic Attack Shuttle (set 8019).

Mace Windu is the only LEGO Star Wars minifigure to carry a purple lightsaber

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75019
AT-TE
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

AT-TE (set 75019)

Mace Windu takes part in the Battle of Geonosis in the armored AT-TE. Brave Mace is joined by his fellow Jedi Master, Coleman Trebor, and a clone trooper commander.

No hair piece because Mace Windu is bald

Torso printing is unique to this minifigure

Legs are printed with dark tan Jedi robes

Republic Cruiser (set 7665)

The Republic captain is in command of the Republic cruiser Radiant VII. Running the starship from a control panel inside its middle section, the captain leaves the job of flying it to the Republic pilot (pictured). The pilot sits in the cockpit, which has room for just one minifigure.

Light flesh head with standard grin

This blue crew uniform is unique to the Republic captain and pilot of the Republic cruiser

Cruiser pilot

The Republic pilot is exactly the same minifigure as the Republic captain, but he has a blue cap instead of hair.

Silver belt buckle

Dark blue hips and legs

Maoi Madakor?

The Republic captain minifigure may be the female captain of Radiant VII, Maoi Madakor, as seen in Episode I—although it is not named as her by the LEGO Group. The Republic Pilot may be her co-pilot Antidar Williams.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2007

FIRST SET: 7665

Republic Cruiser

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Republic Captain CRUISER COMMANDER

Working away behind the scenes on the Republic Cruiser (set 7665) is R2-R7. If you blink you might miss him, as this green astromech droid has only ever been seen in one LEGO set. He has a docking station aboard the starship from which he provides indispensable in-flight backup for the Republic Captain and Pilot minifigures.

Republic Cruiser (set 7665)

The dependable R2-R7 is exclusive to this 2007 set. He sits in the middle of the cruiser, which also transports Obi Wan-Kenobi, Qui-Gon Jinn, and a Republic Pilot and Captain across the galaxy.

R2 unit

This is one of eight droids that come with the Sandcrawler (set 75059). Very similar to R2-R7, it has some blue buttons on the head and more green panels on the front.

Radar eye tracks flight paths and scans for malfunctions

Ghost droid

R2-R7 was obviously very hard at work aboard the Republic Cruiser in Episode I because he is never actually seen in the movie! His role is to monitor flight performance and carry out repairs.

Silver and green printed head. The only other green astromech droids are the R2 unit (above) and R4-P44 (p.124)

R2-R7's legs are moveable because they are attached to his body piece with LEGO Technic pins

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2007
FIRST SET: 7665
Republic Cruiser
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
None

These compartments house tools and connectors that mean R2-R7 can fix just about anything

Protruding lower body stores a third leg for extra maneuverability

R2-R7

GREEN ASTROMECH DROID

This cesta has an energy ball mounted on it, ready to be hurled at a battle droid

Head mold is the same as that on the Jar Jar Binks minifigure (p.8), with different printing

The 2015 variant has an updated, more decorative torso design and brown hands

The Gungans are a peaceful species, but when Naboo is deluged by the Trade Federation's droid army, they are forced to defend it. The Gungan soldier has battled in three LEGO Star Wars sets. His uniform is different each time, but his determined expression remains unchanged.

STAR VARIANTS

Green Gungan

This is the first variant to go into battle in LEGO Star Wars.

He is exclusive to Gungan Patrol (set 7115) from 2000.

His plain head is the same as that seen on the first Jar Jar Binks (p.8), and his uniform is green instead of brown.

Back in battle

The Gungan soldier returned in 2011 with a more muted, brown uniform.

He also found time to enjoy the holidays in the 2012 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar (set 9509).

Unique energy shield protects the Gungan soldier from blaster fire

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75086

Battle Droid

Troop Carrier

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES:

Cesta and energy ball, energy shield

Gungan Soldier

AMPHIBIOUS FIGHTER

Battle Droid

SEPARATIST FOOT SOLDIER

The battle droid minifigure has been released in vast numbers in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy, appearing in around 60 LEGO sets to date. The Separatist soldier relies on quantity, not skill, to defeat its enemy. It cannot think independently and its firing accuracy is poor—partly because the minifigure could not hold a blaster correctly until 2007!

LEGO head and chest pieces were specially created for the battle droid minifigure

As with normal LEGO minifigures, the battle droid is only articulated at the shoulder, but its two arms are not identical

Regular infantry battle droids have plain tan torsos, but command officers have colored torsos to denote rank

SE-14 blaster pistol

Armed arm

Two variants of the battle droid minifigure cannot hold a blaster vertically. However, since 2007, the battle droid has had one straight, or turned, arm so the minifigure can hold a gun correctly.

STAR VARIANTS

Traveling light

First appearing in the 1999 Naboo Fighter (set 7141), this battle droid now comes in a total of 16 LEGO sets. He is near-identical to the battle droid with the backpack, but he is stationed on the ground, so he doesn't need somewhere to store a parachute!

Backpack

Two 1999–2000 LEGO sets have included this battle droid with a backpack: Naboo Swamp (set 7121) and LEGO Star Wars #4 Battle Droid Minifigure Pack (set 3343).

One of a kind

This droid is unique to the 2008 Droid Gunship (set 7678), which contains a pair. It is the only straight-armed battle droid without a backpack, whose hands both face the front.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2007

FIRST SET: 7662 MTT

NO. OF SETS: 8

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

The battle droid's feet and legs are one LEGO piece

STAR VARIANTS

Simple start

The original droideka figure from 2002 has a much simpler design than the 2007 variant, but its 26 pieces still capture the droid's distinctive shape.

Droid redesign

The 2007 version of the destroyer droid is unique to one set: Trade Federation MTT (set 7662). This was the first to use Viking helmet horns as foot pieces.

Sniper droid

This droideka appears in AT-RT (set 75002) from 2013. Unlike the regular destroyer droids, it features rear armor panels.

Moveable antenna piece first appeared in 1985 as a train track lever switch

Blaster energizer

Arm piece mold is also used for battle droids' arms

Foot piece appears in other LEGO sets as horns on Viking helmets. An earlier, almost identical variant, features dark silver arms

LEGO Technic

As well as two minifigures, the destroyer droid has also been made as a 567-piece LEGO® Technic model in 2000 (set 8002). When spun across the floor, the LEGO droid rolls and then unfurls into its attack position.

A variant from Naboo Starfighter (set 7877) of this minifigure has black barbs

In 2002, the first destroyer droid rolled into the world of LEGO Star Wars. Also known as a droideka, this robotic ball of firepower is a key part of the Separatists' ground forces. With its curved spine and tripod feet, the droid posed a challenge to LEGO designers. The most recent version comes under fire from a Republic AV-7 Anti-Vehicle cannon (set 75045).

Destroyer Droid

ROLLING FIREPOWER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75045
 Republic AV-7
 Anti-Vehicle Cannon
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 28
ACCESSORIES: None

Although all battle droids are structurally identical and made from the same LEGO pieces, specialist battle droids are fitted with a colored torso to identify their function. These droids are chosen for certain roles to increase the army's efficiency. They are found in a select few LEGO sets where their specific skills are required.

Into battle

Yellow coloring on the chest signifies that this droid is a battle droid commander. One commander, OOM-9, was responsible for leading the entire battle droid army at the Battle of the Great Grass Plains.

STAR VARIANTS

Early edition

This variant appears in two LEGO sets from 2000 and 2002. Its blaster is no match for Qui-Gon Jinn when they face each other in Jedi Defense II (set 7204), released in 2002—perhaps because he is shooting sideways!

Subtle changes

This more recent variant also appears in two LEGO sets, from 2012 and 2014. The droid's structure is unchanged, but those with keen eyes will spot its new arm piece and different chest marking.

This variant of the battle droid commander has an all-yellow torso piece

Straight arm holds a blaster vertically

DATA FILE

NAME: Battle droid commander
YEAR: 2008
FIRST SET: 7670 Hailfire Droid & Spider Droid
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Battle Droids

SPECIALISTS

Battle colors

Specialist battle droids have had varying amounts of color on their torsos since their first release in 2000. The earliest variants have mostly tan torsos with only small patches of color, while others have full-color torsos.

Torso piece has dark red markings

The security battle droid has a red tip on the back of its head piece. This detail is first seen on the 2011 design

DATA FILE

NAME: Security battle droid
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75044 Droid Tri-Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Made to match

All these battle droids are designed to look like their Geonosian creators—with elongated limbs and faces. LEGO Star Wars battle droids resemble their movie counterparts by putting extra emphasis on these features.

Molded head piece is only found in LEGO Star Wars sets

The battle droid pilot is identified by blue markings

DATA FILE

NAME: Battle droid pilot
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75058 MTT
NO. OF SETS: 4
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Naboo Fighter Pilot

INFREQUENT FLIER

I II CW III R IV V VI L

This pilot of peaceful Naboo is not used to conflict, but when the Trade Federation invades his planet, he must take action to defend it in his N-1 starfighter! The pacifist pilot minifigure never carries a weapon, but his 2011 redesign finds him bound with handcuffs when he is captured by battle droid security minifigures.

Naboo Starfighter (set 7877)

The latest variant of the Naboo fighter pilot appears in this 2011 set. The minifigure can pilot a fast and agile N-1 starfighter—if young Anakin Skywalker's minifigure hasn't already taken off in it!

Reddish-brown flying helmet with removable goggles first appeared in 1998

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 9674 Naboo Starfighter & Naboo

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Unique torso features a safety harness, flying jacket and undershirt, and a red overcoat

Reddish-brown flying gloves

Full-length Space Fighter Corps overcoat

STAR VARIANT

First look

The Naboo pilot in Naboo N-1 Starfighter and Vulture Droid (set 7660) looks different from his 2011 counterpart. He wears a brown cap, tan flying jacket, and reddish-brown pants.

MTT (set 75058)

Exclusive to this 2014 set, the Naboo security guard provides backup for Jedi Obi-Wan Kenobi and Qui-Gon Jinn. They must battle the droids landing from this repulsorlift craft.

STAR VARIANT

Naboo security officer

This smiling variant with a yellow head comes with the Flash Speeder (set 7124). He carries electrobinoculars but no weapons, as he is rarely called into combat.

Head appears only on this minifigure

Unique printed torso and leg pieces

Protective gloves

Headgear

A new mold was used for the Naboo security guard's hat—and so far, he's the only one to wear it in this color. This mold of the officer's cap only appears on one other minifigure in a different color: the 2013 Collectible Minifigure, the Sea Captain.

Unique cap with gold printing

Naboo's security personnel have appeared only twice as LEGO Star Wars minifigures—as an officer in 2000 and as a guard in 2014. Used to a quiet life patrolling peaceful Naboo, each must summon up his inner hero and prepare for combat when the planet is invaded by the Trade Federation.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75058 MTT

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster

Naboo security guards wear distinctive brown uniforms

Naboo Security Guard

INVADED INFANTRYMAN

A skilled Jedi Knight, Obi-Wan Kenobi is focused and controlled at a time of turmoil in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. Two variants of his minifigure star in sets where he must pursue dangerous bounty hunters—Jango Fett and Zam Wessell; the third Jedi Knight Obi-Wan faces super battle droids on Geonosis in the Republic Gunship (set 75021) in 2013.

Most Jedi Knights wear their hair long

Dual-sided head (the other side looks angry)

STAR VARIANT

Headsetted hero

Two Jedi Knight Obi-Wan minifigures were released in 2002. He wears a headset to pilot the Jedi Starfighter (set 7143), but is without one in Bounty Hunter Pursuit (set 7133).

Republic Gunship (set 75021)

Jedi Knight Obi-Wan Kenobi appears with Anakin and Padmé Amidala in the third LEGO Star Wars version of the Republic Gunship, released in 2013.

Obi-Wan shares his Jedi tunic torso with two minifigures: his old mentor Qui-Gon Jinn (p.4) and the Jedi Master version of himself, released in 2011.

Utility for Jedi essential

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75021
 Republic Gunship
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Shared hair

Obi-Wan Kenobi's long Jedi Knight hair is a standard female LEGO hair piece. The hair piece in Obi-Wan's dark orange color is worn by only one other male minifigure: Boromir in the LEGO® Lord of the Rings™ theme.

Obi-Wan Kenobi

JEDI KNIGHT

Jedi Starfighter and Planet Kamino (set 75006)

Part of the LEGO Planets series, this set features R4-P17 alongside a miniature model of Obi-Wan's Delta-7 starfighter as it orbits the stormy ocean world of Kamino.

Red heads

R4-P17 has very similar head printing to the unnamed red astromech droid (p.125) from the V-Wing Starfighter. However, the details and colors differ very slightly between the two droids.

Radar eye records many messages from Obi-Wan for the Jedi Council

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75006

Jedi Starfighter & Planet Kamino

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Silver panel houses computer interface arm

Torso is unique, but has similar markings to other astromech minifigures ending ns for king with cecraft tems

Heat exhaust

R4-P17

OBI-WAN'S ASTROMECH

Headstrong Padawan Anakin Skywalker is training under his more cautious mentor Obi-Wan Kenobi. The minifigure has broken away from Jedi tradition by wearing a torso piece with dark Jedi robes—this coupled with Anakin's inscrutable expression could suggest a darkness within him that he cannot control.

STAR VARIANT

Orange hair

Anakin appears as a Padawan in two 2002 sets: Bounty Hunter Pursuit (set 7133) and Tusken Raider Encounter (set 7113). In the second he wears a brown cape.

Fire power

Exclusive to Republic Gunship 75021, Padawan Anakin sits in the cockpit of one of the starships' four ball gun turrets. Now all he has to do is aim and fire!

Brown Jedi robes with a utility belt—the printing continues on the back.

Unique dual-sided head has printed cheekbones on both sides—the reverse side has a grimace

Padawan learner braid

Green lightsaber with chrome hilt was given to Anakin in the Petranaki Arena

Anakin Skywalker

JEDI PADAWAN

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75021
 Republic Gunship
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Bounty Hunter Pursuit (set 7133)

Zam flies her nimble airspeeder in just this one 2002 set. The speeder's cockpit has a small control panel for Zam's navigation.

Heavy helmet

Zam's crash helmet is seen only on her minifigure in LEGO Star Wars. However, it is also used as a heavy-duty helmet by miners in the LEGO Star Wars theme: Power Miners and Rock Raiders, and by a driver in the World Racers theme. Only Zam wears it in light gray.

Zam's torso, arms, and legs are printed with her specialized armor and equipment, which are unique to her minifigure.

Shapeshifting

Shapeshifting Zam's head around exposes her true Clawdite form. Zam was one of the first double-faced minifigures.

Dark gray LEGO flying goggles also appear on Podracers, Naboo Fighter Pilots, Gasgano (p.17) and a variant of Anakin (p.12)

This shady character has proven elusive in LEGO Star Wars and her minifigure is exclusive to one 2002 set. Zam Wesell is a bounty hunter with a special edge: she is a Clawdite shapeshifter who can alter her physical appearance as she chooses. Her minifigure head can change between her pretty human disguise and her natural Clawdite face!

Face veil disguises Zam's human identity

Internal comlink for communicating with associates, including Jango Fett

Zam is the only minifigure that has ever been made in sand-purple

Grappling hook for scaling buildings

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2002
FIRST SET: 7133 Bounty Hunter Pursuit
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Rifle

Zam Wesell

BOUNTY HUNTER

Bounty hunter Jango

Fett keeps a low profile in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. He stars in just three sets, undergoing a redesign in 2013 for his appearance in Corporate Alliance Tank Droid (set 75015). Jango is made up of many unique LEGO pieces that might make his minifigure as legendary as the man himself.

Father like son

Though it is based on Jango's appearance in Episode II, this face print was first used for his son, Boba Fett (p.210).

Silver helmet with antenna has a printed black T-visor (the 2002 variant's has an opening)

STAR VARIANTS

Original Jango

The 2002 Jango defends Slave I (set 7153) with a pair of WESTAR-34 blaster pistols. His J-12 jetpack and helmet are one piece.

Santa's bounty

Jango wears red for his Santa variant in the 2013 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar (set 75023). He has presents tucked into his belt and holly on his chest.

Torso piece with silver Mandalorian armor plates is unique to Jango

Rocket power

Jango's silver jetpack also comes in the 2013 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar, but Santa Jango does not wear it. It gives a boost to a sleigh instead.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75015
 Corporate Alliance Tank Droid
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 6
ACCESSORIES:
 Twin blasters

Unique legs and hips have printed straps, pistol holsters, silver armor, and kneepads

STAR VARIANT

Boy Boba

Exclusive to the 2002 Jango Fett's Slave I set, the first young Boba has a yellow face with a serious look. His printed torso piece is unique to this variant.

This determined young clone will one day become a great bounty hunter, but for now he is learning combat skills under the guardianship of his father, Jango. Young Boba's minifigure appears alongside his father in Jango Fett's Slave I (set 7153) and the 2013 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar (set 75023). He has short LEGO legs to make him smaller than the Jango minifigure.

Lady locks

The first young Boba has long hair that is typically used on female minifigures. Obi-Wan Kenobi (p.32), Luke Skywalker (p.165), and Anakin Skywalker (p.121) have also sported this hair, but Boba was the first LEGO Star Wars minifigure to wear it in black.

Only one other minifigure has this hair piece in the LEGO Star Wars theme: Ezra Bridger (p.153)

Unique blue torso piece has printing to show wrinkled tunic, exposed skin at neck, and brown belt

Boba's head is dual-sided. This side shows him grinning, but the other shows him looking sly

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET:

75023 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Half-size legs in this medium blue color also appear on Max Rebo (p.232)

Boba Fett

YOUNG CLONE

Tusken Raider

DESERT DWELLER

This fearsome Tusken Raider is part of a fierce nomadic species native to Tatooine. The mysterious minifigure can move almost invisibly through dusty desert dunes dressed in his beige sandshroud. His unique LEGO head and torso pieces are adapted to help him survive in intense heat.

Unique head-mold has bandages to keep the Tusken Raider cool, and an open mouth to facilitate breathing

Gaffi stick is a traditional weapon favored by the Tusken Raiders and is made from salvaged scrap

Leg printing depicts the Tusken Raider's flowing robes

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
SET: 75081 T-16 Skyhopper
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Gaffi stick

STAR VARIANT

Color change

Exclusive to Tusken Raider Encounter (set 7113), released in 2002, this variant has unique head and torso pieces. Some Tusken Raiders were released with tan hips, but most have these gray hips.

Eye goggles offer protection from the fierce desert sun

Updated LEGO torso piece is unique to this variant, released in 2015

This variant features tan h pieces rather than the original gray color

T-16 Skyhopper (set 75081)

The Tusken Raider appears in the set, released in 2015. He gets grumpy when a Skyhopper speeds noisily through the canyons of Tatooine, practicing maneuvers. He races after the ship, but isn't quick enough to catch it!

Battle scars

Padmé's back is printed with scratch marks from her run-in with the nexu. The vicious cat-like beast is used in an attempt to assassinate Padmé in the Geonosian Arena. She escapes its clutches, but not without a few wounds!

Accustomed to a life of privilege on Naboo, Padmé swiftly adapts to a life of action when she finds herself on the run from the Trade Federation and siding with the Jedi. With her hair in a bun and her top ripped, this version of Padmé is dressed as she was when she came face to face with the nexu beast in the Geonosian arena. There are five Padmé variants, including this Tatooine version and one in full royal regalia (p.10).

Dual-sided head with two beauty spots is unique to this minifigure

One of Padmé's sleeves has been torn off in battle

Padmé comes armed with a standard issue BlasTech E-11 rifle

Two-faced

This exclusive Padmé minifigure has two expressions to choose from on a reversible head. One side has a closed mouth and serious expression (left); the other has a broad smile.

Top torn by the nexu beast

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

SET: 75021 Republic Gunship

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:
Blaster

Padmé Amidala
ROYAL ON THE RUN

Do you recognize this mysterious minifigure? Little is known about this nameless Jedi, though some call him "Jedi Bob." He appeared on the Republic Gunship (set 7163)—and has never been seen again. The hooded minifigure with a confident smile and a flowing cloak carries a green lightsaber, but he only uses it when forced to defend himself in battle.

Jedi Bob

Named only "Jedi Knight" on the LEGO set box for Republic Gunship (set 7163), the minifigure has become "Jedi Bob" to many LEGO Star Wars fans! He was first named this in DK's LEGO Star Wars: The Visual Dictionary (2009).

Republic Gunship (set 7163)

The Jedi Knight minifigure flies into LEGO Star Wars on this Republic Gunship. The Low-Altitude Assault Transport/infantry (LAAT/i) carries the Clone Troopers that the Jedi Knight will lead into battle against the Separatist army.

The Jedi Knight's smiling, bearded face is also found on a construction worker in the LEGO® City theme, and on Mac, the astronaut in LEGO® Life on Mars.

The Jedi Knight may be a generic Jedi, but he has a unique torso. He wears a gray Jedi tunic and a belt with a silver buckle.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2002
FIRST SET: 7163
Republic Gunship
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 1
ACCESSORIES: Cape,

Brown cloak and hood help the Jedi Knight to remain anonymous.

Jedi Knight

MYSTERY MAN

AT-TE (set 75019)

There are five minifigures in this 2013 set. As well as Coleman himself, there is fellow Jedi Master Mace Windu, a clone commander, and two battle droids.

This experienced Jedi is a wise negotiator, and masterful with a lightsaber when occasion demands. Released with the 2013 AT-TE (set 75019), the minifigure has a new head mold on a unique Jedi body. There have been many Jedi minifigures before, but this is the first Coleman Trebor.

New head mold with a large crest

Torso with dark bluish gray skin is unique to this minifigure

Vurk

Jedi Trebor is a Vurk from the oceanic planet of Sembla. He is the only Vurk to appear as a minifigure. His head, with its distinctive reptilian crest, is a dark bluish gray.

Reddish-brown belt carries food and energy capsules

These tan Jedi robe legs also appear on the Obi-Wan Kenobi minifigures in Republic Gunship (set 7163) and MTT (set 75058)

Coleman Trebor
VURK JEDI MASTER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75019
AT-TE
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
Lightsaber

Stass Allie is a formidable fighter who is also skilled in healing. Released in 2013 as part of Homing Spider Droid (set 75016), this is the first LEGO minifigure of Allie, and also the first Tholothian to appear. Stass Allie is the cousin of Jedi Master Adi Gallia.

Homing Spider Droid (set 75016)

This 280-part set contains a homing spider droid like the ones Allie encountered at the Battle of Geonosis, the opening salvo of the Clone Wars. Jedi Master Allie and her clone trooper must take on the set's dwarf spider droid, as well as two Super Battle Droids.

The minifigure has violet eyes and pale green head paint

New head mold is unique to this minifigure. It forms Stass Allie's traditional Tholoth headdress, which has distinctive fleshy tendrils.

This unique torso is printed on both sides. It includes a tan undershirt and pleating.

Printed legs with dark tan Jedi robe pattern are unique to this minifigure

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75016
 Homing Spider Droid
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Stass Allie

THOLOTHIAN JEDI MASTER

STAR VARIANTS

Original droid

Two Geonosian Battle Droid figures like this came with Geonosian Fighter (set 4478) in 2003. It has a back plate and lighter, redder coloring than the 2013 version.

Battle Droid commander

From the same 2013 set as the Geonosian Battle Droid, this commander is similar except for the yellow rank markings on its chest and head.

The dark orange Geonosian Battle Droid without a back plate is a unique figure in AT-TE (set 75019), released in 2013. Ready to obey Separatist orders without question, it is armed with a medium blaster and colored for camouflage in the deserts of Geonosis.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 4478

Geonosian Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster

Straight arm with vertical grip to hold weapon

Medium blaster seen in 112 other sets

Bent arm with horizontal hand grip

The Geonosian Battle Droid shares its leg piece with 37 other droid minifigures

Get a grip!

Battle droids have been produced since 1999. They began with only horizontal hand-grip capability, however since Trade Federation MTT (set 7662) in 2007, they have been given a vertical grip in one arm, ideal for pointing a blaster.

Geonosian Battle Droid

BLASTER-BEARING FOOT SOLDIER

Count Dooku

EVIL COUNT OF SERENNO

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Enigmatic minifigure Count Dooku was once a Jedi Master, but he has fallen to the dark side. He now lurks in the shadows of the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. The minifigure was updated in 2013 and given an expressive reversible head. On this side is the count's look of grim concentration; on the reverse, he sports an evil, toothy grin.

Dooku is the only LEGO Star Wars minifigure with this head, but it appears on two Saruman minifigures from the LEGO Lord of the Rings theme

Only Count Dooku's minifigure has this torso printing, with its cape clasp and brown belt

This is a standard LEGO minifigure cape. It acts as a symbol of Dooku's prestige as Count of Serenno

STAR VARIANT

First count

For more than a decade, the only Episode II Count Dooku minifigure was the 2002 version from Jedi Duels (set 7103). There is also a Clone Wars version (p. 72)

Curved lightsaber

As befits a man of his wealth and status, Count Dooku wields a custom-made lightsaber with a curved metallic hilt. Exclusive to Dooku, the weapon also appears with his 2009 Clone Wars minifigure in Count Dooku's Solar Sailer (set 7752).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75017 Duel on Geonosis

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Custom lightsaber, force lightning

Flesh facts

The recent Dooku has realistic flesh colored skin, but the 2002 version is yellow. That is because the LEGO Group did not produce minifigures with lighter flesh until 2004—all the early Episode II minifigures are yellow.

Duel on Geonosis (set 75017)

He can only be found in this 2013 set. While Count Dooku battles in his secret Geonosis hangar, Poggle the Lesser lurks in the background.

Crown-like head crest

Unique head piece molding shows Poggle's long beard and tendrils, signs of his age and status

Same wing pieces as the winged Geonosian Warrior (p.103)

Secret plans

Poggle's minifigure holds an orange hologram of the Geonosian-designed Death Star.

Archduke of Geonosis and one of the leading members of the Separatist Council, Poggle the Lesser makes for an imposing minifigure. Although he resembles previous Geonosian minifigures, Poggle's unique head piece and elaborate printing make him stand out from the rest. He appears in just one LEGO set, carrying his staff and a hologram of the Death Star plans.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75017

Duel on Geonosis

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Death Star hologram

Poggle the Lesser

ARCHDUKE OF GEONOSIS

Geonosian exoskeleton printing is continued on lower back of torso

Intricate gold and black details are symbols of royalty

Geonosian minifigures were introduced to the LEGO Star Wars theme in 2003, with two variants of the warrior. The first is a basic drone; the cannon fodder of the Geonosian army. The second is a higher-caste variant with wings. One of each appears in Geonosian Fighter (set 4478).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2003

FIRST SET: 4478

Geonosian Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Folded plastic wings are unique to LEGO Star Wars

Geonosian Fighter (set 4478)

In Geonosian Fighter, a Geonosian mans this sonic cannon on a platform that spins 360 degrees and hinges 90 degrees. The set was released in 2003 in a blue box and then in 2004 in a black box.

Monochrome head-mold

The two Geonosian Warrior minifigures are identical except for the addition or omission of the orange wings

Sonic blaster fires concussive energy

Geonosian Warrior

HIVE DRONE

Technical droid

Like the destroyer droid, the super battle droid has gone beyond its minifigure beginnings and been created as a LEGO Technic set. The robotic figure, released in 2002, is made from 379 technical parts.

Specially molded head-and-body piece is used for all three variants of the super battle droid

Bigger, bulkier, and more blaster-proof than standard battle droids, super battle droids are a force to be reckoned with. Not only are they physically stronger than their spindlier cousins, but they also have more brainpower. Three variants of the hulking super battle droid minifigure have been made—each more intimidating than the last.

Arms clip to shoulder pieces with same grip as minifigures' hands

Pearlized, dark gray body

Hands can grasp LEGO blaster weapons

Thin legs create small target for enemy fire

Leg piece is unique to LEGO Star Wars. It is also found on the MagnaGuard (p.76) the TX-20 tactical droid (p.84), and the commando droid (p.87)

STAR VARIANTS

Blue beginnings

The first super battle droid minifigure is metal-blue and was released in 2002. Two come with the Republic Gunship (set 7163).

Blast off

In 2009, the super battle droid swapped one of its arms for a unique piece with a blaster molded into it. This third variant of the droid appears in two LEGO sets.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 7654
 Droids Battle Pack
NO. OF SETS: 11
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Super Battle Droid

WALKING WEAPONRY

The Phase I clone trooper is part of a vast army that has been cloned from a single individual. Sealed in a shell of white armor, his minifigure first appears in Episode II sets in 2002. During the Clone Wars, his armor becomes lighter and more adaptable, with diverse color markings to denote different ranks. The most recent update is sleeker still.

STAR VARIANT

Clone Trooper Episode II

This Phase I Clone Trooper from 2002's Republic Gunship (set 7163) is the first of his kind. Under his helmet is a faceless black head.

Blast from the past

The Phase I clone trooper's blaster is a LEGO loudhailer with a translucent blue round plate attached. LEGO Star Wars minifigures carried this blaster until bespoke LEGO Star Wars blasters were released in 2007.

The 2013 clone trooper has a new helmet, and under it a new identity—the grimacing face of a clone

Subtle details on standard trooper armor

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75000 Clone Troopers vs. Droidkas
NO. OF SETS: 5
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Utility belt carries clone trooper survival gear

Clone Trooper

GENETICALLY MODIFIED SOLDIER

TAR VARIANTS

Captain

Early in the Clone Wars, armor flashes on the helmet denoted rank. Red flashes identify sergeants, and blue flashes identify captains.

Sergeant

This sergeant appears only in the Clone Troopers' vs. Droidekas (set 75000). Like all ranks, he wears the standard Phase I helmet.

Helmet has breathing filters

Four yellow circles on armor chest plate

Black body glove is worn beneath white armor

Main white armor has printing

Clone troopers may look the same, but they don't all perform the same role. There are many ranks in the clone army. At the bottom are the ordinary clone troopers.

Above them are the sergeants, next the lieutenants, then captains. Highest in rank are the commanders, who lead regiments into battle. This Clone Trooper Commander minifigure appears in the AT-TE (set 75019), where he takes on a team of battle droids.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET:

75019 AT-TE

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Long blaster

Long blaster gun is exclusive to LEGO Star Wars sets

Clone Trooper Commander

MILITARY RANKS

The clone pilot flies Republic vehicles in seven LEGO sets. His 2013 variant is the first to appear in a classic LEGO Star Wars set, rather than a Clone Wars set. His minifigure's unique armor includes specialist equipment for piloting tough missions, including a life-support pack and enhanced communications gear.

Clone Pilot

AIRBORNE WARRIOR

Blaster offers protection if landing on a battlefield

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75076
 Republic Gunship
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

STAR VARIANT

Hidden head

A Clone Wars variant of the pilot was released in four LEGO sets from 2002 with a similar, but simpler design to later variants.

A 2011 variant features a black head piece, rather than the tan piece just visible here.

Bigger belt

The 2013 redesign of the clone pilot is similar to the classic clone pilot, but he has a printed head and a more detailed helmet. The printing on his utility belt has also received an upgrade.

Helmet is printed with red Republic symbols and yellow markings that signify pilot status

Clone pilot wears life-support pack over standard Phase I clone trooper armor

Pilot in blue

A clone pilot in Phase II armor also takes to the skies in LEGO Star Wars. This minifigure first appeared in 2002 wearing a blue jumpsuit and white helmet (p.123).

2015 variant is the first clone pilot to feature leg printing

Wide-set visual sensors provide a panoramic view during flight

Battle droid arm and torso are the only parts this version shares with 2009 version

Wheeled base is a 1x3 plate with brown slopes on it

The FA-4 pilot droid has been released as two very different minifigures. The 2009 version was all white and built mainly from battle droid parts. The 2013 version more accurately portrays the copper and silver wheeled droid. He chauffeurs Count Dooku in one set—and also pops up on his own in the 2013 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar.

Heads apart

While the original FA-4 minifigure used a LEGO skeleton foot as its head piece, the 2013 version has a commando droid's head piece with unique printing.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75017

Duel on Geonosis

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 9

ACCESSORIES: None

Duel on Geonosis (set 75017)

Count Dooku's personal FA-4 droid waits in Dooku's secret Geonosis hangar, ready to help his owner escape aboard his solar sailer.

FA-4 Pilot Droid

DOOKU'S PERSONAL PILOT

Anakin Skywalker

CLONE WARS JEDI

During the Clone Wars, Anakin Skywalker becomes known throughout the LEGO Star Wars galaxy as the "Hero With No Fear." His minifigure battles loyally for the Republic, but could the exhausted, drawn expression on Anakin's unique face hint at the growing darkness within the brave Jedi Knight?

Clone Wars Anakin carries a blue lightsaber

Anakin's face has become battle-scarred during the Clone Wars

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75046 Coruscant Police Gunship
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber

STAR VARIANTS

Heroic flier

First seen in 2008, this variant appears in nine LEGO Star Wars sets. In Anakin's Jedi Starfighter (set 7669), he flies his ship alongside a classic R2-D2.

Under attack

This 2011 Anakin must fight off Asajj Ventress and Savage Opress as they speed towards him on their Sith Nightspeeder (set 7957).

Tousled reddish-brown hair is also seen on Mon Mothma's minifigure (p.239)

Coruscant Police Gunship (set 75046)

Anakin and his Padawan, Ahsoka, use this armored gunship to transport their shock troopers into battle. It features folding wings and two powerful, spring-loaded shooters.

Clone Wars

LEGO Star Wars: The Clone Wars minifigures have a more cartoon-like appearance than their classic Star Wars counterparts. They reflect how the characters look in the animated Clone Wars movie and TV series.

Anakin's Y-Wing Starfighter (set 8037)

Clone Wars R2-D2 is unique to this 2009 set. The droid not only navigates the starfighter, he also attaches to a spring mechanism that pokes out from beneath the ship—pulling him back like a lever fires a missile!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET:

8037 Anakin's
Y-Wing Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Logic function displays assist communication between Artoo and his owner, Anakin Skywalker

R2-D2 connects with Anakin's Y-Wing starfighter through a hole in his base

R2-D2's wide g bases can tackle almost any terrain

Clone Wars R2-D2 has a pearlescent sheen to his light bluish-gray head piece

Snowman mech

The 2012 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar had a snowman R2-D2, complete with top hat. The printing included carrots and lumps of coal!

Cartoon Artoo

Although the Clone Wars version of R2-D2 is made up of the same pieces as the classic Star Wars R2-D2 (p.13), the printing on his head and torso pieces are designed to match his appearance in the animation, with thicker blue lines. This makes R2-D2 look more cartoon-like.

R2-D2 has an arm inside this compartment to help him with maintenance jobs

R2-D2

CLONE WARS ASTROMECH

Obi-Wan Kenobi is a public symbol of hope during the Clone Wars. His minifigure may carry a lightsaber, but Obi-Wan is known throughout the galaxy as “The Negotiator” because of his diplomacy skills and reluctance to use the powerful weapon in combat. Clone Wars Obi-Wan’s calm demeanor has been tested in two variants and six sets since 2008.

BARC Speeder with Sidecar (set 75012)

The 2014 variant of Clone Wars Obi-Wan gives chase to two command droids in this fast-moving set. Obi-Wan drives his BARC speeder, while Captain Rex fires his blasters from the sidecar.

STAR VARIANT

Different strokes

The first version of Clone Wars Obi-Wan wears white armor in the style of a clone trooper. He appears in sets, starting with Republic Attack Gunship (set 7670).

Orange-brown hair piece first appeared in 2012 on an Episode III version of Obi-Wan

Obi-Wan’s unique head piece has big cartoon-like eyes and heavy eyebrows

Traditional Jedi utility belt with a metallic clasp

Printed piece unique to this minifigure

Metallic silver lightsaber hilt—Obi-Wan’s lightsaber in Pirate Tank (set 7753) had a light bluish-gray hilt instead

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75012

BARC Speeder with Sidecar

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber

Obi-Wan Kenobi

CLONE WARS NEGOTIATOR

Republic AV-7 Anti-Vehicle Cannon (set 75045)

Plo Koon flies into battle against the droid army in this 2014 set. This side is a Wolfpack clone per [p.69].

STAR VARIANT

Original Plo Koon

The first Plo Koon supports Obi-Wan in his attack gunship and later flies his own starfighter. He shares the same head-mold as the 2014 minifigure.

Plo Koon is a Kel Dor from the planet Dorin. He is a Jedi Master during the Clone Wars and a highly skilled pilot. Both variants of his minifigure have unique torsos showing his Jedi robes and a unique head piece that displays both his Kel Dor origins and the antiox mask he wears so he can breathe when not on Dorin.

Head piece is in harder plastic than the earlier variant

Plo Koon wears a fanged antiox breathing mask and he is rarely seen without his protective goggles

Blade change

Plo Koon made his debut in 2008 in the Republic Attack Gunship (set 7676). The set's box artwork originally showed Plo Koon with a green lightsaber, but this was changed to blue before its final release.

Blue-bladed lightsaber with silver hilt

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75045
 Republic AV-7
 Anti-Vehicle Cannon
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Unique torso printing shows brown Jedi robe with tan undershirt

Plo Koon

JEDI PILOT

Yoda's Clone Wars minifigure is just as wise and powerful as his classic minifigure, but he has a new look. In both Clone Wars variants, the ancient Jedi Grand Master has a bigger head-mold in a paler green than his classic version, and a unique torso. But Yoda still wields his green lightsaber as he leads the clone army into battle against Separatist forces.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75002
AT-RT:
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Two approaches

The Clone Wars Yodas are designed to have a more cartoon-like look than the classic Yoda (p.21). This is intended to make them closely resemble the characters in the animated Clone Wars series.

STAR VARIANTS

Going gray

This Clone Wars Yoda first appears in AAT (set 8018). His rubberized plastic head has gray hair at the back, not white.

Christmas, it is

This exclusive Santa Yoda appears behind the final door of the 2011 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar (set 7958). He carries a backpack full of presents.

Yoda's head-mold has longer ears than the classic Yoda minifigure

Unique detailed head piece with large, cartoony eyes

Going white

The back of Yoda's unique, molded head features a clumpy clump of snow-white hair.

Yoda might be small, but he is a lightsaber expert!

Yoda has short, unposeable leg pieces

Unique torso print with simple tan robes and two-colored undershirt

Yoda
 CLONE WARS JEDI LEADER

STAR VARIANT

Luminous Luminara

The classic version of Luminara appears in 2005 in Wookiee Catamaran (set 7260), wearing a traditional Mirialan cape. Pressing her head makes her lightsaber light up, so the hilt is built into her arm.

Luminara Unduli is a skilled and disciplined Jedi Master. This Clone Wars version of her minifigure has a double-sided head and wears more detailed Jedi robes than her classic minifigure. Clone Wars Luminara comes in just two sets wearing pieces that are all unique apart from her headdress.

Luminara's head piece is unique to this minifigure. It is more detailed than her 2005 classic version

Highly detailed torso with unique printing includes Jedi robes with colorful Mirialan symbol

Ornate Mirialan sash

Light-up lightsaber

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7869
 Battle for Geonosis
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

No cape

This Clone Wars version of Luminara's minifigure appears without her cape. Her Mirialan headdress appears on the Clone Wars and classic versions of this dedicated Jedi Master.

Luminara Unduli

CLONE WARS JEDI MASTER

Ahsoka Tano is Anakin Skywalker's enthusiastic Padawan. She has fought for the Republic in nine Clone Wars sets since her 2008 release, in two variants. As a Togruta, Ahsoka's minifigure has brightly colored skin and striped head-tails. She wears an unusual Jedi costume and, in her second variant, wields two lightsabers.

STAR VARIANT

Plucky Padawan

The first variant of Ahsoka has different torso printing, a brown hip piece, and light gray legs. She appears in seven LEGO sets (2008-10), including Ahsoka's Starfighter and Vulture Droid (set 7751).

Head-tails

Ahsoka's hair piece is not hair at all! It is a unique mold of the blue and white head-tails that grow from the heads of all Togrutas.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75013

Umbaran MHC (Mobile Heavy Cannon)

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber

Ahsoka's head-tails aren't yet full-length because she is still young

Unique torso is printed with Ahsoka's orange skin and distinctive Jedi costume

Unique double-printed head piece has two expressions: contented grin and angry frown

Printed gold and purple sash

LEGO Togrutas

For a while, Ahsoka was the only Togruta character available in minifigure form. In 2011, however, Jedi Master Shaak Ti's red-skinned minifigure was released, with fully grown, adult-length head-tails (see p.83).

Ahsoka Tano

EAGER PADAWAN

Ahsoka's Starfighter and Vulture Droid (set 7751)

R7-A7 proves his worth in the one LEGO set he appears in. The plucky droid helps Ahsoka fight off a buzz droid that has latched onto her Delta-7 starfighter.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 7751

Ahsoka's Starfighter and Vulture Droid

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Dark red pins

R7-A7 should be proud of his bright, unique coloring. He is the only astromech droid to have LEGO Technic leg pieces in dark red. In fact, these dark red pin pieces are not found in any other LEGO sets.

R7-A7 is a brave astromech droid who helps navigate and repair Ahsoka Tano's starfighter. His minifigure has a dark red body unit and a white head, with lime green and silver access panels. The helpful droid only appears in one LEGO set. R7-A7's brightly colored printing matches Ahsoka's red and green starship, which has a droid socket for him to plug into.

Logic function display indicates what R7-A7 is thinking

Head piece is the same mold as other LEGO astromech droids, but the coloring is unique to R7-A7

Acoustic signaler allows R7-A7 to communicate

R7-A7 has many of the same functions as R2-D2, but he is not quite as intelligent

Astromech droids have two fixed legs and a third retractable leg that is stored inside the unit

Recharge power coupling can be attached to the power source on Ahsoka's starship

R7-A7

AHSOKA'S ASTROMECH

Often referred to as “the Huttlet,” Rotta is the slimy, green son of Jabba the Hutt. Poor Rotta has been captured by the Separatists. Can Anakin Skywalker and Ahsoka Tano rescue him and return him to his worried father? The Jedi will have to search hard for Rotta’s small minifigure, as he only comes in two LEGO sets, both from 2008.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008
FIRST SET:
 7675 AT-TE
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Like most Clone Wars minifigures, Rotta has large, expressive eyes

Although he is small now, one day Rotta might grow up to be as large as his father Jabba (p.218)

Rotta's mold

Rotta's minifigure is built from three unique, sand-green LEGO pieces. The two arm pieces clip into the head and body piece, which is a unique mold, made especially for this minifigure.

Rotta may not be much use on the battlefield, but Ahsoka thinks he is cute!

Rotta has a hollow circle in the base of his minifigure so he can be clipped onto a regular minifigure's hand

AT-TE Walker (set 7675)

Rotta makes his first LEGO appearance in the 2008 set AT-TE Walker. Jabba's young son is in good LEGO hands when he is rescued by the Jedi. Anakin and Ahsoka are joined by two clone troopers and an enormous AT-TE walker—together they have no trouble defeating the battle droid on his flying STAP.

Face of a clone
The clone trooper's flesh-colored head piece was first released in 2008. It was used for nearly all Clone Wars clone troopers.

Black rangefinder appears in only five sets—a bluish-gray version also appears on a similar variant released in 2008

A variant of this clone trooper, released in 2008, has identical torso printing, but its helmet does not have a rangefinder

White plastoid armor is blaster-resistant and lightweight

Utility belt holds survival gear, ammunition, and assault equipment

The Clone Wars clone trooper has fought for the Republic in more than a dozen Clone Wars sets since 2008. His Phase I armor has been updated with a more stylized design and, unlike the earliest clone trooper minifigures, he has always had a face beneath his helmet instead of a plain black head piece. This variant appears only in the 2010 Clone Turbo Tank (set 8098).

STAR VARIANT

Signs of rank

High-ranking clone troopers often wear extra LEGO pieces over their basic white armor. Modifications include a visor shield that clips to the helmet, a shoulder pauldron to denote rank, and a kama blaster shield around the waist.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8098
Clone Turbo Tank
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES:
Rangefinder
blaster rifle

Clone Trooper

CLONE WARS SOLDIER

Clone Troopers

PHASE I SPECIALISTS

These clone troopers carry out specialist missions for the Republic in several Clone Wars sets. They all wear Phase I LEGO armor, and have identical flesh-colored clone trooper head pieces beneath their helmets. Some of these specialist troopers have unique armor markings, and all possess equipment that is crucial for their specific tasks and specialty missions.

Clone Wars

Minifigures released in LEGO Clone Wars sets have been designed with a "cartoon" feel. These Clone Wars troopers have stylized torso patterns and brighter, bolder coloring than the classic LEGO Star Wars troopers (pp.48-49).

Helmet fin helps to make jetpack trooper aerodynamic

This Clone Wars clone trooper helmet appears in ten other LEGO Star Wars sets

Standard medium black blaster

Utility belt with extra ammunition

DATA FILE

NAME: Clone Jetpack Trooper
SPECIALTY: Aerial assaults
YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 7748 Corporate Alliance Tank Droid
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Jetpack, blaster

LEGO jetpack piece is also used for the Mandalorian (p.120) and Boba Fett (p.210) minifigures

Rangefinder is on helmet clone gunner accurately measure distance targets

Unique helmet is insulated from battle noise and printed with black Republic symbols

DATA FILE

NAME: Clone Gunner

SPECIALTY: Heavy artillery

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 8014 Clone
Walker Battle Pack

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Unique torso is printed with an extra chestplate to absorb kickback from firing large weapons

Unique orange helmet is extra sturdy to protect against bomb blasts

Blaster rifle keeps bomb squad safe during mission

Orange markings denote bomb squad affiliation

DATA FILE

NAME: Bomb Squad Trooper

SPECIALTY: Disarming bombs and explosive devices

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7913 Clone
Trooper Battle Pack

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Leg piece is printed with unique orange armor markings

Clone Troopers PHASE I SPECIALISTS

Clone Troopers

PHASE I RANKS

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Leader of the Horn company, this clone commander is among Jedi Eeth Koth's guards onboard the Venator-class Star Destroyer, the Steadfast. His high rank is immediately obvious, thanks to the distinctive color and insignia on his armor. Such markings help distinguish between ranks in the vast army.

Green squad

Members of the Horn squad are known for their distinctive sand green markings. While 20 other clone minifigures share the same face as the clone commander, his printed helmet, torso, and legs are unique to this minifigure.

Twin blasters

Standard clone legs with green printing

Clone trooper lieutenant

Given away with special promotions in 2013, this clone trooper lieutenant has a standard clone head rather than a stylized Clone Wars version. No other clone has his azure color markings.

Clone trooper commander

Released with the Clone Turbo Tank (set 8098) in 2010, this minifigure wears a striking piece of shoulder armor and a pauldron. He sports his visor with six clone models.

Green insignia identifies unit as Horn company

Utility belt holds survival packs and extra ammunition

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7913 Clone Trooper Battle Pack
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

STAR VARIANT

Rangefinder Rex

For the Battle of Geonosis (set 7869), released in 2011, Captain Rex attaches a useful dark bluish-gray rangefinder to his helmet. In the 2008 AT-TE Walker (set 7675) and a promotional set of the same year, Captain Rex wears dark bluish-gray pauldron armor and has no rangefinder.

Beneath his helmet with its blue battle honors and gray tally marks, Rex's head is printed with stubble and has a scar under his lower lip

Printing includes three ammo cartridges and welding marks is Rex variant has g printing for the first ne

Clone Captain Rex serves under General Anakin Skywalker. The three variants of his minifigure feature in four LEGO sets, most recently the 2013 BARC Speeder with Sidecar (set 75012). He is not a typical clone underneath his helmet, as he has a unique LEGO head piece. Rex is heavily armored and carries two blasters making him particularly bold in battle.

Exclusive blue and black cloth pauldron is unique to this minifigure

Unique torso printing, which continues onto the back, has tally marks to indicate Rex's victories

Rex wears an anti-blast black cloth kama around his waist to protect his legs from close-range blasts

Captain Rex

CLONE TROOPER CAPTAIN

DATA FILE

AR: 2013
ST SET: 75012
RC Speeder with Sidecar
OF SETS: 1
CES: 6
CESSORIES: Twin blasters

This band of brothers all have highly specialized roles and their own task-specific weaponry and equipment. Whether scouting enemy territory or tackling elite missions on the home front, they put themselves in the line of fire every day against the menace of the Separatists and their droid forces.

Advanced Recon Force (ARF) trooper helmet with red company insignia

DATA FILE

NAME: ARF Trooper
SPECIALTY: Scouting enemy positions
YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7913 Clone Trooper Battle Pack
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Helmet rangefinder makes sure this specialist never misses his target

DATA FILE

NAME: ARC Trooper
SPECIALTY: Advanced combat
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9488 Elite Clone Trooper & Commando Droid Battle Pack
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 11
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Long blaster rifle

Pauldron in dark red cloth

Red legs with blue and white armor printing is unique to this ARC trooper

STAR VARIANT

ARF trooper
 From the same set as the ARC trooper (left), this elite clone minifigure is the only one with this torso piece, which has dark red arms.

Phase II clone trooper helmet. The striking red color is used on gear connected with the Coruscant high command

Markings show the trooper is part of the elite Coruscant guard

Legs with red markings are unique to this shock trooper

DATA FILE

NAME: Shock Trooper
SPECIALTY: Speed and skill
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75046 Coruscant Police Gunship
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Twin blaster

STAR VARIANT

Shock trooper
 From the 2007 Clone Troopers Battle Pack (set 7655), this shock trooper has a more rounded helmet with a plain black head piece underneath. His arms and legs are plain white.

DATA FILE

NAME: Shadow ARF Trooper
SPECIALTY: Stealth missions
YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 2856197 Shadow ARF Trooper
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Helmet is the same mold used for ARF Troopers, but in black with a silver printed visor

Mysterious minifigure

The Shadow ARF trooper of 2011 is truly intriguing. He only appears in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy!

The shadow ARF trooper was given away as part of the "May the Fourth be With You" promotion in 2011

Standard armor pattern is printed in gray on a black torso

Clone Troopers SPECIALISTS

Performing daring raids and rescue missions across the galaxy, these elite clone troopers will follow their Jedi commanders into any peril. Available in only a few LEGO Star Wars sets, they all wear Phase II LEGO armor, identifiable by the helmet shape and breathing filters. Their armor is customized—its color, symbols, and decoration reveal to which unit each wearer belongs.

DATA FILE

NAME: 212th Clone Trooper
SPECIALTY: Frontline troops
YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75013
 Umbaran MHC
 (Mobile Heavy Cannon)
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Long blaster

Long blaster

Unique legs with 212th battalion orange markings

Blue markings indicate this trooper is a member of the 501st legion

This minifigure appears in the AT-RT set (2013) and Z-95 Headhunter (2013)

Short blaster

Blue printing continues on legs

Torrent force

The 501st is famous for including the renowned Torrent company, led by Captain Rex under the command of Jedi General Skywalker. It fights at the Battles of Christophsis and Teth, among many others.

DATA FILE

NAME: 501st Clone Trooper
SPECIALTY: Frontline troops
YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75002 AT-RT
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 1
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Helmet with 501st legion blue pattern

Electrobinoculars

Unique torso
only appears on the pilot of the Z-95 Headhunter
(set 75004)

DATA FILE

NAME: 501st Clone Pilot
SPECIALTY: Aerial combat
YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75004
Z-95 Headhunter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
Electrobinoculars

Headhunter

Wearing an exclusive helmet, this 501st clone pilot minifigure flies the 2013 Z-95 Headhunter (set 75004). His electrobinoculars can be stored in the plane's rear compartment weapon rack.

Wolf insignia on Phase
II helmet

Dark bluish gray markings of Wolfpack unit

Short blaster

DATA FILE

NAME: Wolfpack
clone Trooper
SPECIALTY: Rescue missions
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75045 Republic
V-7 Anti-Vehicle Cannon
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

STAR VARIANT

Wolfpack clone trooper

The Phase I variant of the Wolfpack clone trooper has light blue arms and legs. He appears in the 2011 Republic Frigate (set 7964) and comes equipped with a jetpack that has twin nozzles.

Clone Troopers UNBEATABLE UNITS

Clone Commander Cody leads a battalion of clone troopers and reports to Jedi General Obi-Wan Kenobi. His minifigure wears clone trooper armor that has been modified to reflect Cody's unit and his rank as commander. He has appeared in two LEGO sets since 2008, in which he fights bravely during the Clone Wars.

Visor shield worn only by LEGO Star Wars clone commanders

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7959

Geonosian Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Twin blasters

Unique helmet with orange commander markings

Orange markings denote Cody's affiliation with the 212nd Attack Battalion

Cody wears the same basic armor as his fellow clone troopers, but his torso has orange arms and extra orange markings

Cody has been trained as an ARC trooper, so he is familiar with a variety of weapons

Geonosian Starfighter (set 7959)

Commander Cody fights alongside Ki-Adi-Mundi in this 2011 LEGO set. They face a Geonosian starfighter, flown by a Geonosian pilot, which is fitted with a rotating cannon and opening cockpit.

Armor additions

Cody's minifigure comes with a gray pauldron that fits round his neck and a kama leg armor that clips under his torso. These extra pieces of armor designate Cody's rank as commander.

Commander Cody

OBI-WAN'S CLONE COMMANDER

Mandalorian Speeder (set 75022)

Darth Maul and two faithful Mandalorian super commandos are sent to take over the planet Mandalore.

Handprint painted on helmet as a sign of strength

The Mandalorian super commando takes orders from Darth Maul in one LEGO set. The super commando wears traditional Mandalorian armor—but painted to show allegiance to his leader, Darth Maul. Two variants of the super commando minifigure appear in the set, the only difference being the flesh-colored head pieces beneath their helmets.

Helmet is the same mold as other Mandalorian helmets, but with unique printing

Uniquely unique

The Mandalorian Speeder (set 75022) is the only LEGO Star Wars set to include exclusive minifigures only—Darth Maul with mechanical legs and the Mandalorian super commando.

Pearl gray jetpack also worn by former Mandalorian leader, Pre Vizsla

Armor painted red and black to match Darth Maul's red and black tattoos

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75022
Mandalorian Speeder
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Mandalorian Super Commando
 DARTH MAUL'S FOLLOWER

Count Dooku is the powerful leader of the Separatists—but he is also a Sith Lord! His Clone Wars minifigure is dressed in dark colors, with a cape and hood, so he can carry out secret missions in shadowy corners of the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. Dooku's mysterious minifigure appears in only one set.

Count Dooku's Solar Sailer (set 7752)
Count Dooku's Clone Wars minifigure is ready for action in this set. In addition to his sleek solar sailer spaceship, he has a one-seater speeder bike (pictured). The solar sailer has a secret cargo bay in which the speeder can be hidden when Count Dooku isn't using it.

Red lightsaber blades are only used by the Sith

Hooded villain
As well as his gray hair piece, Count Dooku comes with a brown hood so he can travel and hide in trouble in disguise.

Unique face is printed with hooded eyes and wrinkles that are a result of Dooku's dark side training

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 7752 Count Dooku's Solar Sailer
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber, hood, cape

Dooku's unique torso is printed with a brown belt and an ornate cape chain clasp

Hair-raising

Count Dooku's gray, swept-back hair with a widow's peak is also used for the Chancellor Palpatine minifigure, but in a tan color (p.74). The exact same gray piece is only used for one other minifigure: Madam Hooch in LEGO® Harry Potter™.

Dooku's special curved lightsaber hilt also comes with the classic Count Dooku minifigure (p.44)

Count Dooku

CLONE WARS SITH

STAR VARIANT

Ventress variant

This variant is exclusive to Sith Nightspeeder (set 7957). The printing on Asajj's sleeveless body suit armor continues on the back of her torso and matches her leg design.

Purple tattoo markings are continued on the back of the head

From the Outer Rim

A Nightsister from the planet Dathomir, Ventress is not the only Dathomirian minifigure. The famous Sith Lord Darth Maul was a Dathomirian Nightbrother, taken away from his home planet at an early age by Darth Sidious.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75087
Anakin's Custom Jedi Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
Lightsaber

Unusually, this 2015 Asajj is not based on her appearance in Star Wars: The Clone Wars

Unique torso shows Asajj's gray and black body suit

Asajj strides into battle in trousers here, but a 2008 variant wears a black cloth skirt with a unique torso

Asajj wields a red lightsaber. The curved hilt is unique to her minifigure in LEGO Star Wars

Asajj Ventress

SITH ASSASSIN

Venator-Class Republic Attack Cruiser (set 8039)

Chancellor Palpatine's Clone Wars flagship is revealed in this set.

The front of the ship opens up to reveal Palpatine's office, including his desk and swivel chair.

The red-robed minifigure of Chancellor Palpatine looks impressive and stately, but he has a dark secret. He is the Sith Lord Darth Sidious in disguise! His minifigure appears as Chancellor in only one Clone Wars set. He also appears as Sith Lord Emperor Palpatine (p.139).

Death Star

Palpatine's hologram of the Death Star is actually a transparent red LEGO head piece with gold markings.

Dark red pauldron cloth pieces are unique to this minifigure.

Palpatine is the only minifigure to have this hair piece in tan.

Unique face is printed with sunken eyes and dark wrinkles. They are a sign that the Chancellor is on a path to the dark side.

Palpatine's red senatorial robes are printed on his unique torso.

Palpatine wears bright bold colors to assert his authority. Red is also a traditional Sith color, so it hints at his affiliation with the dark side!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 8039
 Venator-Class Republic Attack Cruiser
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 6
ACCESSORIES: Two pauldron cloths

General Grievous' Starfighter (set 8095)

The Clone Wars General Grievous minifigure first appeared in this set. His luxurious starfighter includes a medical room, lightsaber rack, an opening cockpit with controls, and hidden missiles.

Grievous's head piece assembles a mask he wore as a Kaleesh warlord. The classic Grievous minifigure has no face printing (p.127)

Grievous's four arms have hinged joints so they can be positioned in many ways

Grievous collects the lightsabers of his Jedi victims

Not a droid

Grievous hates being called a droid. He is a cyborg: part flesh, part metal. Grievous's classic minifigure (p.127) is built from some droid parts, but his Clone Wars minifigure is completely unique. Grievous would probably approve!

Dark bluish-gray and tan colors are new to this Grievous minifigure

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8095
General Grievous' Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 8
ACCESSORIES: Four lightsabers, blaster

General Grievous

CLONE WARS CYBORG

The MagnaGuard minifigure is an advanced battle droid designed by General Grievous to pose a threat to any clone troopers or Jedi Knights that cross his path. Dressed to intimidate in a unique Kaleesh warrior cape and headwrap, the MagnaGuard carries an electrostaff that is resistant to lightsaber blades.

MagnaGuard Starfighter (set 7673)

Two MagnaGuards appear in this 2008 set. Their specialized starfighter has deadly flick-fire missiles. The MagnaGuards store their electrostaves at the back of the ship's wings during flight.

Headwrap is integrated in the MagnaGuard's unique head piece

Glowing red photoreceptor

Torso piece was first seen on the MagnaGuard. Fellow Separatist droid A4-D (p.91) adopted it in 20

Only the MagnaGuard minifigure carries a powerful LEGO electrostaff

Mechanical arm is in two parts

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008
FIRST SET: 7673
 MagnaGuard Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 9
ACCESSORIES:
 Electrostaff, cape

This large red round plate piece is a third photoreceptor

Cruel cape

The MagnaDroid is the only LEGO minifigure to feature this tan cloth cape with a tattered edge.

The super battle droid (p.47) and TX-20 (p.84) have the same mechanical legs

MagnaGuard MECHANICAL MONSTER

Malevolence (set 9515)

Padmé's senator minifigure is exclusive to this 2012 set. Padmé boards General Evous's deadly ship in a bid to destroy it. The set comes with five minifigures, one of which is Anakin. Padmé comes to the rescue when Evous holds Padmé captive.

A passionate voice in the Senate, Amidala can handle herself in a crisis. There are many Padmé minifigures, but this Clone Wars variant from 2012 is the only one that shows her as a senator. Her hair, which is swept back in a ponytail, appears here for the first time.

New head piece is unique to this minifigure

Tiny brown beauty spot

New torso piece includes dark red vest with diplomatic insignia

Small blaster pistol, 2011 model

Padmé Amidala

SENATOR

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9515
Malevolence
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

As the viceroy of the Trade Federation, Nute Gunray has a lot of power. But instead of working for the good of the LEGO Star Wars galaxy, this Neimoidian minifigure is motivated by greed. Nute's well-dressed but miserable minifigure is the only named member of his species to have been created in LEGO form. He appears in just four sets.

STAR VARIANT

Green Viceroy

The 2014 version of Nute has an updated head piece with olive-green skin and a sloping base piece with unique printing for his robes. His miter is the same mold used for the gray headdress below.

Iron deposits build up in Neimoidians, turning their eyes orange

Nute's head piece is printed with his mottled, gray Neimoidian skin—and his perpetual frown

Nute's elaborate official robes are printed on his unique torso

Gray, scaly Neimoidian hands

Metal badge in the shape of the official Trade Federation insignia

Nute's Viceroy robes are bright in color so he gets more attention than lesser officials

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 8036
Separatist Shuttle

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Nute Gunray
TRADE FEDERATION VICEROY

Separatist Shuttle (set 8036)

Onaconda Farr is exclusive to this LEGO set. He greets a Separatist shuttle that has landed on Rodia. Nute Gunray, two battle droids, and a pilot battle droid are onboard. They want Onaconda to pledge his support to the Separatists and betray Padmé.

Onaconda Farr is a senator from the planet Rodia. He is loyal to the Republic and a dear and trusted friend of Senator Padmé Amidala. His minifigure has green Rodian skin, unique blue face markings, and is dressed in his official senatorial robes. Onaconda appears in just one Clone Wars set, where he must choose whether to oppose the Separatists or betray an old friend.

Sensory organs give Rodians exceptional powers of hearing and smell

Rodians have large, glassy eyes that sometimes sparkle

Onaconda's unique torso is printed with his senatorial outfit

Rodians

Onaconda's head-mold was initially created for bounty hunter Greedo's 2003 minifigure (p.179). The same mold was used again for the slave W. Wald in 2011 (p.16). All three Rodian head pieces have different colors and printing.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 8036
Separatist Shuttle

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: None

Onaconda is the only minifigure in LEGO Star Wars to have dark purple arm pieces

Onaconda's sand-green senatorial pants are made from expensive fabric available only on Rodia

Onaconda Farr

RODIAN SENATOR

The elite assassin droid is the best of the best. Encased in black armor, this skilled assassin can blend into the shadows during a top-secret mission. His tall, thin minifigure has appeared in three LEGO sets since 2009—always in the unsavory company of bounty hunters or other assassin droids.

Orange head sensors enable the elite assassin droid to see in all directions at once

Cone head piece is unique to assassin droids in LEGO Star Wars

STAR VARIANT

Assassin droid

The regular assassin droid minifigure is exactly the same as the elite assassin droid, apart from his color. The assassin droid is silver, and comes in just one LEGO set, Assassin Droids Battle Pack (set 8015). One of the more famous assassin droids is IG-88 (p.211).

Long-range blaster rifle is perfect for carrying out assassinations without being detected

Assassin droid has the same torso piece as the battle droid minifigure (p.26) and rocket droid commander (p.8)

Mechanical body covered with blaster-resistant armor

Bounty Hunter Assault Gunship (set 7930)

The elite assassin droid joins bounty hunters Embo, Aurra Sing, and Sugi on board the assault gunship. This villainous group are on the hunt for Jedi that they can capture and lock up in the ship's prison cell.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 8015 Assassin Droids Battle Pack

NO. OF SETS: 3

PIECES: 1

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Separatist Spider Droid (set 7681)

The spider droid looks intimidating, but with such long legs, it isn't always stable, so Fox has a chance of winning this mighty battle.

Rangefinder feeds into a computer screen in Fox's visor

Blaster pistol

The red ranking stripes and decoration on Fox's unique torso and helmet represent his deployment on Coruscant

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008
FIRST SET: 7661
SEPARATIST SPIDER DROID
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 7
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Commander Fox makes only one appearance in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy—in Separatist Spider Droid (set 7681) in 2008. He is well armed and armored for this battle against the huge, spindly Separatist spider droid. His minifigure has a unique red-patterned torso and helmet.

Distinctive helmet with dark red markings instantly identifies Fox

Extra protection

Commander Fox also comes with full shoulder protective armor. His torso has detailed printing on the back.

Dark bluish-gray anti-blast kama leg armor

Commander Fox

CLONE TROOPER COMMANDER

Count Dooku's personal pilot droid is the only one of his kind in LEGO Star Wars, but he is made up entirely of LEGO pieces seen on other minifigures. His body is made from battle droid parts, and his head is seen on skeletons in other LEGO themes, including Fantasy Era. The FA-4 model droid exclusively pilots Count Dooku's Solar Sailer (set 7752).

Count Dooku's Solar Sailer (set 7752)

The pilot droid sits on a sliding seat inside the working cockpit of Count Dooku's Punworcca 116 class interstellar sloop. He navigates through a rounded cockpit window.

Head is actually made from a LEGO skeleton leg piece!

Leg head

The pilot droid's head can be found on many other minifigures, but it has never before been used as a head piece—it mostly functions as a leg piece on LEGO skeletons.

The 2007 release of General Grievous's minifigure (p.127) has these same white mechanical arms, but his minifigure has four of them!

This white mechanical torso piece is common used on battle droids (pp.28–29)

Some FA-4 pilot droids move around on wheels, but the LEGO FA-4 has white mechanical legs

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 7752 Count Dooku's Solar Sailer
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: None

Pilot Droid

COUNT DOOKU'S CHAUFFEUR

Head-tails

This unique piece was specially made for Shaak Ti. She has two head-tails at the front and one at the back. Shaak is an adult so her head-tails are fully-grown, unlike Ahsoka's (p.58).

Hollow horns on top of Shaak's head are called montrals

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Jedi Shaak Ti is a powerful Clone Wars general. She also trains new clone cadets. Shaak is renowned for her skill and intellect, even though she only appears in one LEGO set. Her minifigure has red Togruta skin and a unique detachable piece with blue and white head-tails that clips onto her head.

Shaak Ti only fights with her lightsaber when all other options have been exhausted

Shaak Ti wears traditional Togruta antler-tooth headdress

Unique torso printed with Shaak's brown Jedi robes and belt

Unique red head piece printed with white Togruta markings

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7931
-6 Jedi Shuttle
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES:
lightsaber, cape

The only other LEGO Star Wars minifigure with red hands is the Royal Guard (p.238)

Shaak Ti

JEDI GENERAL

Tactical Droid TX-20 is a strategic planner and supervisor of Separatist troops stationed in Ryloth City. His unique minifigure made his debut in the 2011 LEGO Clone Wars set Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter (set 7876). He has an unusual combined head-and-torso piece that is exclusive to his minifigure.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7868 Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: None

Processing unit buried inside heavily armored torso to protect it when under fire from enemy forces

Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter (set 7868)

The tactical droid zips around on his Separatist Flitknot speeder. He has a seat that allows him to comfortably perch and then jump out when he needs to.

The TX-20 is much more intelligent than his battle droid counterpart

Unique Separatist symbol

Dark blue mechanical arm exclusive to TX-20

Legs are also seen on the super battle droid (p.47) and MagnaGuard (p.76) minifigures

TX-20

TACTICAL DROID

Rangefinder is connected to a display screen in Wolfe's visor

Commander Wolfe is the tough leader of the elite Wolfpack clone trooper squad. His minifigure wears a helmet and armor printed with unique Wolfpack insignia and rank markings. Wolfe also has a unique face under his helmet, which sets him apart from the other clones in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy.

Wolfe's armor

Commander Wolfe's armor torso is identical to his squad member, the Wolfpack trooper (p.69).

Little-scarred

Commander Wolfe has a face with unique features and stubble. He lost an eye in a duel with Jij Ventress (p.73).

-17 hand blaster

Red and yellow markings designate Wolfe as the unit commander

Stylized wolf design shows squad affiliation

Wolfpack armor is the same as regular clone trooper armor (p.61), but with sand-blue markings and sleeves

Kama protects lower body from flying shrapnel

Wolfe's legs are sand-blue with white markings painted on top

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7964
 Republic Frigate
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 6
ACCESSORIES:
 Twin blaster

Clone Commander Wolfe

LEADER OF THE PACK

Rocket Droid Commander

AIRBORNE DROID

The rocket droid commander is a specialist Separatist droid who leads a battalion of rocket battle droids. His minifigure has a rocketpack on his back and wears lightweight armor for space combat. This droid only appears in one LEGO set, where he uses his superior programming to attack the Republic.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010

FIRST SET: 80867,

Droid Tri-Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 7

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Receiver for central droid command signal

One of the arm pieces has a hand that is turned 90 degrees so it can hold a blaster

Unusual jetpack

The rocket droid commander's jetpack is actually a LEGO binoculars piece. It is also used for the destroyer droid's blasters (p.27).

He uses the same E-5 blaster as regular battle droids

Droid Tri-Fighter (set 8086)

The rocket droid commander is exclusive to this LEGO set. The set also comes with two rocket battle droid minifigures, which are the same as the commander, but without the yellow armor markings.

Unique head piece is the same mold as the battle droid minifigure (p.26), but with different coloring

Yellow markings indicate rank of commander

Rocketpack clips onto his back

Same leg piece as the battle droid minifigure

STAR VARIANT

Commando droid

The original commando droid has white eyes like its counterpart, but its face has dark tan printing, rather than black and white. It appeared for the first time in the Elite Clone Trooper and Commando Droid Battle Pack (set 9488), released in 2012.

The second of two commando droid minifigures, this 2013 version is notable for its striking face print, denoting its superior rank. More intelligent and dangerous than a standard battle droid, the commando droid captain leads its unit on missions of stealth. This deadly droid provides an adversary in the AT-RT (set 75002) which also contains Yoda and a 501st legion clone trooper.

Arm with vertical grip appears in 23 droid figures

LEGO Space skeleton arm piece with standard grip

Torso has reinforced droid armor plating

Dark brown coloring makes commando hard to spot at night

Leg power

These mechanical legs appear as part of seven different LEGO Star Wars droids, including the MagnaGuard (2008-9) and super battle droid (2007-14).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75002 AT-RT

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Commando Droid Captain

LETHAL LEADER

Leader of the 41st Elite Corps in the Clone Wars, Gree is one of only a handful of named clone commanders to become LEGO minifigures—the others are Fox, Cody, and Wolffe. Gree's dark green markings are unique but the same cannot be said for his face, which he shares with 20 other minifigures—all clones, of course.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9491
Geonosian Cannon

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster

The torso is a unique piece. Printing also continues on the back

Standard clone trooper leg armor has unique green printing

STAR VARIANT

Kashyyyk commander

This 2014 version of Commander Gree takes the AT-AP (set 75043) into battle at Kashyyyk, alongside an exclusive Wookiee minifigure, Chief Tarful.

Career

Though Gree is best known for his role in the Battle of Kashyyyk, as depicted in Episode III, his first appearance in minifigure form was as part of the Clone Wars Geonosian Cannon (set 9491).

Clone Wars Phase II armor made unique to this minifigure is its green markings, which denote his rank within the 41st Elite Corps

STAR VARIANT

Eye-catching armor

Though this earlier variant does not feature leg printing, the black hip and blue leg combination remains unique to Senate commandos in the LEGO Star Wars universe.

Unique torso has a similar design to clone trooper armor, but the blue coloring signifies the captain's elite commando unit

Not a clone

The Senate commando captain's head piece is the same as that used for the clone trooper (p.61) and other clone minifigures. However, the Senate commandos and their captain are not actually clones.

This 2015 variant has been updated to include leg printing

I II CW III R IV V VI L

The Senate commando captain leads an elite unit of Senate commandos. They are Chancellor Palpatine's personal bodyguards on Coruscant. The captain is an intimidating minifigure in head-to-toe blue and white armor. He appears in just two LEGO sets, although his expert commando troops appear in three.

Senate commandos

Unlike the captain, Senate commandos have no white markings on their helmets. The commandos also received an armor upgrade and new printed faces in 2015—a 2010 variant appearing on a fridge magnet isn't so lucky!

White markings indicate the rank of captain

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75088
 Senate Commando Troopers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Senate Commando Captain
 PALPATINE'S GUARD

Nahdar Vebb

MON CALAMARI JEDI

Nahdar Vebb is a Mon Calamari Jedi Knight who trained under Jedi Master Kit Fisto. His minifigure only appears in one LEGO set, where he attacks General Grievous on his starfighter. Nahdar is sometimes impatient, but he is always passionate about protecting the LEGO Star Wars galaxy.

Bulging yellow eyes on either side of head have a wide field of vision

Mon Calamari

Nahdar's squid-like head is not unique: The solid plastic Mon Calamari head-mold is also used for the Admiral Ackbar (p.130) and Mon Calamari officer (p.242) minifigures.

Jedi robes

The Jedi robes and belt that are printed on Nahdar's unique torso continue on the reverse, too.

Mon Calamari can breathe underwater for up to 30 hours

Nahdar wears Jedi robes in the traditional style, which include a tan tunic, white undershirt, and brown belt.

Although young, Nahdar is skilled with a lightsaber. He can defeat four MagnaGuards on his own!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET:
 8095 General Grievous' Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010

FIRST SET: 8095 General Grievous' Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 18

ACCESSORIES: Tools

ice contains d for use during operation. It is nched to an arm
A4-D's back

General Grievous' Starfighter (set 8095)

A4-D ensures that General Grievous's cyborg body is well maintained in this LEGO set. The medical room has a swiveling chair and a rack for Grievous's large lightsaber collection.

A4-D is a sadistic medical droid and General Grievous's personal doctor in just one LEGO set. His minifigure is built out of standard droid parts, but with many medical modifications! Extra arms on A4-D's torso hold all manner of equipment, which he is more than happy to use—no matter how much trouble he causes!

Sticker is printed with A4-D's logic center

Surgical laser helps A4-D perform operations with precision

Gripping tool holds Grievous steady during a procedure

Leg piece is also used for battle droids (p.26, pp.28-29)

Electric saw is actually a LEGO zip-line handle

Stickers

Some boxes of General Grievous' Starfighter (set 8095) were released with stickers to give A4-D's head piece a mechanical face. However, some sets did not contain stickers, so there is an A4-D variant with a plain head.

A4-D SADISTIC ROBOT DOCTOR

Hondo Ohnaka

WEEQUAY PIRATE

Hondo Ohnaka is the fearsome leader of a gang of Weequay pirates. His minifigure wears mismatched clothes, a black bandana, and green-eyed goggles—items he has scavenged on his many journeys. Hondo only appears in one LEGO set, but he and his pilfering gang are always plotting new ways to make a quick buck.

Black bandana is also worn by the Weequay bounty hunter Shahan Alama (p.108)

Pirate Tank (set 7753)
Hondo is the gunner on board the pirate tank in this set. The tank is equipped with flick missiles and a huge blaster cannon. Hondo and his gang of pirates are on a mission to kidnap Obi-Wan—the Jedi Master will fetch a good ransom.

Shoulder epaulets show all the other pirates who's in charge

Epaulet
The LEGO epaulet shoulder piece is worn by several minifigures across other LEGO themes, including pirates and soldiers. In LEGO Star Wars, however, only two minifigures wear this piece, Hondo and Embo (p.99).

Hondo's unique head is printed with goggles and Weequay skin

Three other LEGO Star Wars minifigures have dark red arms: Chancellor Palpatine (p.74), Commander Fox (p.81), and the Royal Guard (p.238)

Torso is printed with an elaborate jacket which Hondo wears over a ragged white shirt. Hondo thinks the jacket gives him an air of grandeur

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 7753 Pirate Tank

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: None

Pirate ponytail

Turk's black ponytail is printed on the back of his head—and continues down the back of his torso.

Turk's headband wraps all the way round the head piece and ties up at the back

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET:
 753 Pirate Tank
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 twin pistols
ACCESSORIES: None

Unique head piece is printed with Turk's leathery Weequay face

Turk is the only minifigure in the LEGO Star Wars theme with dark green arms

Turk carries a pair of ancient pistols

Unique torso is printed on both sides with Turk's tattered clothing and weapon harness

Turk Falso is a tough Weequay criminal. His minifigure is second-in-command in Hondo Ohnaka's pirate gang, and he wears clothes suitable for a pirate's life of planet-hopping and petty thieving. Turk searches for Jedi minifigures to hold for ransom, but he's also out to double-cross his fellow pirates. Luckily for everyone, this rotten pirate only appears in one set.

Turk Falso
 DANGEROUS PIRATE

Turk carries a pair of ancient pistols

Man of weapons

Turk wields many weapons in his crime-filled life. He uses this dark bluish-gray cutlass to threaten Jedi hostages.

Aayla Secura

BLUE-SKINNED JEDI

Aayla Secura is a Twi'lek Jedi Knight. Her blue-skinned minifigure wears a brown Jedi costume and wields a blue lightsaber. Aayla only appears in one LEGO set, Clone Turbo Tank (set 8098), where she, Anakin, and Ahsoka lead their clone troopers against the ruthless bounty hunter Cad Bane.

Unique head top clips onto Aayla's standard LEGO head to attach her brown helmet and blue Twi'lek tentacles

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8098
 Clone Turbo Tank
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Twi'lek skin can be almost any color, but Aayla's blue skin tone is distinctive even among Twi'leks

Aayla's unique torso is printed with her Jedi costume: a cropped brown top with just one sleeve

Aayla prefers using her lightsaber for defense rather than attack

Standard LEGO lightsaber hilt

Reverse Twi'lek

Aayla's tentacles hang down behind her back. The reverse of her torso is printed with her Jedi clothes.

Face protection

The other side of Anakin's dual-sided head piece features goggles and a gray bandana to keep the cold out.

Anakin's trademark blue lightsaber with silver hilt

Anakin's face has heavy eyebrows, big blue eyes, and a burn scar caused by Asajj Ventress

Anakin Skywalker is seen in his snow gear in Freeco Speeder (set 8085). His fur-trimmed outfit equips him for icy planets like Orto Plutonia. His parka is similar to Han Solo's snow gear (p.196) but Anakin's is printed with Jedi insignia. This Anakin minifigure also has a reversible head.

Anakin's removeable parka hood proudly displays his Jedi insignia

Freeco Speeder (set 8085)

Anakin is on board his speeder, looking for a Separatist base. The cockpit is an awkward squeeze, but Anakin's piloting skills are second to none and he adapts to any situation in true Jedi fashion.

Unique torso piece with blue parka and brown utility belt

Light bluish-gray waterproof pants for snowy conditions

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8085
 Freeco Speeder
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Anakin Skywalker

COLD WEATHER JEDI

Thi-Sen

TALZ CHIEFTAIN

Thi-Sen is the chieftain of the secretive Talz tribe which lives on the ice planet Orto Plutonia. This unique minifigure has an elaborate dark bluish-gray extended head piece. He wears a distinctive armored shell and carries a spear for protection so that he can defend his tribe from any unfriendly visitors.

Thi-Sen's fan-shaped tailbone headdress marks him out as the chieftain

Talz have four eyes—a set for day and a bigger set for night vision

Thi-Sen eats and communicates through this small, tube-like snout

Light pearl-colored spear appears in many LEGO sets for various themes, including LEGO Castle

A single LEGO piece combines Thi-Sen's head, narglatch tailbone headdress, and cape made from narglatch hide and fur body

Thi-Sen has a standard light bluish-gray LEGO torso piece beneath his extended head piece

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET:
 8085 Freeco Speeder
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Spear

One piece

The detailing on Thi-Sen's sandwich-board head piece extends down the back of his torso to his narglatch cape. The headpiece is integrated into this piece, too.

STAR VARIANT

Ready for anything!

The first Cad Bane minifigure wears breathing apparatus, just in case! Appearing in just two 2010 LEGO sets, he sports a tattered jacket and wields twin blasters.

With his wide-brimmed hat, Cad thinks of himself as a space cowboy

Prepared for any situation, Cad grips a blaster pistol

Cad is a Duros, who all have blue skin and red eyes

Unique torso is exclusive to this minifigure

Cad Bane is a bounty hunter like no other, so it is fitting that his minifigure is unique, too. Blue-skinned and red-eyed, he comes in two variants, both with the same distinctive and unique hat. The 2013 variant of this merciless mercenary zips about in a pirate speeder—but Obi-Wan is hot on his tail.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75024
STARSHIP: H-87 Starhopper
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Cad Bane
 FEARSOME BOUNTY HUNTER

Bounty hunter Sugi is honest but deadly. Whether she is sent to capture a Jedi Knight or protect a family of poor farmers, she will not give up until the mission is complete. Sugi's minifigure wears functional clothes that help her get the job done. She doesn't need anything else—apart from her weapons! Sugi carries out many missions, but she only appears in one set.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7930

Bounty Hunter Pursuit

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster, vibroblade

Sugi is an Iridonian Zabrak. Her head piece has small printed horns and precise face tattoos.

The back of Sugi's unique head piece is printed with two more horns and Sugi's purple hair. Her hair is pulled into a neat top knot, so it doesn't get in her minifigure's way during a mission.

Sugi's unique torso is printed with her simple red vest and metal necklace—her most treasured possession.

Vibroblade vibrates to make it more efficient than a regular blade.

Sugi's weapon of choice is an EE-3 carbine rifle.

Plain gray pants give Sugi ease of movement in combat.

Sugi

HONORABLE BOUNTY HUNTER

Multifunctional

Embo's multi-purpose hat with traditional Kyuzo markings is a 3x3 inverted radar LEGO piece. The same piece (in black, without special printing) is also used for the Imperial probe droid (p.173).

Embo's metal hat can also be thrown as a weapon or used as a shield

Embo is a Kyuzo bounty hunter with sand-green, scaly skin and yellow eyes. He is part of Sugi's team of bounty hunters on board the Bounty Hunter Assault Gunship (set 7930). His minifigure carries a bowcaster and is made up of many unique pieces, including finely detailed hat, head, torso, and leg pieces.

Back and armor
Back of Embo's torso features more printed detail, which continues the pattern of his armor and ammo belt.

Epaulements piece is also worn by Hondo Ohnaka (p.92)

Embo wears a bronze breathing mask to filter moisture out of the air

ified caster

ue torso is ted with o's sturdy or and his munition strap

Utility belt printed on hip piece

Unique leg piece is printed with Embo's Kyuzopatterned wrap

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7930
Bounty Hunter Pursuit
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES:
Bowcaster

Embo

KYUZO BOUNTY HUNTER

Ki-Adi-Mundi is a Jedi from the planet Cerea. Highly intelligent, his minifigure is a member of the Jedi Council and a top Jedi General. Ki-Adi-Mundi has a specially designed additional head piece to house his extremely large Cerean brain. His minifigure flies into battle over the planet Geonosis in just one 2011 Clone Wars set.

Unique head piece shows Ki-Adi-Mundi's white mustache and beard, and his pale Cerean eyes

Ki-Adi-Mundi's large binary brain makes him extremely logical and a skilled tactician. He has a second heart just to support his brain

Cerean head

Ki-Adi-Mundi's Cerean head is topped with a white ponytail. His binary brain piece has creases down the back, which are continued as printed lines on his head piece.

Unique torso is printed with Ki-Adi-Mundi's Jedi robes. His long vest is styled after ancient Cerean clothing

Utility belt has a clip to hold a lightsaber

Ki-Adi-Mundi favors a defensive form of lightsaber combat

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7959
 Geonosian Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Ki-Adi-Mundi

JEDI TACTICIAN

STAR VARIANT

Wardrobe change

Although similar at first glance, the original Barriss variant has a subtly different hood, cape, torso, belt, and face print than the 2012 variant.

Barriss is called in lightsaber combat

Jedi hood in blue—not the usual brown

Mirialan tattoos are a sign of high achievement

Mirialan skin tone

Barriss Offee and her Jedi Master, Luminara Unduli, are from the planet Mirial. To reflect their alien origins, their minifigures' heads and hands are differentiated by a distinctive skin color, which has a greenish hue.

Young Barriss Offee learns all she can from her experienced Jedi mentor, Luminara Unduli. Barriss wears her own Mirialan robes instead of regular Jedi attire, and she has a unique face, with blue lips and tattoos. Barriss appears in two LEGO sets, and wields a blue lightsaber in both.

Geonosian Cannon (set 9491)

Barriss takes on the role of a general as she faces fearsome Geonosian warriors. She must evade the fire of their blasters and powerful cannon.

Unique torso
with black and brown stripes and belt pattern

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9491

Geonosian Cannon

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber

Barriss Offee

LOYAL PADAWAN

Jedi Council member Eeth Koth is an Iridonian Zabrak. His minifigure wears traditional Jedi robes and wields a green lightsaber. A specially designed head attachment features Eeth's short Zabrak horns and long, dark hair. He appears in just one LEGO set, aboard a Republic Frigate (set 7964).

Zabrak horns

There are six Zabrak minifigures and their horned heads are all different. Darth Maul (p.20), Savage Opress (p.110), and the Old Republic Jedi Knight (p.265) share a head attachment but have different printing, as do Eeth and Agen Kolar (p.130), while Sugi's horns are printed on her standard LEGO head (p.98).

Unique face printing shows Eeth's simple tattoos

Horned head and hair piece is made of rubber, not the usual ABS plastic

Eeth's hair is tied with traditional Iridonian rope. Two bunches hang over the front of Eeth's torso and a third hangs down the back

Torso is printed with a set of Jedi robes unique to Eeth

Eeth uses his strong connection to the Force to enhance his lightsaber skills

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7964
 Republic Frigate
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Eeth Koth

ZABRAK JEDI MASTER

STAR VARIANT

Geonosian

The 2011 variant flies the Geonosian Starfighter (set 7959).

He shares the same head, torso, and leg pieces as the later variant, but he does not have wings.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9491

Geonosian Cannon

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

The rocky outcrops of Geonosia house the hive colonies of an insectoid, hive-minded race, which is loyal to the Separatist cause. This 2012 Geonosian winged warrior operates a powerful cannon at the Battle of Geonosia. His head shape, shared with the 2011 variant, develops the original LEGO Geonosian head-mold.

Insectoid eyes bulge out of head piece

Geonosian exoskeleton markings

Chitin armor, with its composition of insect shell and animal skin, protects against the sonic energy weapons favored by Geonosians

Gold markings are typical of Geonosian decoration

Red iketa stones are symbols of war in Geonosian culture

Geonosian Warrior
WINGED DEFENDER

Back from the dead, this zombie is a unique figure, though there have been other versions of planet Geonosis's native insectoid race before—the first was the 2003 figure in the Geonosian Fighter (set 4478). Part of the Geonosian queen's personal guard, this zombie warrior can feel no pain and is controlled via a worm in his skull.

Modified Geonosian head piece with gray eyes to indicate undead status

Geonosian Cannon (set 9491)

A fearsome figure, the Geonosian zombie operates this cannon alongside a living Geonosian warrior. They fire powerful flick missiles to repel the clone army's attack.

Wicked wings

Transparent plastic wings with black and gray printing create a creepy shredded effect. No other figure has this spooky feature.

Armored insectoid exoskeleton made of chitin can be shed

Torso is a unique piece, based on the 2011 Geonosian pilot torso, but colored in the Geonosian zombie pattern

Sonic blaster

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9491
 Geonosian Cannon
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Pre Vizsla's Mandalorian Fighter (set 9525)

Pre Vizsla's plane has rotating wings and an opening cockpit with space for two minifigures. This set includes an Obi-Wan minifigure, there to keep an eye on Pre Vizsla.

This new helmet piece features green trident-shaped printing

Pre Vizsla's cape is technically a pauldron designed to protect shoulder and upper arm. It fits a jet with twin nozzles.

The blue cape is a Mandalorian pauldron on the back

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9525 Pre Vizsla's Mandalorian Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 6
ACCESSORIES: Darksaber

Governor of Concordia turned leader of the renegade Death Watch organization, Pre Vizsla has appeared just once as a minifigure, in 2012. Beneath his impressive helmet is a stern face with cheek lines and high brow pattern that also appears on a Mandalorian super commando. Pre Vizsla is wielder of a rare darksaber, which was stolen from the Jedi in ancient times.

Pre Vizsla

CAPED CONSPIRATOR

The only other minifigure with this Darksaber is Darth Maul, who carries it in the Mandalorian Speeder (set 75022)

Unique torso and leg pieces, printed with Mandalorian armor

The Mandalorian is a deadly soldier from the planet Mandalore. He owns many weapons, but his distinctive blue and gray armor is his most treasured possession. Appearing in only two LEGO sets, the Mandalorian's minifigure joins forces with the Separatists—even though his sturdy armor was the inspiration for clone trooper armor!

Mandalorian Battle Pack (set 7914)

Four armored Mandalorian minifigures attack the clone army in this LEGO set. They are equipped with a speeder and a variety of weapons, including a blaster turret, long-range rifle, and blasters.

Helmet has similar markings to Jango Fett's helmet (p.36)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7914

Mandalorian Battle Pack

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Long or short blaster

Jetpack fits around minifigure's neck

Mandalorians are trained to use a variety of weapons

Under the helmet

Beneath the Mandalorian helmet is a unique LEGO head piece printed with blue eyes and pale features.

Mandalorian armor is famous in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. It is made from an almost indestructible metal, called beskar

Jetpack

The Mandalorian's armor is fitted with a jetpack. Jango Fett (p.36) also wears a jetpack, which is sometimes attached to his helmet.

Mandalorian

ARMORED WARRIOR

Bounty Hunter Pursuit Gunship (set 7930)

Aurra Sing knows exactly what will bring her the highest ransom. In this set, she managed to get hold of a Jedi Iron! Aurra's minifigure stores her secret chamber aboard the Pursuit Hunter gunship.

Long brown hair is tied up, out of the way

Weapons vest

Back of Aurra's unique vest is printed with her secret chamber, in which she stores compact blasters and ammo.

Utility belt

Unique hairstyle

Aurra's long, brown LEGO hair piece was specially designed for her 2011 minifigure. It fits into the stud on top of Aurra's otherwise bald head piece and flows neatly down her back.

Unique head piece is printed with Aurra's bright green eyes and confident smile

Aurra's orange jumpsuit is functional. It allows her to maneuver easily during combat

Unique leg pieces are printed with holsters for Aurra's twin pistols

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7133
Bounty Hunter Pursuit
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
Twin blasters

Aurra Sing

RELENTLESS BOUNTY HUNTER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8128
Cad Bane's Speeder
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Shahan Alama was a pirate—until he was kicked out of the gang for being too nasty! Now he is a bounty hunter who works with Cad Bane. His mismatched clothing and bandana point to his former life as a pirate, but Shahan's mean streak runs deep so he feels right at home among Bane's gang of hired brutes. Fortunately, Shahan wreaks havoc in just one LEGO set.

Dark red bandana hat piece is unique to Shahan. Hondo Ohnaka wears it in black (p.92)

Protective chestplate worn around the neck

Shahan's unique head piece is printed with a savage expression and a Weequay skin pattern, which continues on the back

Pearl gold arm was taken from a combat droid to replace Shahan's destroyed right arm

Shahan's armor
 Shahan's chestplate is printed on the back of his torso, too. Working together with Cad Bane has its risks

Belt was stolen from a Twi'lek nobleman

Weequay skin
 There are four Weequay minifigures: Shahan, Hondo Ohnaka (p.92), the Weequay Skiff Guard (p.230), and Turk Falso (p.93). They all have faces printed with Weequay skin, but the patterns and colors vary from one villain to the next.

Shahan has a blaster—and is not afraid to use it!

Shahan Alama PIRATE TURNED BOUNTY HUNTER

Unisex hair piece

Quinlan's hair is unique to his minifigure in LEGO Star Wars. However, the same piece is used for female minifigures in other LEGO themes, including LEGO Harry Potter, where it adorns the heads of Hermione Granger and Molly Weasley.

Torso printing

The unique printing on Quinlan's torso continues on the reverse, depicting the back of his tunic and armor.

Quinlan Vos is an unconventional Jedi. He is an expert Force tracker, able to locate anybody by following their trail—but he has also teetered on the edge of the dark side. His unkempt minifigure has messy hair and stubble, and wears a rusty chestplate over his Jedi tunic. He spends a lot of time undercover, which may be why he appears in only one LEGO set.

Printed hair braid

Quinlan uses the Force to read the "memories" of inanimate objects

Quinlan's yellow stripe across his face is a reminder of his Kiffu heritage

Quinlan's blaster-proof chestplate is part of his Jedi uniform because he finds himself in danger more often than most

Quinlan sometimes uses a lightsaber printing style that is into dark side energies

Utility belt conceals Quinlan's Jedi items when undercover

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7964
 Republic Frigate
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Quinlan Vos

JEDI TRACKER

Savage Opress

DARK APPRENTICE

Savage Opress is on a secret mission. Hired by Asajj Ventress to destroy Count Dooku, his minifigure poses as Dooku's new apprentice. Savage appears in just one LEGO set, where his horned, Dathomirian minifigure must decide who to attack: the Jedi Anakin Skywalker, or his two despised Sith Masters?

Dathomir Speeder (set 7957)

Asajj Ventress, a Nightsister from Savage's home planet of Dathomir, pilots a Nightspeeder with Savage in this set.

Savage's fellow Dathomirian, Darth Maul, also wields a double-bladed lightsaber

LEGO spear piece with ax head attached

Savage's Zabrak head piece is the same mold as Darth Maul's horned head piece (p.20), but with yellow markings in a different pattern

Enchanted blade is a weapon from a clan of witches called the Nightsisters

Nightbrother tattoos on yellow skin

Unique armor piece fits over the minifigure's neck. The Dathomirian armor protects Savage's torso and shoulders

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7957

Sith Nightspeeder

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Double-bladed lightsaber, enchanted blade

STAR VARIANT

Caped Tiin

The Episode III Saesee Tiin joins three other trusted Jedi in Palpatine's Arrest (set 9526).

Tiin's stern expression is less ferocious than the one on his Episode III minifigure

Telepathic Jedi Saesee Tiin

is a celebrated pilot in the Republic fleet. He is from the planet Iktotch and his minifigure has a unique piece with down-turned horns that fits onto his head piece. Saesee is an integral member of the Jedi Council, as well as a brave soldier. He wears his Jedi robes and wields his lightsaber with pride.

T-6 Jedi Shuttle (set 7931)

Saesee Tiin first appears in this LEGO set. He and three other Jedi travel to a distant battlefield on the Jedi shuttle. The shuttle is armed with flick missiles, and the cockpit can become an escape pod—should trouble arise.

Unique torso is printed with brown Jedi robes and a utility belt

Iktotchi skin

Tiin's telepathic powers have transformed the skin on the back of his head, creating symmetrical markings.

Saesee Tiin

JEDI WARRIOR

DATA FILE

AR: 2011
 SET: 7931
 Jedi Shuttle
 OF SETS: 2
 CES: 4
 ACCESSORIES:
 lightsaber

R8-B7 is Mace Windu's personal astromech droid and co-pilot during the Clone Wars. He has only appeared in one LEGO set: Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter (set 7868) from 2011. The metallic gold printing on his cylindrical body and dome-shaped head makes R8-B7 a very special, unique astromech minifigure.

Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter (set 7868)

R8-B7 sits inside the open cockpit with pilot Mace Windu, who has a canopy to cover his seat. R8-B7 navigates and is also on hand to repair the starfighter when it is damaged during battle.

Good fit

R8-B7 is held in the cockpit of Mace Windu's Jedi starfighter with studs so he does not fall out during particularly dramatic battles. He can deploy flick-fire missiles from beneath the vehicle.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7868
 Mace Windu's Jedi Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Unique metallic gold printing

Purple sensor for enhanced navigation

Acoustic signaler positioned above system ventilation unit

Like all LEGO astromech droids, R8-B7's legs are secured with Technic pins

Recharge power coupling

R8-B7

METALLIC ASTROMECH

Even Piell's Jedi Starfighter (set 9498)

lies in this green starfighter Jedi Master Saesee Tiin (p.111).
ipped with four flick missiles, Tiin's ghter has an R3-D5 astromech for navigation and repairs.

Even Piell is a Lannik Jedi Master who is captured by the Separatists and imprisoned in the Citadel on planet Lola Sayu during the Clone Wars. This minifigure, the first Lannik to appear in LEGO Star Wars, is exclusive to Saesee Tiin's Jedi Starfighter (set 9498). Piell's head, which is made from two pieces, includes detailed painting of his distinctive battle scars and wrinkles.

Separate head top mold includes additional scarring and a ponytail

Unique head piece is printed with Even Piell's numerous battle scars and one closed eye

Lightsaber belt clip

Torso with black, open-necked shirt

Short unposeable legs

DATA FILE

AR: 2012
ST SET:
8 Saesee Tiin's
Starfighter
OF SETS: 1
CES: 4
ESSORIES:
tsaber

Even Piell
LONG-LIVED JEDI MASTER

The Umbaran soldier fights on the Separatist side in the Clone Wars. His minifigure appears in only one 2013 set, the Umbaran MHC (Mobile Heavy Cannon) (set 75013). Born on a planet that is always in darkness, the soldier has pale skin, colored lavender by a special gas pumped into his helmet to increase his reaction speed and warlike attitude.

Umbaran MHC (set 75013)

Seen in the Clone Wars, this massive mobile weapon has a swiveling cannon, and a missile launcher. Its front and rear cockpits open to fit the soldier. The set has four minifigures including Ahsoka Tano.

Unique head piece printed with large purple eyes, white eyebrows, and a stern expression

Space helmet appears on 27 LEGO minifigures, but only this once in LEGO Star Wars minifigures

Standard blaster

Dark sight

The Umbarans have special night vision and a great deal of detail has been used to draw attention to this minifigure's haunting eyes. They are purple with penetrating dark pupils—and a bold white gleam.

New torso piece features Umbaran armor printing which continues on the back

Protective gloves

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75013

Umbaran MHC
(Mobile Heavy Cannon)

NO OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:
Blaster

New head and torso mold is a single piece

Double-bladed lightsabers in green and blue

A powerful Jedi who falls to the dark side, General Pong Krell is the first Besalisk to appear as a LEGO minifigure. Krell is relentless and ferocious in battle. Being a Besalisk gives the general two main advantages: his height and his four arms, which allow him to wield the two double-bladed lightsabers that come with his set—the Z-95 Headhunter (set 75004) from 2013.

Z-95 Headhunter (set 75004)

Perfect for battling the Separatists in the dark skies above Umbara, this starfighter has a secret weapon—a spring-loaded LEGO Technic shooter.

Dark orange torso with Jedi robe

Jedi robe and white leg armor plates painted onto legs

Pong Krell

FOUR-ARMED FIGHTER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75004

Z-95 Headhunter

NO OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES:

Twin double-bladed lightsabers

Rako Hardeen

JEDI IN DISGUISE

Ruthless bounty hunter

Rako Hardeen is really Obi-Wan Kenobi in disguise! He is undercover to infiltrate Cad Bane's crew and find out his plans. While there have been many Obi-Wan minifigures, this is the first of his Hardeen identity. The tattoos on his face show the tribal allegiances of the original Hardeen, who came from the planet Concord Dawn.

Sniper rifle is extended with lightsaber hilt piece

Metallic gold printed knee pads

New face print with distinctive tattoo is unique to this minifigure

Speeder

Rako is pictured here on the pirate speeder that comes with this minifigure in the HH-87 Starhopper [set 75024].

Rako's back

The back of the head is a light flesh color. A printed brown curve suggests the bulge at the back of the shaven skull.

This is the first minifigure to feature this new torso print

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75024
HH-87 Starhopper
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Sniper Rifle

Starhopper

The 362-piece HH-87 Starhopper (set 75024) has an opening cockpit and four flick missiles. Its three minifigures also include Rako Hardeen and Cad Bane.

This horn-headed guard works for the Hutt crime lords on the planet Nal Hutta during the Clone Wars. He is the first Nikto to be made into a minifigure, and is exclusive to the HH-87 Starhopper (set 75024) that appeared in 2013. This grim guard meets Obi-Wan Kenobi without even knowing it—the Jedi is impersonating bounty hunter Rako Hardeen at the time.

Reptilian Nikto face with white horns

New torso printing features a dark brown shoulder strap, a double belt, and two small buttons

Ax head in titanium metal color

Ax shaft is made from standard bear piece

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75024
HH-87 Starhopper
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Ax

Nikto Guard

CRIMINAL AX MAN

Darth Maul's minifigure was last seen plummeting down an exhaust shaft on Naboo. Now, his fifth variant has returned with new mechanical legs, replacing the LEGO parts that were dispatched by Obi-Wan's lightsaber. Maul is exceptionally proud of his new legs, which are unique to his minifigure. He also wields the Darksaber.

Head piece has similar printing to previous variants, but a unique, smug expression

Eyes are yellow, ringed with red

Maul's old saberstaff has been replaced by two single lightsabers

Rare printed arms, depicting yet more tattoos

New, shirtless look gives Maul the opportunity to display his Nightbrother tattoos

Only one other minifigure wields the Darksaber, Mandalorian soldier, Pre Vizsla

Mechanical legs

Darth Maul's unique leg pieces clip onto his unique hip piece. Although the LEGO mold makes the legs appear hinged, they are each a single piece of plastic.

Clawed feet make mechanical Maul look even more deadly

No more robes

Darth Maul's latest minifigure is the second one to feature Maul's shirtless torso. This new torso, however, has new printed details, including a silver collar and all-silver belt.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75022
Mandalorian Speeder

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 6

ACCESSORIES: Twin lightsabers

Darth Maul

CYBORG SITH

Commander Neyo (75037)

Appearing in just one LEGO set, Commander Neyo demonstrates his skill as a pilot of a superfast speeder—a skill for which he is quickly gaining a stellar reputation.

Emblem of 91st Reconnaissance Corps

Some BARC troopers wear this sash

Reconnaissance Corps emblem kept inside the ammo-stocked utility belt

Printing continues on the back and legs

Unique printed details on helmet help to identify this minifigure as Commander Neyo

It is rare to find minifigures with arm pieces of two different colors

Torso is unique to this minifigure

Commander Neyo's minifigure proudly displays the emblem of the Advanced Recon battalion on his unique helmet and armor. Stationed on the arid planet of Saleucami during the Battle of Saleucami (set 75037), Neyo proves himself a loyal and efficient trooper—never more so than when he is ordered to execute Order 66.

Commander Neyo
SALEUCAMI RECON COMMANDER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75037
Battle on Saleucami

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:
Blaster

This loyal soldier of the Republic is wearing the enhanced Phase II armor that came in during the Clone Wars. Far stronger than the Phase I armor that preceded it, Phase II armor was the basis for the super-protective stormtrooper suits. This 2010 clone trooper from the 2010 Republic Swamp Speeder (set 8091) has no face under his unique helmet, just a plain black minifigure head.

Open T-visor in this clone trooper's helmet reveals a blank black head

Blaster rifle

STAR VARIANT

Trooper trouble

One of the seven minifigures that appears in the 2005 Clone Turbo Tank (set 7261), this is the first Phase II clone trooper. It has a plain black head beneath a helmet pattern that it shares with the aerial trooper in the same set.

Clone Trooper

This variant helmet is found only in the 2014 Clone Turbo Tank (set 75028) and the 2013 advent calendar.

Variants of this torso print are shared with other clone trooper minifigures, including one who wears a santa hat in the 2014 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010

FIRST SET: 8091
Republic Swamp Speeder

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster rifle

Clone Trooper PHASE II TROOPER

STAR VARIANTS

Light look

Anakin's blue lightsaber is lit up by a battery in the minifigure's torso in the 2005's Ultimate Lightsaber Set (set 7257). A non-lit-up variant appears in two sets, wearing a headset but no cape.

The only other LEGO Star Wars minifigure to wear this hair piece is Mon Mothma (p.239)

Anakin Skywalker is now a lauded Jedi Knight. The minifigure has a battle-scarred face and a cyborg hand after Anakin faced many trials during the Clone Wars, but he has proven himself to be a hero of the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. Five variants of Anakin appear in six LEGO sets, one with a light-up lightsaber.

Dark look

This 2012 minifigure from Anakin's Jedi Interceptor (set 9494) has a double-sided head piece to show Anakin's transformation from Jedi to Sith. The variant in Obi-Wan Kenobi's Arrest (set 9526) has two expressions, but the change seems less severe.

Cyborg hand concealed by a black glove. Count Dooku cut off Anakin's hand

The other side of Anakin's unique head piece has a determined expression

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75038 Jedi Interceptor
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber

Anakin's torso and legs pieces are exclusive to his Jedi Knight minifigure

Anakin Skywalker

JEDI KNIGHT

Obi-Wan Kenobi is now a Jedi Master, and he has achieved much military success as a general during the Clone Wars. His minifigure has appeared as a slightly different variant in six LEGO Star Wars sets. His variant in Anakin's Jedi Interceptor (set 9494), for example, is the only Jedi Master Obi-Wan Kenobi that has plain dark tan leg pieces.

STAR VARIANTS

Light-up Jedi

A variant of Jedi Master Obi-Wan Kenobi appears in Ultimate Lightsaber Duel (set 7257). Pushing down the minifigure's head makes his lightsaber light up.

Pilot Jedi

This variant was the first Obi-Wan to have tan leg pieces. He wears a gold headpiece for piloting his starfighter. Two later variants also have gold headpieces.

General Grievous' Wheel Bike (set 75040)

Obi-Wan Kenobi chases General Grievous as he flees on his wheel bike through the sinkholes of Utapau in the 2014 set. Obi-Wan must avoid the wheel bike's double laser cannon and flick missile.

Reversible Obi-Wan head occurs in just three LEGO Star Wars sets

Obi-Wan's Jedi robes have been updated and are unique to this 2014 variant

Printed leg pieces in sand yellow are only found on this variant

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75040
 General Grievous
 Wheel Bike
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Cloaked Kenobi

Jedi Master Obi-Wan wears a Jedi cloak in two LEGO sets: General Grievous Chase (set 7255) and Ultimate Lightsaber Duel (set 7257). The Light-up Lightsaber variant in Ultimate Lightsaber Duel also wears a Jedi hood.

STAR VARIANTS

Face hidden

The clone pilot of the 2010 ARC-170 Starfighter (set 7259) wears the same plain helmet as the earlier pilot in V-Wing Fighter (set 6205) from 2006.

Shuttle pilot

This clone pilot is Emperor Palpatine's Shuttle (set 8096). His torso and legs are the same as Captain Jag's minifigure (p.140).

Helmet is marked with red and yellow Republic symbols

The clone pilot is trained to fly the super-fast Republic and Jedi starships. His minifigure's uniform includes a jumpsuit, an armored torso with specialist equipment, and a high-tech helmet with communications system. This gray-suited clone pilot is unique to the V-Wing Starfighter (set 75039).

Helmet contains an air filtration system

This is the only clone pilot wearing a gray flight jumpsuit

Life-support pack integrated to uniform. Back of torso also printed

White airtight flight gloves

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75039
 V-Wing Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Clone Pilot
 FEARLESS FLIER

More than 20 astromech droid minifigures help out with starship navigation and repair in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. Most of these dependable droids work on the side of the Republic, but there are a few spies in the mix, too. All astromech minifigures have the same LEGO Technic leg pieces, but their head pieces and torsos have printed details in various shapes and colors.

DATA FILE

NAME: R7-D4
YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8093
 Plo Koon's Jedi Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Photoreceptor searches for Grievous's

Green paneling to match Saesee Tiin's starfighter

Plo Koon's droid R7-D4 is the only brown astromech minifigure

DATA FILE

NAME: R3-D5
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9498
 Saesee Tiin's Jedi Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

R3-D5's unique minifigure is the only astromech with green leg pieces

One of only three astromech droids to have green paneling details

Only five astromech minifigures have a truncated cone head piece—one is R5-D4 (p.169)

DATA FILE

NAME: R5-D8
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9493
 X-Wing Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

R5-D8 fits into the droid socket on Jek Porkins's X-wing

DATA FILE

NAME: R4-P44
YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8088
 ARC-170 Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

R4-P44 plugs into a droid socket on board Kit Fisto's ARC-170 Starfighter

Astromech Droids

STARSHIP NAVIGATORS

DATA FILE

NAME: R5-F7
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9495
 Y-Wing Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

R5-series cone-shaped head piece

R5-J2 has the same torso piece as R2-Q5, his fellow Death Star astromech

R5-F7 has almost identical markings to R5-D8—but in yellow

Polarity
 sink

Unique head and torso pieces printed with the standard astromech panels and devices

DATA FILE

NAME: Blue
 astromech
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75051
 Jedi Scout Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

This unnamed
 minifigure is the only astromech droid with dark blue leg pieces

DATA FILE

NAME: R5-J2
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9492
 TIE Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

This unnamed
 astromech has a similar head piece to R4-P17, but in a brighter red color

DATA FILE

NAME: Red astromech
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75039
 V-Wing Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Red and white paneling matches the V-wing
 starfighter
 he navigates

Astromech Droids

STARSHIP NAVIGATORS

Look out for this deadly LEGO buzz droid! Unleashed by the Separatists, this droid attaches itself to enemy starships with its legs and then destroys them with a powerful circular saw. Two equally deadly variants of the minifigure have wreaked havoc in five LEGO sets.

STAR VARIANT

Triple whammy

The original buzz droid stands on two mechanical legs. It appears in three LEGO Star Wars sets: Droid Tri-Fighter (set 7252) and Ultimate Space Battle (set 7283) from 2005, and Ahsoka's Starfighter and Droids from 2009 (set 7751).

Shock-absorbing outer hull is unique to the 2014 buzz droid and has different printing to the earlier variant

Circular saw

The original buzz droid (2005–09) is the only LEGO minifigure to incorporate the circular blade saw piece. The piece is mostly used by minifigures as a tool in LEGO Star Wars and other themes.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75041

Vulture Droid

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 16

ACCESSORIES: No

Twin "saw" for buzzing through starship hulls

Buzz droids have primary and secondary photoreceptors for homing in on targets

The four legs are standard gray and black antenna pieces

Buzz Droid

DEADLY DROID

STAR VARIANT

Plain evil

There are two all-white Grievous minifigures. One wears a cape in the 2005 set General Grievous Chase (set 7255). The 2007 variant has no cape as he flies his starfighter (set 7656).

Grievous's rotting red and yellow eyes are printed on his head piece. The earlier variant has no face printing

Grievous's four arms have hinged joints so they can be positioned in many ways

Grievous collects the lightsabers of his Jedi victims

Legs, torso, and head are all new and exclusive pieces

This vicious cyborg might look like a LEGO droid, but don't tell him that! He will react savagely, as his many victims will attest. General Grievous is Supreme Commander of the Droid Armies. His minifigure has four lightsabers—two blue and two green—to fill his four arms, making him more than a match for any Jedi!

General Grievous

CLONE WARS CYBORG

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
 FIRST SET: 75040
 General Grievous
 Wheel Bike
 NO. OF SETS: 1
 PIECES: 8
 ACCESSORIES: 4
 lightsabers, electrostaff

Chancellor Palpatine

KIDNAPPED LEADER

Chancellor Palpatine's treachery knows no bounds, as his minifigure fakes its own kidnapping! Dressed in all-new silver-gray robes of office, Palpatine is held captive by General Grievous and Count Dooku in one LEGO set. His handcuffs make the deceit all the more convincing.

Droid Tri-Fighter (set 75044)
A speedy tri-wing starship provides the perfect getaway vehicle to whisk the "kidnapped" Palpatine away from the Jedi. With him are two battle droids and a buzz droid (p.126).

Poker face
Palpatine's double-sided head piece includes a sly expression, useful for the Chancellor has to a worried about his fake abduction.

Same white hair piece as Count Dooku from set 75017

No Sith in sight
Although Palpatine's head piece is not exactly friendly, this is his only minifigure to come without a full-Sith expression on at least one side of his head piece.

Plain robes help present the image of a defenseless captive

Lined face shows evil, goading expression

Printed details continue on the back of the torso

Textured robe pattern continues on hip piece and legs

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75044
 Droid Tri-fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Handcuffs

STAR VARIANT

Lighter lightsaber

This Kit Fisto flies with Obi-Wan in the 2007 Jedi Starfighter with Hyperdrive Booster Ring (set 7661) and also stars in two other sets. His lightsaber is slightly lighter than the later variant's—fluorescent green instead of bright green.

Kit is a Nautolan. He has green skin, big, black eyes, and head tentacles

Kit Fisto is a green-skinned Jedi Master. The long tentacles that grow from his head sense emotions in the people around him. As a respected Jedi General, Kit fights alongside other Jedi Knights and leads troops into battle in four LEGO sets. The caped variant appears only in Palpatine's Arrest (set 9526).

Kit uses his ability to sense emotions to gain an advantage in battle: he can tell who is scared!

Head
Back of Kit's head piece says more sensory tentacles.

Kit Fisto has this robe with brown-gray Jedi robes silver belt

Kit Fisto has this robe with brown-gray Jedi robes silver belt

Head of rubber

Kit Fisto is one of three LEGO Star Wars minifigures to feature a head made from rubber instead of ABS plastic. The others are Yoda (p.21) and Plo Koon (p.55). The rubber is easier to cast and can capture more detail.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9526

Palpatine's Arrest

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber

Kit Fisto
JEDI GENERAL

Jedi Master Agen Kolar, released in 2012, is the second Zabrak Jedi to appear as a minifigure. He comes in just one set, along with three other Jedi Masters who try to arrest Palpatine in the Chancellor's office. Unfortunately, despite his fierce appearance and personality, Agen Kolar's minifigure doesn't survive the encounter.

Palpatine's Arrest (set 9526)

Decisive and fearless, Agen Kolar is the first Jedi to go up against Palpatine. Unfortunately, even Agen's lightsaber abilities are no match for Palpatine's Sith skills.

Zabrak horns

Same hair piece as fellow Zabrak Jedi Eeth Koth (p.102). Printed details are unique to Agen Kolar

Black hair is part of Zabrak hair piece. A third braid trails down Agen's back

Traditional Jedi robes in unique pattern

Black Zabrak tattoos continue on head piece

Agen known for his lightsaber skills

Caped crusaders

Nine other Jedi wear capes: Obi-Wan Kenobi, Qui-Gon Jinn, Mace Windu, Anakin Skywalker, Kit Fisto, Saesee Tiin, Shaak Ti, Luke Skywalker, and the enigmatic Jedi Bob.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9526

Palpatine's Arrest

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber

Agen Kolar

ZABRAK JEDI MASTER

AT-AP (set 75043)

Tarfful is the Wookiee chief and an experienced fighter. At the Battle of Kashyyyk, Tarfful and Clone Commander Gree leap into a AT-AP walker, ready to lead their forces.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET:
 75043 AT-AP
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Rifle

Chest plate decorated with ornate Wookiee symbols

Kashyyyk long-gun fires almost unstoppable short-range ballistics

Braided braids

Tarfful's hair is braided with silver beads. Symbols of his standing in the tribe, the silver bead commemorates his act of courage.

Elaborate shoulder armor denotes rank

Fur-covered legs

The third LEGO Wookiee to be released, Chief Tarfful was also the most elaborate so far. The Wookiee chieftain stands tall in his LEGO Wookiee head piece, which covers his plain brown torso with textured fur and detailed battle armor. This brave minifigure leads his fellow Wookiees into battle against the Separatists in just one LEGO set.

Chief Tarfful

WOOKIEE LEADER

Wookiee Warrior

DEFENDER OF KASHYYYK

You don't want to anger a Wookiee! Although often peaceful and placid, these creatures can become ferocious when attacked. This proud Wookiee warrior minifigure springs to the defense of his homeworld when the Separatists invade Kashyyyk in two 2005 LEGO sets.

Round the back
The reverse side of the warrior's torso repeats the silver and gold bandolier molding, but it is cut short by the back of the helmet.

The Wookiee warrior minifigure comes with this LEGO spear in the Wookiee Catamaran (set 7260)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010

FIRST SET: 7258
Wookiee Attack

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Spear

Gold-decorated helmet molded as part of head

Wookiee Attack (set 7258)
Two Wookiee warriors are needed to operate this ornithopter: one pilot and one gunner. A classic example of Wookiee technology, the ornithopter flies into action against an invading dwarf spider droid and amphibious tank during the Battle of Kashyyyk in this set.

This minifigure could be based on Tarful as he also wears a crossed bandolier

Emblem indicates clan identity of warrior

STAR VARIANTS

Original Wookiee

The first Chewbacca minifigure is made from the same pieces as the second variant, but they are all colored brown instead of reddish brown. The minifigure appears in three 2000–2001 sets.

Lucky for some

The second Chewie minifigure appears in 13 sets, from the 2004 Millennium Falcon (set 4504) to the 2013 Wookie Village (set 50236). The only printing of the head and body piece is for the nose and bandolier.

Comic-Con exclusive

In 2009, a handcuffed brown Chewbacca minifigure appeared in a collectible display set made exclusively for San Diego's Comic-Con, with Luke Skywalker and Han Solo minifigures in stormtrooper disguise (pp.184–185).

Unique printed, molded head

The head and textured body are made from a single piece that fits over a standard dark-brown minifigure torso

Wookiee Chewbacca is a brave fighter and long-time companion of Han Solo. And just as Chewie towers over his friend in the Star Wars movies, his LEGO minifigure is notably taller than average.

Chewbacca appears in 17 LEGO sets, ever ready to protect his home planet of Kashyyyk from invasion, or to fight alongside his rebel friends.

Bandolier contains energy bolts for the Wookiee bowcaster

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75042
ROID GUNSHIP.
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 bowcaster

LEGO crossbow piece put to use as the distinctive Wookiee bowcaster

Legs printed with fur are unique to this Chewbacca minifigure

Chewbacca

WOOKIEE HERO

These minifigures carry out specialist missions for the Republic in several LEGO sets. Many of these troopers have unique markings, such as the orange flashes on the armor of the 212th Battalion and the special camouflage pattern of Kashyyyk troopers. They may also carry equipment that is crucial for their specific missions.

DATA FILE

NAME: 212th Battalion trooper
SPECIALTY: Ground attacks
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75036 Utupau Troopers
NO. OF SETS: 4
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Orange markings of 212th Battalion trooper

Scratch on armor

Only a few clone trooper minifigures have printing on legs

Helmet exclusive to Star Corps trooper

Pauldron in battalion colors

Undersuit visible below helmet

DATA FILE

NAME: Star Corps trooper
SPECIALTY: Ground attacks
YEAR: 2005
FIRST SET: 7261 Clone Turbo Tank
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Battle gear

The Star Corps trooper is included in two sets between 2005 and 2007. In the 2007 Clone Troopers Battle Pack (set 7655), he appears without his pauldron.

Clone Troopers

SPECIALIST UNITS

Helmet incorporates visor and mask

Blaster fires round blue plate at droid enemies

Pockets for ammo and supplies

Waterproof boots

Camouflage pattern exclusive to 41st Elite Corp

Green visor assists vision in deep forest

Sleeves are also armored

Camouflage boots have high traction soles for unsteady ground

STAR VARIANT

Kashyyyk helmet

This Episode III Kashyyyk trooper from 2005 wears an earlier style of helmet in sand green. The same helmet, in white, has been worn by Scout Trooper variants since 1999.

DATA FILE

NAME: 41st Elite Corps trooper

SPECIALTY:

Advanced combat

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75035 Kashyyyk Troopers

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Camo Corps

Kashyyyk Troopers (set 75035) includes two minifigures from the 41st Elite Corps. They share the same grimacing head, which has appeared on 20 minifigures, including a TIE fighter pilot in 2014.

DATA FILE

NAME: 41st Kashyyyk clone trooper

SPECIALTY:

Camouflage

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75035 Kashyyyk Troopers

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Clone Troopers CLONE SPECIALISTS

These clone trooper minifigures are highly trained combat specialists. They are the elite forces that carry out vital and dangerous missions for the Grand Army of the Republic, and are seen in only a select few LEGO sets. Each clone trooper specialist wears Phase II LEGO armor with distinguishing colors or equipment.

DATA FILE

NAME: Airborne clone trooper
SPECIALTY: Aerial assaults
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75036 Utupau Troopers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Audio pick-up for specialist communications

Green markings distinguish this minifigure as part of the 42nd Siege Battalion

Black body glove under white armor

Orange stripes show the trooper comes from the 212th Battalion.

Scuff marks on helmet

Unique to printing v ammo str continues the back

A clone ar skirt wrap around the paratrooper hips

DATA FILE

NAME: Siege Battalion trooper
SPECIALTY: Ambushing enemy fortifications
YEAR: 2005
FIRST SET: 7260 Wookiee Catamaran
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Dark visor

Like ordinary clone troopers (p.134), each of these specialized clone troopers has a plain black head, which can be seen through the open visor of his helmet so that the visor appears black.

DATA FILE

NAME: Aerial trooper

SPECIALTY: High-altitude drops

YEAR: 2005

FIRST SET: 7261 Clone

Turbo Tank

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 16

ACCESSORIES: Sniper rifle

Jetpack warhead missiles

The aerial trooper is the only minifigure to utilize this black flag LEGO piece

Connected to the trooper at the neck, the jetpack is made out of 12 pieces, including the two black wing pieces. The gray missiles are made from LEGO harpoon pieces

Clone trooper helmet with dark-red and black markings

Super-size sniper rifle

Robotic transport

The recon trooper belongs to the 91st Reconnaissance Corps. He goes on scouting missions in his lightly-armored AT-RT walker, a smaller version of the AT-ST.

Recon trooper emblem identifies unit

Blaster is a LEGO loudhailer with a translucent light-blue round plate

DATA FILE

NAME: Recon trooper

SPECIALTY:

Reconnaissance missions

YEAR: 2005

FIRST SET: 7250 Clone

Scout Walker

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Clone Troopers

CLONE SPECIALISTS

When the Supreme Chancellor of the Republic is exposed as the Sith Lord Darth Sidious, a Jedi task force is sent to arrest him! Palpatine prepares for the coming conflict by retrieving his gold-hilted Sith lightsaber from its hiding place in his office.

Sith lightning

During his "arrest" (set 9526), Palpatine uses deadly Sith lightning to defeat Mace Windu, the last of his Jedi attackers. During this battle, the Chancellor's face takes on its full Sith appearance.

Scary swap

The expression on the reverse of Palpatine's head piece is nothing short of terrifying! The yellow Sith eyes and heavily wrinkled brow reveal the Chancellor's true identity.

Trim pattern continues round the back of torso

Torso is a similar design to Palpatine's 2009 minifigure, but with more detail

Palpatine wears his red chancellor's robes. But he does not need to hide his Sith identity any more

Same hair piece as the other Chancellor Palpatine minifigure (p.74)

At first, Palpatine looks worried to have been exposed as a Sith

Palpatine reveals his ornate Sith lightsaber, the first time

Gold lightsaber hilt is unique to Palpatine in LEGO Star Wars theme

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9526

Palpatine's Arrest

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber, Force lightning

Chancellor Palpatine

EXPOSED SITH LORD

STAR VARIANTS

First emperor

The original Emperor Palpatine minifigure has different torso printing, yellow hands, and yellow face with smaller (but no less terrifying!) eyes. He walks with a cane and appears in three 2000–2002 sets.

Imperial inspector

The 2005 Emperor Palpatine is kept busy inspecting Darth Vader's troops. He has the same torso and legs as the first variant, but his hands and head are gray.

Horrible head

This scary variant has a unique tan face. It is exclusive to the DK book LEGO Star Wars: The Dark Side, published in 2014.

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Sith Lord Emperor Palpatine is the self-appointed ruler of the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. His minifigure dresses in simple black robes, and three variants carry a cane to make him look weak, but don't be fooled! This is a man of terrible power who has made his presence felt in seven LEGO sets.

Hologram

The Imperial Star Destroyer (set 6211) features Emperor Palpatine's minifigure as a hologram. His printed image appears on a sticker attached to a transparent-blue LEGO brick.

A 2008 revamp gave Palpatine's gray face more wrinkles, and bigger yellow eyes.

Lightning strike

Emperor Palpatine's red-bladed lightsaber is not his only powerful weapon. The minifigure lashes out at Luke Skywalker with deadly Force lightning on the LEGO Death Star (set 10188)!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 10188

Death Star

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: None

Emperor Palpatine
DARK DICTATOR

Clone Captain Jag is a soldier and pilot during the Clone Wars. His minifigure appears in only one set, ARC-170 Starfighter (set 8088) from 2010. He wears a blue jumpsuit and a life-support pack, common to pilot minifigures. His helmet has a unique design that only appears in this LEGO Star Wars set.

The blue pattern design on Jag's open-fronted helmet piece is exclusive to his minifigure

Clone pilots

Most generic clone pilots have a closed helmet or a white face mask (p.123). Two exceptions are the pilot who sits alongside Captain Jag (left) in the ARC-170 Starfighter (set 8088) and the 2015 Clone Pilot (right) who flies the ARC-170 Starfighter (set 75072).

Helmet contains a life-support system because most starfighters do not have one on board

Jag sometimes carries a blaster

Orange visor helps with visibility when flying in bright light

Air supply hose

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8088
 ARC-170 Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Jag's sand-blue legs also appear on Princess Leia in her original Endor guise (p.250)

Captain Jag

CLONE PILOT

LEGO conquistador hat is not used anywhere else in the LEGO Star Wars theme

Vulture Droid (set 75041)

Vulture droids do not require a pilot. However, the Separatist army deploys Neimoidian warriors in situations where a sentient operative is desirable.

Neimoidians

The Neimoidian warrior's printed facial details are similar to his fellow LEGO Neimoidian, Nute Gunray, Viceroy of the Trade Federation (p.78).

Sturdy armor comprised of overlapping pieces of metal

Unique head piece shows leathery Neimoidian skin and blank, unintelligent eyes

Utility belt printing continues on hip piece

Ridged panels of Neimoidian armor protect legs as well

This warrior is the second Neimoidian minifigure to be released. An ally of the Separatists, he takes part in the Battle of Coruscant in just one LEGO set. His minifigure is dressed for war in traditional bronze Neimoidian armor, based on the beetle-like design worn by the ancient Neimoidian royal guard.

Neimoidian Warrior

SEPARATIST SOLDIER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75041
Vulture Droid
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Rifle

Anakin Skywalker

FALLEN JEDI

Emotionally, Anakin Skywalker has succumbed to the dark side.

Now his physical transformation is almost complete, too. A charred and scarred Anakin minifigure comes aboard Emperor Palpatine's Shuttle (set 8096) for his journey to Coruscant for surgery.

Anakin's red Sith lightsaber has already committed atrocities against the Jedi

Same helmet piece is used for all Darth Vader minifigures (p.145)

Anakin's remaining flesh-colored arm is a vestige of his past humanity; his black arm hints at Anakin's future as a Sith Lord

Burnt remnants of Anakin's Jedi robes

STAR VARIANT

Before surgery

Anakin's first injured minifigure, from Darth Vader Transformation (set 7251), shows him before his operation. The set also contains the "after" minifigure; Vader in his trademark armor.

Bared teeth

Under his protective helmet, Vader's harrowed, hairless face reveals the pain and rage of the dark side.

Scarred Sith

Anakin has injuries on the front and back of his torso. The LEGO piece was made specifically for the battle-scarred minifigure.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8096
 Emperor Palpatine's Shuttle
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Hoth Echo Base (set 7879)

Many years after assisting at Anakin's medical transformation into Darth Vader, 2-1B treats Vader's son, Luke, at the Rebel headquarters on Hoth. Hoth Echo Base contains the second 2-1B minifigure; the blue variant from 2011.

STAR VARIANT

Vader's aide

In Emperor Palpatine's Shuttle (set 8096), the first variant of the 2-1B minifigure assists an injured Anakin. It is pearlized dark gray with a bionic arm attachment.

This combined head-and-torso piece is gray on the earlier 2010 minifigure arm pieces are shared with battle droids (set 26) and classic LEGO skeletons

The grip of the droid's two arms are at right-angles to each other. This arm is positioned to handle medical equipment

Solid feet for stability aboard starships

Printed visual sensors

Vocoder unit for speaking

Auxiliary data input

Hydraulic systems give the robotic medic delicately controlled movements for precise and gentle surgery

Endowed with the knowledge of a doctor and the skill of a surgeon, medical droids like 2-1B are literal life-savers on the battlefield. 2-1B features in two LEGO Star Wars sets, each containing a different variant of the minifigure. Both variants have a unique combined head-and-torso piece.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7879

Hoth Echo Base

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

2-1B SURGICAL DROID

Medical droids are programmed to help anyone in need, and this multi-armed medic is responsible for bringing Darth Vader back from the brink of death. FX-6 saves the Sith's damaged body and encases it in the life-support uniform for which Vader becomes famous. This minifigure is exclusive to one LEGO set and is the only minifigure to incorporate the cone piece.

Darth Vader Transformation (set 7251)

On Coruscant, FX-6 toils away in secret. On one side of the revolving operating table is Anakin's injured minifigure. On the other is Vader, resplendent in his new shiny suit.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2005

FIRST SET: 7251

Darth Vader Transformation

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 1

ACCESSORIES: Tools

Data bank provides robot with medical knowledge

Toy Fair toy

FX-6 also appears in an exclusive VIP Gala edition of Darth Vader Transformation (set 7251), which was given out to guests at the 2005 LEGO International Toy Fair in New York.

Rotatable five-armed droid is an expert at multitasking

Classic tools from various other LEGO themes are used to repair Vader's body and forge his metal suit

Broad cone base gives droid stability during delicate surgical procedures

FX-6

MEDICAL ASSISTANT DROID

STAR VARIANTS

Light and Darth
Vader comes with a light-up lightsaber in the 2005 TIE Fighter (set 7263), and sports the original Vader torso design.

Celebration Sith
This exclusive Vader minifigure, with its unique medal torso print, came with the 2013 release of the LEGO Star Wars DVD, The Empire Strikes Out.

Darth Vader's iconic look is instantly recognizable in his LEGO minifigure form. Although there are 10 Vader variants—with differences in torso design, skin color, eye color, scar patterns, and even their capes—there is just one trademark helmet piece.

ta Vader
r wears a festive red to match his unique a-themed leg and o printing in the LEGO Star Advent dar.

r Vader variants n 1999 to 2008 ure the original o design. It was ated in 2008, again in 2010

New head

Most Vaders have gray or white head pieces under their helmet, but the 2014 variant's is tan colored.

Removable helmet piece is common to all Vader minifigures and was first molded in 1999

Welcome to Toy Fair

An anniversary-edition chrome-black Darth Vader minifigure was given out to lucky guests at the 2009 Toy Fair in New York in a special LEGO Collectors Event presentation box.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75055
Imperial Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES:
Lightsaber

Darth Vader
SITH LORD

Like other LEGO Star Wars TIE fighter pilots (p.192), the Rebels TIE pilot cuts a sinister but slightly anonymous figure in his black flight suit—just right for a fighter who is proud to put the Empire before his individual needs. This Rebels pilot debuts in the 2015 Tie Advanced Prototype (set 75082).

Last legs

The Rebels TIE pilot has plain black legs like most earlier pilots. Only the 2014 TIE pilot featured a printed leg piece—also used for that year's Imperial gunner, Imperial Navy, and Imperial crew.

Helmet mold used for TIE pilots since 2010

Grille has just three vents and a new, sharply downturned shape

Breathing tubes printing extends to back of torso

A small blaster is his only weapon due to tight space in TIE cockpit

Clear head

The printing on the Rebels TIE pilot's helmet is more detailed than many previous TIE pilots, with lenses and cheek pieces clearly defined in white.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75082 TIE Advanced Prototype
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

TIE Pilot

EMPIRE'S AIRBORNE ELITE

Pilot helmet and flying goggles partly cover Hera's lekku

Smiles?

Hera has a double-sided piece, with a neutral on one side and a wide grin on the other.

que face nt on ble-sided
d-piece

Twii'leks

Hera is the fourth Twii'lek LEGO minifigure released. The others are Bib Fortuna (p.220), Aayla Secura (p.222), and Jedi Knight Aayla Secura (p.94).

jumpsuit protective or are que tings

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75053

THE GHOST
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

This gutsy green Twii'lek is ready to make history! Hera Syndulla is one of the first minifigures in the new subtheme, LEGO Star Wars Rebels. Owner of the rebel starship the Ghost, she joins her rebel pals as they take on the evil Empire and travel the galaxy in pursuit of justice. Hera is exclusive to the 2014 LEGO set, the Ghost (set 75053).

Hera Syndulla

REBEL PILOT

Lekku

Twii'leks are sometimes nicknamed "tail heads" because of their lekku (brain tails). Hera's lekku feature a white tattoo design.

Hera conceals a secret blaster in her boot—just in case

C1-10P, otherwise known as Chopper, is a stubborn little astromech droid who keeps all systems running aboard rebel starship the Ghost. Built mostly from second-hand parts, Chopper's minifigure has a uniquely small stature—smaller even than other LEGO Star Wars astromechs—thanks to his new, short leg and torso pieces. He beeps at crew members and saves the day in two sets.

The Phantom and the Ghost

Chopper fits into the back of the Phantom attack shuttle, ready to guide rebel hero Zeb through battle. Chopper is always happy when the Phantom docks back safely to the larger starship, the Ghost.

DATA FILEYEAR: 2014FIRST SET: 75048*The PhantomNO. OF SETS: 2PIECES: 5ACCESSORIES: None

Head piece is the same mold as other R5 minifigures, but with unique coloring and details

C1-series

Chopper is unique in LEGO Star Wars—as the only C1-series astromech minifigure. C1 droids are very old models, which perhaps explains why Chopper is so fond of “old-fashioned” starship maintenance.

Mechanical arms can zap enemies with an electroshock

Articulated arms extend from side compartments in Chopper's head

Short astromech legs are new, small LEGO Technic pieces, created especially for Chopper

C1-10P

ECCENTRIC ASTROMECH

STAR VARIANT

Black hair

When Kanan's minifigure was first released in 2014, he had a black hair piece and printed black facial hair. His minifigure was later updated with brown hair to reflect Kanan's appearance on the TV show.

Molded hair piece was specially designed for Kanan's minifigure

Lightsaber no longer needs to be hidden

Printed shoulder protector on unique torso

A former Jedi Padawan,

Kanan Jarrus was forced into hiding following Order 66. Now he is a rebel leader and freedom fighter in two LEGO sets, the Ghost (set 75053) and Wookiee Gunship (75084). Kanan might be secretive about his Jedi past, but his minifigure's new ponytailed hair piece and bearded face show that he's not afraid to be unique.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75084

Wookiee Gunship

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber, blaster

Kanan Jarrus

JEDI IN HIDING

Blaster skills are enhanced by Kanan's Jedi training

Wookiee Gunship
(set 75084)

Kanan joins Wullffwarro and the Wookiees aboard their gunship. Equipped with front cannons, rapid-fire blasters, and a mobile gun post, Kanan and his crew are ready for battle!

The Rebels stormtrooper enforces the Empire's rule across the galaxy. His armor details are similar to those on the 2014 classic stormtrooper, but this minifigure has his own "cartoon" style, unique to the Rebels subtheme. Beneath the helmet, however, his grimacing head piece is the same all clone troopers since 2012.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75053
The Ghost
NO. OF SETS: 4
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Laser rifle

DLT-20A laser rifle

The perfect weapon for long-range accurate fire, many stormtroopers are equipped with this heavy but powerful blaster rifle.

Stormtroopers appeared in three 2015 sets with different weapons

Receiver for audio communication

Environment controls are useful for different planetary atmospheres

Knee protection plate for when assuming a sniper position

Unique asymmetrical printing on leg pieces

Stormtrooper

IMPERIAL WARRIOR

Skin-colored head with grimacing face

Hair piece in unique color scheme—blue with orange streaks out face

side of Sabine's head piece a concentrated expression when she is carefully timing her explosives. Turn head around and her battle head around and her battle head, with gritted teeth, comes in view.

Torso shows Mandalorian armor decorated with Sabine's own colorful designs are arms allow unrestricted movement

Twin blaster guns are easier to control than twin spraycans!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75090

Ezra's Speeder Bike

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Twin blasters

Tan legs have unique printing with chaps, gun belt, and graffiti on the knee pads

Sabine Wren

EXPLOSIVES EXPERT

A fierce alien rebel from the planet Lasan, Zeb wants to end Imperial rule once and for all, with good reason—the Empire wiped out most of his species. Zeb joins the crew of the Ghost (set 75053) as their straight-talking gunner. He cuts a striking figure among his rebel friends with his purple skin, yellow battle suit, and unique head piece with bright green eyes.

Military man

Zeb is the only one of his rebel crew with military training, having been a member of the Lasan Home Guard. He controls the Ghost's rotating gun turret and can't wait to launch an attack on the Empire!

AB-75 bo-rifle

Part-blaster, part electrostaff, Zeb's bo-rifle weapon is built from two LEGO blasters connected by a lightsaber hilt piece.

Zeb has more powerful legs than humans

Green eyes are a distinctive feature of the Lasat species

Goatee is a status symbol among the Lasats

Belt and neck plate design continue on back of torso

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75053
The Ghost
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Bo-rifle

Zeb

ALIEN ALLY

The Phantom (set 75048)

Ezra pilots the Phantom, a speedy attack shuttle that launches from the larger rebel ship, the Ghost. Ezra unfolds the wings and takes control of the two-way shooters. Stormtroopers, beware!

Helmet collector

Ezra has an unusual hobby: collecting Imperial helmets! His minifigure comes with a salvaged helmet in The Phantom (set 75048).

Lothal logo

The back of Ezra's torso is printed with a vintage logo—a remnant of Ezra's former life on the streets of Lothal.

Unique torso printed with pockets to hold Ezra's gadgets

Utility belt holds all sorts of gadgets

Knee pad and shin guard printed on leg pieces

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75048
The Phantom
NO OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
Customized
lightsaber

Ezra Bridger

YOUNG REBEL

A tan uniform instead of the usual gray gives the Imperial Officer a new look for the Rebels theme. What hasn't changed is his determination to serve the Empire. High-ranking soldiers like this do not usually enter the thick of battle, but this weary officer looks as if he has seen action in TIE Advanced Prototype (set 75082).

Imperial Assault Carrier (set 75106)

The Imperial officer commands this intimidating ship, deploying TIE fighters into battle in an effort to defeat the rebels.

Hat is a tan version of the gray one introduced in 2014 (p.181)

This is the ninth Imperial officer minifigure, but the first to carry a weapon

Bags under eyes show the rebels are causing the officer sleepless nights

Insignia shows the officer is a captain

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75106
 Imperial Assault Carrier
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Imperial Officer

HIGH-RANKING SOLDIER

AT-DP (set 75083)

AT-DPs are massive two-legged armored vehicles used by the Empire. Two minifigures are needed to operate the AT-DP—one to drive and one to act as gunner. Luckily, two of these minifigures can be found in this 2015 set.

The AT-DP driver pilots the massive, two-legged All Terrain Defense Pods used by the Empire to help defend its bases against rebels. As this vehicle is one of the more unstable walkers, the AT-DP driver wears reinforced armor to protect him should the walker stumble during battle.

Same helmet as the AT-ST driver (p.253), but with different printing

Unique torso is printed with an armored chestplate, worn over a standard pilot jumpsuit

Head piece is printed with specialized design

AT-DP drivers are armed and equipped with blasters

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75083
AT-DP
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

AT-DP Driver

ELITE COMBAT DRIVER

Agent Kallus

IMPERIAL ENFORCER

A high-ranking officer in the Imperial Security Bureau, Agent Kallus is ready to crush any sign of rebellion on the planet Lothal. He makes his LEGO debut in the Rebels AT-DP (set 75083), where he commands two AT-DP pilots and a stormtrooper.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75083
AT-DP
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Bo-rifle

Rifle made from two blasters connected by a black lightsaber hilt element

Rebel look

Like all the Rebels minifigures, Agent Kallus has a subtly different look from other LEGO Star Wars characters. This is because the designs are based on the stylized look of the Star Wars Rebels TV show.

Lightweight combat armor

Dark helmet

Designed for head-to-head combat and riot control situations, Kallus's unique helmet also hides some impressive details: sideburns and a second facial expression.

Helmet designed to scare people into obedience

Insignia denotes senior rank

Wookiee Gunship (set 75084)

Wullffwarro's sole LEGO appearance to date is in this 2015 set, which also features a unique Wookiee clan design on its wings, tail, and hull.

Flowing mane obscures traditional Wookiee armband on right arm

Flame-like facial markings unique to Wullffwarro's minifigure

Most Wookiee minifigures have brown hands, but Wullffwarro's are black

Wookiee bowcaster

Unique printing continues onto legs

Rescued from a life of slavery by the brave crew of the Ghost, this noble Wookiee has pledged to help the rebels in any way he can. He is a proud father, and a trusted leader among his fellow Wookiees, but to the Empire he is nothing more than a wild beast. In the Wookiee Gunship (set 75084), he teams up with two other Wookiees, plus Kanan Jarrus, to show the Empire his skills on the battlefield.

Wullffwarro

WOOKIEE REBEL

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75084
 Wookiee Gunship
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Bowcaster

This Wookiee warrior is furious at the Empire, which has enslaved most of the Wookiees of Kashyyyk. He joins forces with the rebels in an attempt to end the Empire's evil rule. Two of these imposing minifigures join their Wookiee leader Wullffwarro (p.157) and the Jedi Kanan Jarrus (p.149) aboard the Wookiee Gunship (set 75084).

Extra ammo

The Wookiee gunship is stocked with enough weapon to take down plenty of nasty Imperials! The Wookiee warrior ensures there are crates of back-up ammo on board before take-off.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75084

Wookiee Gunship

NO OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Rifle

Powerful pilot

A gunship needs a strong pilot. The Wookiee warrior has the strength and motivation to pilot the gunship—and the determination to continue the battle on the ground!

Long rifle, almost exclusively used by Wookiees

Rare arm printing depicts a traditional Wookiee armbar

Similar print details to Wullffwarro, but in a lighter color

Coarse Wookiee hair printing continues on legs

Advanced Prototype (75082)

This TIE Advanced Prototype, the Inquisitor has many advantages over rebel enemies. Unlike standard TIE fighters, this prototype has a hyperdrive and protective shields.

With fear, the Inquisitor is the only Pau'aman in the Star Wars universe, but that dampened his factor.

Double-bladed lightsaber is a unique piece.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
 SET: 75082 TIE Advanced Prototype
 OF SETS: 1
 PIECES: 4
 ACCESSORIES: Double-bladed lightsaber

Red visor reveals the intimidating, tattooed face underneath

Tasked to track down any remaining Jedi, the Inquisitor has carefully cultivated a fearsome reputation. He certainly looks the part, dressed in menacing black and gray armor, with an intimidating chestplate and helmet. Beneath the helmet, this minifigure's head piece is perhaps even more terrifying: pale, lined, and marked with tattoos. This is not a minifigure to be trifled with!

Unique chestplate with integrated helmet and Imperial insignia on the shoulders

Black armor details are printed across torso, hip, and leg pieces

The Inquisitor

JEDI HUNTER

Stormtrooper

IMPERIAL SOLDIER

Loyal to the Empire and highly disciplined, a stormtrooper is built to succeed in combat. Shielded in white armor, many of these nameless soldiers have blank heads beneath their helmets to ensure anonymity. Eight stormtrooper variants have appeared in 17 sets since 2001.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75055
 Imperial Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Heads up

Early variants of the stormtrooper minifigure have blank heads: the first ones were plain yellow, then light flesh, and then, in 2008, black. Stormtroopers with faces beneath their helmets appeared in 2012.

STAR VARIANTS

Original stormtrooper

This is the first stormtrooper minifigure, which has a plain yellow head. He appears in four sets—the first was the TIE Fighter (set 7146).

Armor detail

First released in a 2012 battle pack, this stormtrooper has detailed torso armor and plain legs. It also comes with DK LEGO Minifigure Year by Year: A Visual History, 20

Super trooper

This shiny chrome silver stormtrooper was released in a promotional polybag in 2010. It was sold exclusively at Toys "R" Us stores throughout March of that year.

Reinforced helmet with internal comlink

Dotted mouth grilles have been seen on stormtrooper sets from the 2000s onward

Utility belt with blaster power cell reserves

Unique printed legs

Printing continues on back of torso to show breathing equipment

STAR VARIANTS

True original

The original C-3PO (left) appears in five sets between 2001 and 2005 in light pearl-gold. Two variants in richer pearl-gold, one with pale hands, appears in five more sets from 2008 to 2010.

Torso redesign

In 2012, C-3PO's torso was updated and given more detailed printing to show his colorful wiring. His legs remained in gold.

Chrome gold

This limited-edition chrome gold C-3PO was randomly placed in 10,000 LEGO Star Wars sets to celebrate the 30th anniversary of Star Wars in 2007. The LEGO Group also made five of this minifigure in 14-carat gold.

C-3PO has one sensor—each side of his head

C-3PO's connection wires are exposed in his mid-body section

Protocol droids

C-3PO was the first LEGO protocol droid and the original head-mold was specially cast for him. The LEGO Group went on to use the mold for other protocol droids (pp.6-7), and the Death Star Droid (p.183).

Fretful C-3PO has found himself in 14 LEGO Star Wars sets since he was first released in 2001. The first LEGO Star Wars protocol droid, C-3PO now has six variants. All the ones up to 2012 have the same printing, but come in different tones of gold. Since 2012, C-3PO has new head and torso printing that shows his eyes, his colorful wires, an oil stain, and even the restraining bolt put on him by the Jawas.

Behind C-3PO

C-3PO's shiny gold armor continues on the back of his torso piece. You can also see his back plate and mid-body section.

Warm gold arms and hands identical to 2012 variant's

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75059 Sandcrawler
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

C-3PO PROTOCOL DROID

This cool-headed captain of the consular cruiser Tantive IV is on a covert mission for the Rebel Alliance—he must transport secret Death Star plans across the galaxy. When his ship is invaded by Darth Vader, brave Antilles refuses to betray the location of the plans. However, swiveling the minifigure's double-sided head reveals the fate of his own personal mission!

Tantive IV (set 10198)

Captain Raymus Antilles is exclusive to this 2009 set. He commands the Tantive IV from a central control room, where two monitors allow the minifigure to track the ship's progress.

Vader's victim

Darth Vader uses the dark side of the Force on poor Captain Antilles, which is why his alternative face looks so frightened!

Captain Antilles happily goes about his work for the Rebel Alliance

Rank badge with five blue dots shows this minifigure is a captain

Helmet strap with white chin guard printed on Captain Antilles's face

Torso with open utility jacket and gray undershirt is unique to this minifigure. The dark-tan shoulder panels of Captain Antilles's jacket continue on the back of his torso

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 10198

Tantive IV

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: None

Captain Antilles

ILL-FATED CAPTAIN

STAR VARIANT

First trooper

The original rebel scout trooper is near-identical to the second, but he is not smiling. He appears with several comrades in Rebel Scout Speeder (set 7668) and onboard Tantive IV (set 10198).

Removable blast visor clips into holes at the sides of the helmet

Rebel helmet

This white blast helmet has an extended neck guard and was specially designed for this minifigure.

Only the Rebel scout trooper and Captain Antilles (opposite) wear this blast helmet

Although the rebel scout trooper wears the standard-issue Rebel Army uniform of a sand-blue shirt and black combat vest, the torso is seen only on this minifigure

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9509 LEGO

Star Wars Advent

Calendar 2012

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

This rebel trooper is ready to fight for the Alliance! His minifigure comes well equipped for battle in his custom-made blast helmet, wielding plenty of firepower. The rebel scout trooper has starred in just four sets—his smiling variant appeared in the 2012 advent calendar (set 9509) and Tantive IV and Alderaan (set 75011).

Rebel Scout Trooper, SOLDIER OF THE REBEL ARMY

Rebel troopers carry blaster guns like this as well as long blaster rifles

As a member of the Galactic Senate and secret sympathizer with the Rebel Alliance, Princess Leia Organa is a symbol of hope across the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. She dresses in the traditional white robes of the Alderaan royal family. Only one variant wears a cape—the ceremonial minifigure that is exclusive to the 2012 Gold Leader's Y-Wing Starfighter (set 9495).

Double-sided head was borrowed from Princess Tamina in LEGO® Prince of Persia

Leia is dressed up for an awards ceremony, where she will present pilot Dutch Vander with a medal

Leia probably stole this blaster from Imperial forces!

STAR VARIANTS

Original Leia

A yellow-faced Leia flew into the LEGO Star Wars galaxy on the original Millennium Falcon (set 7190). A similar Leia with flesh-colored head and hands stars in four sets from 2007 to 2010.

Updated Leia

The Princess Leia minifigure was updated for the 2011 Millennium Falcon (set 7965). Her torso piece was given light bluish-gray printing.

Serious side

First made in 2011, this double-sided Princess Leia head piece now features in six LEGO Star Wars sets.

Symbolic silver belt of Alderaan royalty

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9495 Gold Leader's Y-wing Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:
Blaster

Princess Leia

SENATOR OF ALDERAAN

STAR VARIANTS

First Luke

The young Luke variant with short tan hair and a yellow face and hands appears in three LEGO sets from 1999 to 2004. He also appears in LEGO Star Wars: The Visual Dictionary (2014) with updated printing.

Long locks

The Ultimate Collector's Millennium Falcon (set 10179) comes with Luke with feminine hair. There is a similar variant—but with white eye details—on Luke's speeder (set 8092).

Mop head

The other side of the 2011 Luke's head has a printed blindfold for when he practices with his lightsaber. The same mop of hair appears on the smiling Luke given away at New York Comic-Con 2012.

Luke keeps farm tools in his brown utility belt pouch

Visual treat

The revised edition of DK's LEGO Star Wars: Visual Dictionary (2014) came with a Luke minifigure. An updated version of the first Luke minifigure, he had more creases printed on his shirt.

Luke Skywalker is a poor farmboy who dreams of becoming a space pilot. He longs to escape the daily drudgery of life on his uncle's moisture farm. When he meets exiled Jedi Obi-Wan Kenobi, Luke's life changes forever and he finally has something to smile about. This smiling Luke appears in only three LEGO Star Wars sets.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET:

75059 Sandcrawler

NO. OF SETS: 3

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster

Luke wore standard long female LEGO hair from 2007 until this hair was created for his 2011 redesign

Unique leg piece has printed bindings to keep out the desert sand

Luke Skywalker

FARMBOY OF TATOOINE

This T-16 Skyhopper pilot is a mysterious minifigure in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. He is found in only two LEGO sets, and the visor obscuring his face makes him difficult to identify. What we do know is that this pilot is an ace at racing around the narrow ravines of Tatooine in his T-16 skyhopper!

T-16 Skyhopper (set 75081)

In an update of the 2003 T-16 Skyhopper (set 4477), this speedy ship retains its sleek shape. However, the Skyhopper pilot must now outwit a Tusken Raider minifigure, and has a womp rat to use as target practice.

Gray flight gloves

Luke Skyhopper?

Luke Skywalker flies a T-16 Skyhopper as a teenager, even though his Uncle Owen disapproves of it. Both the 2003 and 2015 sets featuring the pilot bear Luke's distinctive flying decal—a hint that might give him away!

STAR VARIANT

Mystery pilot

The pilot's helmet hides much of his face, but that distinctive chin dimple looks familiar! Could it be Luke Skywalker in this unique, red jumpsuit torso piece?

Pilots often have insignia on their helmets, but these mysterious markings give no clue to this minifigure's identity.

Double-sided tan head piece has a cheery smile on the reverse.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75081

T-16 Skyhopper

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

The pilot's torso printing echoes the jumpsuit design of the earlier variant, but now has a trusty safety harness!

Skyhopper Pilot

MYSTERIOUS MINIFIGURE

Sandcrawler (set 75059)

Owen Lars visits this 2014 update of the Sandcrawler with his nephew Luke. It includes R2-D2, C-3PO, and six other droid minifigures—which will Lars buy to work on his farm?

STAR VARIANT

Gray Lars

The original Owen Lars came with the first version of the Jawa's Sandcrawler (set 10144). He has gray printed eyebrows, gray stubble, and a gray printed tunic.

Uncle Owen's unique head has many wrinkles and a stubble beard

This LEGO torso was specially made for Owen Lars. He wears a rough desert robe over a tan tunic and a brown undershirt

Farm fashion

Uncle Owen's short steel-gray LEGO hair is a new piece for 2014. Owen shares it with just one other LEGO Star Wars minifigure—General Airen Cracken, who flies into battle on the B-Wing (set 75050).

Brown utility belt for farming tools

Poor moisture farmer Owen Lars is the uncle and guardian of Luke Skywalker. There are just two variants of his minifigure, while his loyal wife, Beru, is yet to be seen in LEGO form. When Jawas pass by his remote farm in their Sandcrawler (set 75059), Uncle Owen takes a look at the beat-up droids they are selling cheap—he could do with some help around the farm!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75059

Sandcrawler

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Owen Lars
MOISTURE FARMER

Jawa

DESERT SCAVENGER

Indigenous to the desert planet Tatooine, this Jawa minifigure is a small, industrious creature, always on the lookout for items it can scavenge and sell on. Its humanoid shape is reflected in a standard minifigure form, though it has short, unposeable legs and a mysterious face. Fortunately, the LEGO plastic doesn't recreate the Jawa's distinctive body odor.

Beneath the hood
Jawas rarely venture out from under their heavy cloaks so their faces are largely unknown. The minifigure has a simple head pattern: plain black with striking glowing eyes.

Bandolier for ionization charges

Ion blaster

Heavy Jedi hood is more matte than the hood of the original Jawa minifigure, and eyes are bigger and more yellow

Sandcrawler (set 75059)

In this set, unwary droids need to watch out for the four Jawas on the prowl for scrap metal to sell. Both the 2014 Jawa variants are exclusive to this set. There is even a utility vehicle for when the Jawas venture into the desert.

STAR VARIANT

Original Jawa

This caped Jawa comes with the original Sandcrawler (set 10144). He wears a brown cloth cape and a reddish-brown Jedi hood piece.

Different torso

Two Jawa variants come with the 2014 Sandcrawler. They share the same Jedi hood, but have different torso printing and different ion blasters.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75059 Sandcrawler
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Ion blaster

STAR VARIANTS

Red droid

This minifigure, called "astromech droid" on LEGO packaging, appears in seven sets. It shares the same body as R5-D4's 2005 variant, but has a red-and-silver domed head. A different dome pattern appears on a 2007 variant in Y-Wing Fighter (set 7658).

One of a kind

This rare 2005 variant of R5-D4 comes with the first Sandcrawler (set 10144). It has a plain white domed head and is the only droid with a tan-colored disc between the head and the torso.

LEGO adaptation

Reproducing the world of Star Wars in LEGO bricks can require some adaptation. The first R5-D4 minifigures share the same dome-shaped head piece as R2-series minifigures. The latest version has a more funnel-shaped head.

Robotic leg pieces are unique to astromech droid minifigures

Spacecraft linkage arms

Polarity sink

R5-series astromech droids were originally conceived as a lower-cost, lower-functionality version of the R2 series. However, there is nothing lacking about this minifigure, which comes in three variants. The droid fulfills its piloting function in ten LEGO sets and, in Sandcrawler (set 75059), R5-D4 is sold by Jawas on Tatooine.

Specially printed central torso piece is unique to this latest variant of R5-D4

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9493

X-Wing Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Head shape is unique to this R5-D4 variant

System ventilation

Heat exhaust

Recharge power coupling

R5-D4 RED ASTROMECH DROID

Droids are programmed to perform specific tasks to assist the LEGO Star Wars minifigures. Each has a different role, whether it be as a cleaner, medic, interpreter, or mechanic. There is one thing these trusty droids all have in common though—they are always ready to help.

DATA FILE

NAME: R1-G4
ROLE: Starship technician
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75059 Sandcrawler
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 18
ACCESSORIES: None

This dark steel gray piece is also used at the joints on the AT-AT Walker (set 8129)

Antenna is a LEGO lever piece

STAR VARIANT

R1-G4
 The original R1-G4 came in the first Sandcrawler (set 10144) in 2005. A lighter, brighter green than the 2014 R-series droid; it had a rounded dome top.

Scrap droids

R1-G4, the GNK droid, and the treadwell droid are all scrap droids that have been salvaged by Jawa minifigures (p.168). The droids are offered for sale at the Lars's Tatooine homestead in the Sandcrawler (sets 10144 and 75059).

STAR VARIANTS

Generator on legs

This original gonk droid (as GNK droids are often called) from the Sandcrawler (set 10144) is light bluish gray (left). The variant in Jabba's Palace (set 4480) is identical, but dark gray.

Festive gonk

The 2012 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar comes with a unique gonk droid variant. Instead of having printing, it is made up from seven pieces in light and dark gray.

Rudimentary printed control panel is unique to this droid

DATA FILE

NAME: GNK droid
ROLE: Power generator
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75059 Sandcrawler
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 17

A GNK droid walks on two legs

A lighter-colored mouse droid was released in the 2011 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar

Gray plate piece has a ring clip to attach the wheels

DATA FILE

NAME: Mouse droid
ROLE: Imperial messenger
YEAR: 2006
FIRST SET: 6211 Imperial Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 3
PIECES: 9

Imperial droids

The sneaky mouse droid is used by Imperial forces in LEGO sets. On the Death Star (set 0188), the droid operating room wall even has a special mouse hole for the mouse droid to pass secret Imperial messages through undetected.

STAR VARIANT

First treadwell

This 2005 treadwell droid is made using 18 pieces. With its four mechanical arms, it can perform a range of general maintenance tasks.

Dark steel binoculars piece was first made for the Rebel Snowspeeder (set 10129)

DATA FILE

NAME: Treadwell droid
ROLE: Repairs
YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75059 Sandcrawler
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 21

A multitude of manipulator arms perform maintenance tasks. The same arm pieces are seen on the pilot droid (p.51), General Grievous (p.127), and elite assassin droid (p.80) minifigures

The treadwell droid gets its name from its low, treaded base

MECHANICAL HELPERS

Droids

Found in the midst of all manner of secret missions, the LEGO Star Wars galaxy is home to more than 70 droid minifigures. Unfortunately, some of them have been programmed to use their advanced technology for sinister means. Beware! These droids may be reporting back to masters intent on causing trouble.

Dark Side Droids

DASTARDLY DEVICES

DATA FILE

NAME: Interrogation droid
ROLE: Prisoner coercion
YEAR: 2008
FIRST SET: 10188 Death Star
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 9

Processor gauges subject's response

LEGO screwdriver piece provides a probing arm

DATA FILE

NAME: Droid brain
ROLE: Ship operations
YEAR: 2004
FIRST SET: 10131 TIE Fighter Collection
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3

Brain fits into automated TIE command pod

Processor not as fast as human brain

DATA FILE

NAME: Dark eye probe droid
ROLE: Reconnaissance
YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: COMCON019-1 Mini. Darth Maul's Sith Infiltrator
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 10

Photoreceptor

Probe hovers off the ground on a translucent LEGO stand

STAR VARIANT

Prototype probe

The first variant of the Dark Eye probe droid consisted of just a black minifigure head and a lever. It came with Darth Maul's Sith Infiltrator (set 7961) in 2011.

DATA FILE

NAME: Imperial probe droid
ROLE: Reconnaissance
YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75014
 Battle of Hoth
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 25

Communications antenna

Small in size but highly sensitive

Sensor eyes survey large areas. This one has lit up—perhaps it has detected something!

DATA FILE

NAME: Sentry droid
ROLE: Surveillance
YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8092
 Luke's Landspeeder
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 8

High-frequency transmission antenna is a small LEGO lever piece also seen on the destroyer droid (p. 27), and the sentry droid

Holocamera

Manipulator arms gather samples

Floating foe

The Imperial probe droid floats above the ground on repulsor lift engines in the Star Wars movies. Its LEGO counterpart is raised on a translucent-and-white stand so it looks to be hovering over the snowy ground of Hoth.

STAR VARIANT

Armed but unarmed

An earlier variant of the Imperial probe droid was released in 2007. It has similar arms to the 2013 droid, but without the small blaster elements.

Dark Side Droids

DASTARDLY DEVICES

This beaten-up ASP droid belongs to a clan of Jawa minifigures, though it could be yours for the right price! The minifigure is one of the many droids for sale on the LEGO Sandcrawler (set 10144). It is a general-purpose droid designed to perform menial labor tasks, with a limited vocabulary and low brain power.

Sandcrawler (set 10144)

The ASP droid has been salvaged by Jawas and patched up in their workshop aboard the Sandcrawler. It is now ready to be sold on to any willing moisture farmers on Tatooine. The ASP droid is unique to this 2005 LEGO set.

Single photoreceptor for basic vision

Tan battle droid torso—first seen on battle droid minifigures (p.26) in 1999

Fellow LEGO droids A4-D (p.91) and the rocket droid commander (p.86) have this dark bluish-gray mechanical arm piece

Hard-wearing

LEGO ASP droids closely resemble LEGO battle droids (pp.28–29). The droids' torsos, arms, and legs are identical. Both types of droid are built to last—one endures hard physical labor, while the other withstands blows on the battlefield.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2005

FIRST SET: 10014

Sandcrawler

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 6

ACCESSORIES: None

Wide feet for stability

ASP Droid

LABOR DROID

STAR VARIANTS

Original Obi-Wan

The 1999 variant has a yellow head and hands and simple torso printing. In 2004 it was given new gray hair and printing, and in 2007 a flesh-colored version appeared.

Hood and cape

In the Millennium Falcon (set 7965), Obi-Wan wears a hood and cape—the only other old Obi-Wan with these accessories is in the Death Star (set 10188).

Now an old man, Obi-Wan Kenobi is a Jedi in exile. He lives a hermit's existence on Tatooine and goes by the name of Ben Kenobi. But his minifigure shows signs of the life he once led: he wears Jedi robes and a brown cloak, and keeps his blue lightsaber close at hand. "Ben" Kenobi appears in seven LEGO Star Wars sets.

White details in the eyes first appeared on a variant in Luke's Landspeeder (set 8092) in 2010

Unique head with printed gray beard and wrinkles

These dark brown and brick yellow robes are unique to the 2014 old Obi-Wan minifigure

Jedi in exile, Obi-Wan still has his blue lightsaber

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75052
 Mos Eisley Cantina
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Obi-Wan "Ben" Kenobi
 EXILED JEDI

The sandtrooper minifigure might look a lot like a stormtrooper, but his armor has been specifically adapted to withstand extreme desert climates found on planets like Tatooine. Commander and regular officer sandtrooper minifigures have appeared in LEGO Star Wars sets since 2003.

Helmet has inbuilt breathing filters

Helmet with dirt mark printing is unique to this variant

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75052
 Mos Eisley Cantina
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 11
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

STAR VARIANTS

Cape colors

Droid Escape (set 9490) features a squad leader (orange pauldron) and a sergeant (white pauldron). There are two earlier squad leader variants, one in the 2004 Mos Eisley Cantina (set 4501) and another in the 2007 Imperial Landing Craft (set 7659).

Pauldron color denotes rank. Regular sandtroopers, like the variant in 2010 Luke's Landspeeder (set 8092) wear black pauldrons.

Unique torso and leg pieces have sand and dirt printed on armor.

This variant carries a blaster rifle; others are armed with blaster guns or even long electropikes

Rebreather

Sandtroopers wear rebreather packs to regulate their oxygen supply in the desert. Just one variant, released in 2007, comes without this

Sandtrooper

DESERT SOLDIER

Mos Eisley Cantina (set 75052)
 The seedy Mos Eisley Cantina is a favorite performance spot for Figrin D'an and the Modal Nodes. There is a darkly lit stage, well-stocked bar, and plenty of customers who appreciate some of the best music in the galaxy.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75052
 Mos Eisley Cantina
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Kloo horn, fizzle, ommni box

Kloo horn instrument made from lightsaber hilt and LEGO faucet piece

Tuneful trio

Three Bith musicians are included in the Mos Eisley Cantina set. Their minifigures are identical, but each has a different instrument. In addition to the kloo horn, there is a fizzle and an ommni box.

The Bith musician Figrin D'an and his band, the Modal Nodes, are a regular fixture at the Mos Eisley Cantina. Large heads and finely tuned senses are characteristics of the Bith species. Many Biths are artists or musicians. The Bith musician minifigure wears dark clothing to reflect the cool, mellow tone of his band's jazz music.

New large head mold for the highly-evolved Bith species

Huge eyes are incredibly receptive to colors and shapes

Black jacket with silver buttons. Details continued on back of torso

Plain dark gray hips and legs

Bith Musician

CANTINA BAND MEMBER

This bold minifigure is a loveable LEGO Star Wars rogue! The unlikely hero who found himself mixed up in the Rebellion against the Empire has now starred in 11 LEGO Star Wars sets. Like his beaten-up ship, the Millennium Falcon, Han's minifigure has been modified over the years—but he has retained his confident smile!

Millennium Falcon (set 75030)

This 2014 microfighter version of Han's battered YT-1300 light freighter features a mini cockpit for him to sit in. The speedy starship also has a quad laser cannon with two flick missiles to fire.

Since 2011, Han has had a flesh-colored head and white eye detailing

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75030
Millennium Falcon
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

STAR VARIANTS

Three Solos

The original Han Solo (left) is very rare and comes in the first-ever LEGO Millennium Falcon (set 7190), released in 2000. A variant with brown legs was also released the same year. The starship's 2011 update (set 7965) is also piloted by an exclusive Han Solo (center). The right-hand variant has brown legs, a more detailed torso print and comes in two sets in 2013.

Harrison Ford

Han Solo is the first LEGO minifigure to be based on the likeness of actor Harrison Ford, who plays Han Solo in the Star Wars movies, but he is not the only one to be based on Ford! There is also a LEGO Indiana Jones.

Blue pants match Han's appearance in Episode IV, while his brown-tiege variant represents Episode VI. All are printed with a belt for a blaster

Han Solo

BRAVE BRAGGART

Mos Eisley Cantina (set 75052)

This labyrinthine saloon on Tatooine is the setting for the confrontation between Greedo and Han Solo. The pair discuss Han's unpaid debts at a table in a shady alcove.

Rodian bounty hunter

Greedo is looking for Han Solo to recover money owed to his boss, Jabba the Hutt. He has finally caught up with Han in the raucous Mos Eisley Cantina (set 75052) on Tatooine. There's going to be a showdown—but will greedy Greedo persuade Han Solo to settle his debt?

STAR VARIANT

First Greedo

The first Greedo minifigure appears only in the 2004 Mos Eisley Cantina (set 4501). With his exclusive dark-turquoise head, he is highly sought after by LEGO Star Wars collectors.

First Rodian

Greedo was the first Rodian minifigure. His pimpled head-mold was designed just for him, but later used in other colors for fellow Rodians W. Wald (p.16) and Onaconda Farr (p.79). LEGO designers updated Greedo's own head printing for the 2014 variant.

Unique hips have printed silver belt, while legs have printed low-slung brown belt

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75052

Mos Eisley Cantina

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster

Greedo
BOUNTY HUNTER

Governor of the Imperial

Outland Regions, Grand Moff Tarkin has appeared in two LEGO Star Wars sets since 2006. Both sets—Imperial Star Destroyer (6211) and Death Star (10188)—are jewels in the Empire's fleet, while Tarkin's intimidating countenance and obvious rank make him one of the Empire's most feared men.

Death Star (set 10188)

Grand Moff Tarkin is one of 24 minifigures included in the Death Star set. Inside the superlaser control room, Tarkin just needs to say the word and the Death Star's powerful superweapon can fire a laser beam powerful enough to destroy an entire planet.

Standard short LEGO hair in light bluish-gray. The same piece is used on the original Owen Lars (p.167) and old Obi-Wan "Ben" Kenobi (p.175)

Imperial code cylinders. High-ranking Tarkin keeps one of these important security devices on each side of his tunic

Light flesh head with drawn cheekbones and a scowl is unique to Grand Moff Tarkin

Unique rank badge indicates military status. As Grand Moff, Tarkin has two rows of colored squares

Black belt with silver Imperial officer's disc

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2006
FIRST SET: 6211
 Imperial Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

STAR VARIANTS

First officer

This original variant is found only in the 2002 set Final Duel II (set 7201). He has a sunnier disposition than his 2010 counterpart! Before the 2010 redesign, all Imperial officer minifigures had smiling faces.

Dark steel gray Imperial hat is unique to this officer

Stern face

This 2010 variant from the Imperial Shuttle (set 10212) has the same torso as two earlier variants of the officer released in 2006 and 2005, but each one has different face printing.

The 2014 officer is the first to have printed hair on his head piece

Imperial officer minifigures carry no weapons because they work away from the battlefield

Wearing a starched gray uniform with a dark gray or black hat, the Imperial officer minifigure is an essential part of the Emperor's vast army. These high-ranking soldiers work far from the battlefield, aboard starships such as the 2012 TIE Fighter (set 9492), and the Imperial Star Destroyers (sets 6211 and 75055) from 2006 and 2014.

Kepi

Many members of the LEGO Star Wars security forces have a flat, circular peaked cap called a kepi. The Imperial pilot (p.236) wears one, for example. However, in 2014 the Imperial officer replaced his traditional kepi with a new, uniquely shaped hat.

Imperial code cylinder—only important military officers carry these sophisticated keycards

Unique torso print with red and blue rank insignia plaque

All variants of the Imperial officer wear similar gray uniforms, but the 2014 and 2012 variants are the only ones to feature a black belt

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75055
Imperial Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Imperial Officer

EMPEROR'S HENCHMAN

The Imperial gunner uses his fast reflexes and tactical thinking to defend the Empire. His minifigure mans the artillery aboard the Death Star and other Imperial Navy vessels. Dressed all in black, the gunner wears a distinctive helmet and carries a 2014 LEGO blaster, which has been updated from previous blaster designs.

Slit-like visor protects minifigure's eyes from flashes of turbolaser fire

Beneath the helmet is a head piece with a printed comlink

Symbol of the Empire adorns unique helmet

Death Star Troopers (set 75034)
Two Imperial gunners, one with an open mouth and one with a closed mouth, man the fearsome Death Star turret in this battle pack. They have been specially trained for such heavy artillery, which they fire at approaching rebel starships.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75034
Death Star Troopers
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Armored vest printed on front and back of unique torso

Same leg pieces as four other Imperial minifigures

Durasteel-tipped boots

2014 LEGO blaster can fire translucent 1x1 plates

Ace shooter

The 2014 blaster design includes a firing mechanism that can launch translucent 1x1 plates. The new blaster was used mainly across the LEGO Star Wars theme, but has also appeared in the LEGO® Ultra Agents theme.

Imperial Gunner

DEATH STAR SOLDIER

Death Star (set 10188)

Death Star droid is exclusive to set. If in need of repairs, the Death Star droid can take the droid to the Death Star's droid maintenance room (top right in set). The facility has a workbench and tool rack.

Photoreceptors are a droid's visual organs. The RA-7 uses his to spy on officials

This RA-7 protocol droid is informally known as a Death Star droid because its kind is generally found on the Imperial battle station. The droids look like C-3PO, but they are very different: They have low intelligence and are programmed to be stern rather than helpful. The RA-7 is exclusive to the Death Star (set 10188), where its main role is to spy on officials like Grand Moff Tarkin.

Vocubulator allows the RA-7 to speak—and pass on secrets

Variant of early C-3PO printing is unique

Head start

The protocol droid head piece on the Death Star droid minifigure was first created for C-3PO in 2000 (p.161). The head piece can also be found on fellow protocol droids R-3PO, and K-3PO (pp.6–7).

Primary power outlet

Printed chest plate. Similar print is used on C-3PO, R-3PO, and K-3PO and continues on the back

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET:

10188 Death Star

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: None

Death Star Droid

RA-7 PROTOCOL DROID

This Luke Skywalker minifigure is exclusive to the Death Star (set 10188). Luke is there to rescue Leia, but he must get past the Death Star's stringent security forces first. So, if you can't beat 'em, join 'em! Luke is disguised in stormtrooper armor. He can wear either a helmet or his (more recognizable) tan hair.

Long locks

Luke's long hair is mostly used on female characters in other LEGO Wars themes, but several LEGO Star Wars males favor the long-haired look, including the Obi-Wan Kenobi (p.32), and Boba Fett minifigures (p.37).

This blaster gun is typically used by stormtroopers

This light flesh head with a distinctive chin dimple was used on six Luke Skywalker minifigures between 2006 and 2009

White armor is not only a good disguise—it can protect Luke from blaster bolts

Death Star (set 10188)

In the depths of the Death Star, Luke, Leia, Chewbacca, and Han find themselves in the stinking trash compactor! The walls are closing in—can they escape in time? A mechanism above the room closes the walls

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 10188

Death Star

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Death Star (set 10188)

Both Luke Skywalker and Han Solo appear in several different guises aboard the Death Star: in stormtrooper disguise to rescue Leia from her detention cell (pictured), in their regular outfits, and Luke also appears in his Jedi Knight robes.

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Quickwitted scoundrel Han

Solo wears stolen stormtrooper armor to disguise himself on the Death Star. Like Luke, Han comes with both his standard reddish-brown hair and a stormtrooper helmet. He certainly needs the helmet if he is to get past the Death Star's real stormtroopers and rescue Leia—there is no hiding that trademark smirk!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 10188

Death Star

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Light flesh head with thick brown eyebrows and a cocksure smile

Black, temperature-controlled body glove worn under armor

Stolen blaster

Collectible set

Han and Luke Skywalker in stormtrooper disguises were also part of the exclusive LEGO Collectible Display Set 3. The set was available for one day only at the 2009 San Diego Comic-Con. Chewbacca was also included in the set.

Han Solo STORMTROOPER DISGUISE

Now part of the Rebel Alliance, Luke Skywalker is ready for action against the Imperial forces as an X-wing pilot! This version of Luke wears an orange pressurised g-suit and unique helmet.

The minifigure has appeared in 12 LEGO Star Wars sets, in six different variations.

Luke's blue lightsaber once belonged to his father, Anakin Skywalker

Minifigure torso shared with five other pilots including Dutch Vander (p.188), Jek Porkins (p.190), and Zev Senesca (p.205)

STAR VARIANTS

Rare rebel

This X-wing pilot Luke (right) appears in only one 2003/4 set: Rebel Snowspeeder (set 4500). He has bluish-gray hips, and a less detailed helmet and face design than the 2006 variant (far left). The 2010 variant (main picture) has a more detailed torso.

Snow problem

Two Luke variants wear white gloves in the Battle of Hoth (set 75014) and the Snowspeeder (set 75049). They have different torsos and unique double-sided head pieces, and the latter also has leg printing.

Luke's insulated pilot helmet has red rebel markings and unique patterns that continue around the back and sides

Flesh-colored head with white pupils can be found on six other Luke Skywalker minifigures

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8129 AT-AT Walker
NO OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster, lightsaber

Luke Skywalker

X-WING PILOT

STAR VARIANT

Pilot's progress

An early variant appears in the X-Wing Starfighter & Yavin 4 (set 9677) in 2012. He wears an orange flight suit and has blue markings on his helmet and printing on his torso, but his legs are plain.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2006
FIRST SET: 75032
X-Wing Fighter
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

X-wing pilots boldly fly into battle—often heavily outnumbered by Imperial foes. This may explain this minifigure's somber expression. While many rebel pilots wear a standard orange jumpsuit with plain legs, this latest variant, from the 2014 X-Wing Fighter (set 75032) has a brand-new flight suit with new printed detail on the front and back of his torso that continues onto his legs.

Orange visor printed on unique head piece

Life support unit strapped over flak vest. Printing continues on the back of the torso

Deep pockets to carry vital supplies

X-wing Pilot
 FEARLESS FLYER

Dutch Vander

Y-WING PILOT

Daring Jon "Dutch" Vander

has the call-sign Gold Leader when he flies into battle as a rebel pilot, but he is shot down in the Battle of Yavin. One of the only minifigures to have ever flown a LEGO Y-wing fighter, he appears in the starships in four LEGO Star Wars sets (and in two re-releases).

New rebel insignia printing only appears on this variant

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9495
Gold Leader's Y-wing
Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Dutch is one of the only rebel pilots to carry a blaster

This torso piece also appears on Jek Porkins (p.190) and the rebel X-wing pilot (p.187)

Dutch wears a regular orange pilot's jumpsuit

STAR VARIANTS

Yellow Dutch

This Dutch Vander variant has a yellow head with red hair and eyebrows and a headset to help him communicate with his squadron. It appears in the 1999 set TIE Fighter and Y-wing (set 7150) and its 2002 and 2004 re-releases.

Daring Dutch

This Dutch with a flesh-colored head and no eyebrows or headset is from the 2007 Y-wing Fighter (set 7658). He has blue-gray hips, but an early variant has dark gray hips.

X-Wing Fighter (set 7140)

Two X-wing pilots star in the X-wing Fighter LEGO set—Biggs and his fellow Red Squadron pilot Luke Skywalker. The starship's cockpit does not have room for both pilots to fly together, so while one pilot takes flight, the other can wait on the ground with the fully equipped Rebel Technician minifigure (p.245).

Custom helmet with chequered pattern and rebel insignia

Yellow heads were used on LEGO Star Wars minifigures from 1999 to 2004

Test pack straps

Mustache man

Biggs's mustachioed head is used only on his minifigure in the LEGO Star Wars theme, but it is used in lots of other LEGO themes for characters such as waiters, chefs, coast guards, and firefighters.

The printing on this early X-wing pilot torso piece has fewer details than Dutch Vander's recent torso (opposite)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 1999
FIRST SET: 7140
 X-wing Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Biggs Darklighter

X-WING PILOT

Jek Porkins

RED SIX

This 2012 rebel pilot flies alongside Luke Skywalker and Red Squadron during the Battle of Yavin. Jek's minifigure flies his X-wing toward the Death Star and helps to destroy a turbolaser tower. Unfortunately, not even his personalized helmet and life-support unit can save him when his X-wing is struck by enemy fire—perhaps that is why this minifigure appears in just one LEGO set.

X-wing Starfighter (set 9493)

Jek and his astromech, R5-D8, accompany Luke and R2 in the X-wing set. The X-wing can be customized with either Red Five or Red Six markings. Red Five was Luke's call sign during the Battle of Yavin; Red Six was Jek's.

Shared body

Jek's minifigure has the same torso as four other Rebel pilots: Luke Skywalker, Dutch Vander, Zev Senesca, and a generic, unnamed rebel pilot.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9493
X-wing Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

X-wing Fighter (set 6212)

Wedge Antilles is exclusive to the 2006 X-wing Fighter set, which also includes X-wing pilot Luke Skywalker (p.186). The vehicle can change from Luke's Red Five to Wedge's Red Two X-wing with its unique wing details.

Simple, smiling face appears on 12 LEGO minifigures, including LEGO Star Wars pilots Dooku (p.188) and Dak Ralter (p.206)

Same torso pattern is used—but a red torso—for B-wing pilot minifigure (p.243)

This orange pressurized g-suit is standard-issue flight wear for LEGO X-wing pilots. It protects them from dangerous acceleration g-forces when flying at high speeds

Custom helmet

Wedge's custom-made X-wing pilot helmet has dark bluish-gray rectangles and a circle pattern along the sides.

Black flight gloves

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2006
FIRST SET: 6212
 X-wing Fighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Ace X-wing pilot Wedge Antilles is the hero of three huge battles—Yavin, Hoth, and Endor—but he has featured in only one LEGO Star Wars set. Humble hero Wedge blends in among the other X-wing pilot minifigures in his rebel flight suit and standard minifigure face, but his unique helmet sets him apart from the rest.

Wedge Antilles

X-WING PILOT

These elite pilots of the Imperial Navy are referred to as “bucketheads” by rebel pilots because of their bulky helmets. Their unique headgear and flight suits are a self-contained life-support system that helps them survive in the vacuum of space. The TIE pilot minifigure has fought in 11 LEGO sets since 2001.

Hidden heads

A peek under the oversized helmet of the 2006 and 2010 TIE pilot reveals a plain black head piece. Two earlier variants have brown and reddish-brown heads.

Breather tubes transfer oxygen

Sleek unique helmet with silver printing

Changing headgear

The original (2001) TIE pilot's helmet (left) was from a stormtrooper helmet mold (p). Its shape was updated in 2010 (center).

The present helmet first appears in 2014 in the TIE Bomber and Asteroid Field (set 75008).

Beneath the helmet

Variants of the TIE pilot released in 2012 and 2013 have printed faces on a black head piece, making them look as if they are wearing hoods. The 2014 variant has nothing to keep out the cold—no wonder it is frowning!

Torso printing includes life-support chest piece that helps the pilot adapt to changing altitudes

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75031 TIE Interceptor

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Luke Skywalker

With his medal of honor, Luke has not been seen in LEGO sets. He appears in DK books, including LEGO Star Wars: The Visual Dictionary (2009).

Black eyes

There is a second variant of the ceremonial Luke Skywalker minifigure, which has black details on the eyes.

This long, tan LEGO hair is also seen on Tatooine Luke (p.165) and Luke in his stormtrooper disguise (p.184).

This Luke Skywalker

minifigure was specially created to celebrate ten years of LEGO Star Wars. The minifigure himself has cause for celebration—Luke has been honored with a medal for bravery after destroying the first Death Star!

Pants pair

Luke is not the only minifigure to sport pants with a gun belt pattern. They are also worn by his friend Han Solo's minifigure. Han has worn the pants on Tatooine (p.178) and Hoth (p.196).

Princess Leia Organa awards Luke with the medal of bravery for destroying the first Death Star at the Battle of Yavin.

Luke might be celebrating, but he stays armed with this gun belt.

Luke Skywalker

MEDAL WINNER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: LEGO
Star Wars: The Visual Dictionary

NO. OF SETS: None

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

This proud Han Solo minifigure is exclusive to the first release of this book! Han has received the highest medal of honor for his role in the destruction of the first Death Star. Cocky Han doesn't feel the need to dress up for the medal ceremony—what could look better than his cool blue jeans and black vest?

Standard reddish-brown LEGO hair

Fifth figure

This is the fifth version of Han Solo in LEGO form. The only LEGO Star Wars character available in more versions is Luke Skywalker, but three characters match Han Solo's number: Anakin Skywalker, Princess Leia, and Obi-Wan Kenobi.

The first release of this book in 2011 featured a Han Solo minifigure wearing his celebratory medal. The minifigure does not star in any LEGO sets

Han's unique torso features his favorite black waistcoat and light-colored shirt

Princess Leia Organa has awarded Han with this medal of honor for his heroics in the Battle of Yavin

Lighter blue legs with a similar gun belt pattern are also seen on the regular Han Solo minifigure (p.178)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: LEGO

Star Wars: Character Encyclopedia

NO. OF SETS: None

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Han Solo

DECORATED HERO

Hoth Wampa Cave (set 8089)

Poor Luke dangles from the roof of a cave awaiting his fate at the hands of the hungry wampa in this 2010 set! Can he escape? Luke in his Hoth uniform appears in no other LEGO sets.

These white snow goggles are also seen on the Hoth rebel trooper minifigure (p.199)

Snow goggles

Luke's snow goggles are made up of two sets of holes in his helmet so he can see over or under them to see his eyes.

Luke's rank insignia shows that Luke is a commander

Of all the troopers stationed at the rebel base on Hoth, Luke is the only minifigure to wear this torso piece

Insulated helmet protects the minifigure's head from freezing temperatures

Communications chip helps Luke give signals to his squadron

These dark bluish-gray gloves help Luke to stay warm

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8089 Hoth Wampa Cave
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber

Commander Luke Skywalker is stationed with his Rebel Alliance squadron on the ice planet Hoth. The minifigure finds himself in a chilling situation when he is captured by a wampa ice creature in Hoth Wampa Cave (set 8089). Luckily LEGO Luke is braced to withstand subarctic temperatures in his insulated uniform and snow goggles.

Luke Skywalker

HOOTH REBEL COMMANDER

Rebel Captain Han Solo is stationed on the ice planet Hoth. Han hates the cold, so his minifigure wraps up warm in a removeable fur-lined parka hood and gray snow boots. This minifigure appears in a special promotional pack from 2013. Variants of Han in his Hoth gear also appear in four other LEGO Star Wars sets and a promotional set (San Diego Comic-Con 2009).

Dual-sided head has goggles and a bandana on the other side

Printed neckerchief to keep out the chill

STAR VARIANTS

Hoodless Han

Han has a removeable parka in Hoth Echo Base (set 7879). His body and legs are the same as the 2004 variant, but he has a new head and hair. The 2006 variant also has holster printing, but on reddish-brown legs.

Yellow Han

This rare yellow variant of Han Solo in Hoth gear appears in a promotional Millennium Falcon (set 4504). A 2009 variant is much the same, but it has flesh-colored head and hands.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 5001621
 Han Solo (Hoth)
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Hood

Han has interchangeable parka hood and hair

Han Solo
 HOTH HERO

STAR VARIANT

First Leia

This variant of Leia in her Hoth gear appears in two sets: Millennium Falcon (set 4504) and X-Wing Fighter (set 6212). She wears Leia's trademark two-bun hair piece. She also has a different head and torso, and flesh-colored hands.

On duty on Hoth, Leia wears her hair back in braids. This LEGO hair piece is also seen on Leia in her Endor outfit (p.250)

Head first

Before Princess Leia acquired her current head, all LEGO Leias had the same head, which they shared with three other minifigures: Mon Mothma in LEGO Star Wars (p.239) and two female soccer players in LEGO® Soccer.

Leia's unique torso has an insulated vest and zipped-up white jumpsuit

Leia still wears the symbolic white clothing of Alderaan royalty

Princess Leia has pulled back her hair, donned insulated gear, and is now ready for action on Hoth! Leia is an inspirational leader of the Rebel Alliance at Hoth Echo Base (set 7879). She is a key command figure, organizing troops and tactics from her command post, so her minifigure holds only a popsicle. This version of Leia has two variants, which have starred in three LEGO sets.

Look of concern

Leia's head has two sides: one looks happy, while the other has a concerned expression.

Rebel rank insignia shows Leia is a rebel leader

White-gloved hand pieces

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7879 Hoth Echo Base
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Popsicle

Princess Leia

HOOTH COMMANDER

General Rieekan

HOTH LEADER

As a founding member of the Rebel Alliance, General Rieekan's stern minifigure is always treated with respect. He is suitably attired for the ice-cold planet of Hoth, where he commands the rebels at their secret headquarters, Echo Base. Rieekan leads his LEGO rebel troops in the Battle of Hoth (set 75014) and also appears in the 2014 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar (set 75056).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75014
 Battle of Hoth
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Markings of high rank

Brown belt detail is continued around the back of the torso

Gray comb-over hair piece is also worn by Obi-Wan Kenobi

STAR VARIANT

Eyewear

During the attack on Echo Base, General Rieekan goes into battle alongside his troops. He dons his helmet and goggles to protect himself from both enemy fire and the freezing winds of Hoth.

At home on Hoth

As commander of Echo Base, Rieekan has been on the snow-covered planet Hoth for a long time. He has mastered the skill of tauntaun riding—an efficient way to navigate the planet's icy plains.

Quilted jacket keeps Rieekan warm on Hoth

Familiar

General Rieekan's face might look familiar. It can also be found on a similarly high-ranking LEGO Star Wars officer, albeit an Imperial one—Admiral Piett. It is also used for Professor Snape's minifigure, from the LEGO Harry Potter theme.

Hoth Helmets

These variants of the Hoth rebel trooper minifigure have different Hoth head gear. Two have white aviator helmets—one with a brown visor and one with rounded white snow goggles—while two have the same new-style snow goggles.

Backpack

Only the Hoth rebel trooper minifigure wears this white backpack with a bedroll in LEGO Star Wars.

This tan insulated helmet is first seen on the 2010 design. Luke Skywalker in his Hoth gear also wears the helmet (p.195)

Backpack is attached around the minifigure's neck. All eight variants of the Hoth rebel trooper wear this piece

Hoth Officer

The Hoth Officer has the same torso as the 2007 Hoth rebel trooper. He also shares the head with the 2012 Hoth rebel trooper (see p.195).

Rebel A280 blaster rifle

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75014

Battle of Hoth

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 6

ACCESSORIES: Blaster rifle, electrobinoculars

The secret rebel headquarters are now on the hostile ice planet Hoth, so the rebel trooper minifigure wears an insulated uniform and helmet. He appears in nine sets, all but one containing a different variant—but all eight variants are dressed to battle both the cold weather and the Empire!

Unique torso design with a white scarf, tan utility belt, and thermal jacket is first seen in 2010

Hoth Rebel Trooper

SUBARCTIC SOLDIER

Luke Skywalker

INJURED AT THE INFIRMARY

After a near-death experience in the frozen wilderness of Hoth, Luke Skywalker is injured and unconscious at the Hoth Echo Base infirmary (set 7879). It is lucky that the rebels are equipped with a healing LEGO bacta tank to aid his recovery! Luke's unique double-sided head depicts his injuries on one side, and Luke in recovery on the other.

Hoth Echo Base (set 7879)

Injured Luke fits inside the large bacta tank at Hoth Echo Base, which is the only LEGO set to feature this version of Luke. A 2-1B medical droid minifigure (p.143) is on hand to oversee his recovery and get him back to health.

This hair piece was designed specifically for Luke in 2011. It is also seen on LEGO Luke in his Tatooine clothing (p.165)

A breathing mask provides Luke with oxygen while he is submerged in a rejuvenating bacta tank

Oxygen tube

Luke wears white briefs at the Hoth infirmary

Feeling better

Swiveling Luke's head reveals a different face. Luke's injuries have healed, and he has a tired-looking smile.

Luke hangs from a harness during his bacta tank treatment. These arm straps can also be seen on the back of his torso piece

This part of the bacta tank harness secures Luke's hips

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7879 Hoth Echo Base
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Ultimate Super Star Destroyer (set 10221)

Admiral Piett's first and only LEGO appearance is in this set from 2011. In it, he commands the imposing Star Dreadnought Executor warship.

Unwanted guests

Piett must sit with three bounty hunters on board the Executor, even though he considers them to be "cum."

Piett's minimal gray tunic enhances his austere image

Back to back

Admiral Piett is the first Imperial officer to feature printed details on the back of his torso. The Imperial officer minifigure (p.181) and even powerful Grand Moff Tarkin (p.180) do not have printing depicting the backs of their gray uniforms.

Admiral Firmus Piett is the intelligent, but secretly incompetent, admiral of the Ultimate Super Star Destroyer (set 10221). He is skilled at avoiding conflict with Darth Vader by staying under the radar—much like his LEGO minifigure, which was long absent from the LEGO Star Wars galaxy.

Piett wears a dark gray cap called a kepi atop his stern, humorless face

Admiral Piett's insignia displays his high rank on the front of his unique torso

Piett's belt buckle has an Imperial silver officer's disk that can store top secret data

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 10221

Super Star Destroyer

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Admiral Firmus Piett
IMPERIAL ADMIRAL

Ruthless and aggressive, Veers is the major general of the Empire's Imperial Army. He leads the assault on Hoth and helps Darth Vader to capture Echo Base with his AT-AT (set 75054). Parts of his minifigure are seen on other Imperial LEGO minifigures, but his disdainful facial expression remains unique to General Veers.

Smiles ahead

The Hoth Imperial officer is the same minifigure as the 2010 variant of Veers, except he has a more smiley face.

Trooper helmet only appears in sand blue for this minifigure

STAR VARIANTS

In an AT-AT

The Motorized Walking AT-AT (set 10178) from 2007 includes this variant of General Veers. He wears darker gray headgear plus goggles and a chin-strap. He does not wear black gloves in this LEGO set.

Dimpled general

This version of the general has no chin-strap or goggles, just a chin dimple; and is exclusive to the 2010 AT-AT Walker (set 8129). He has the same helmet and torso as the Hoth Imperial officer in the Snowtrooper Battle Pack (set 8084).

Head piece with printed headset is unique to this minifigure

Exclusive torso features a detailed printed armor pack

General Veers wears black flight gloves for piloting the AT-AT walker

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75054
AT-AT
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Electrobinoculars

With chin-strap

Another Hoth Imperial officer appears in the 2012 LEGO Star Wars advent calendar.

STAR VARIANTS

Neat helmet

This AT-AT driver appears in the 2007 Motorized Walking AT-AT (set 10178) and has a smaller helmet. It is the same LEGO piece used for stormtrooper helmets (p.150), but with specially designed AT-AT markings.

Double driver

This variant appears in two 2010 sets, the Snowtrooper Battle Pack (set 8084) and AT-AT Walker (set 8089). Like the earlier variants, he wears a gray jumpsuit, but he has a larger helmet.

Unique torso's support system connects air supply to the helmet through two tubes.

Helmet is marked with Imperial symbols

The AT-AT driver is a top Imperial soldier. His minifigure commands a deadly AT-AT (All-Terrain Armored Transport) walker. Four variations of the AT-AT driver have appeared in five LEGO sets since 2003. His minifigure wears a gray or sand-blue jumpsuit under blaster-proof armor. He also has a unique, specialized helmet.

Specialized AT-AT helmet has a breathing apparatus that enables the driver to breathe on any land-based terrain he explores

Energy monitor

Identity chip

Unique hip and leg pieces

Imperial pilots

The AT-AT driver is sometimes considered to be a pilot, even though AT-ATs are not flying machines. He shares his helmet piece with another Imperial pilot: the TIE pilot (p.192), who has a black version of the helmet and a similar torso.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75054
AT-AT
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

AT-AT Driver

ALL TERRAIN TERROR

This highly specialized snowtrooper is built to survive in extremely cold climates. The minifigure's airtight white body glove provides insulation from the cold as well as camouflage on icy planets, while his unique masked helmet, backpack, and torso have been created specifically for his use.

Standard snowtrooper

Most snowtroopers are exclusive to one LEGO Star Wars set—but not this one! He appears in eight sets (2007–2011). He has a plain black head. The first snowtrooper with a printed head comes with the 2012 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar.

Standard clone head underneath helmet

STAR VARIANT

Snow clone

This variant of the snowtrooper minifigure has black hands and clone trooper armor printing on his torso. The minifigure appears in the 2003 Millennium Falcon (set 4504, blue box edition only).

This printing also appears on the snowtrooper variant released in the Battle of Hoth (set 7501).

Suit heater and communication controls

This snowtrooper has bluish-gray hips, but a variant in AT-TE (set 4483) has light gray hips

Cloth armor skirt is also worn by the snowtrooper commander in the same set (he has different torso printing)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75054
AT-AT
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Snowtrooper

SUBARCTIC STORMTROOPER

STAR VARIANT

Decorative helmet

The 2012 Zev minifigure has a unique helmet with distinctive gray markings. In the Hoth Wampa Cave (set 8089), he rolls up on his snowspeeder to rescue Luke Skywalker from the wampa ice creature.

Zev's head, with its printed orange visor and chin strap, is also seen on Captain Jag and the clone pilot in the ARC-170 Starfighter (set 8088).

Standard-issue orange pressurized jumpsuit

Back detail

Zev was the first LEGO X-wing pilot to feature a double-sided torso. X-wing pilot Luke Skywalker (set 8186) adopted the torso piece later in 2010.

Zev Senesca is a brave rebel X-wing pilot who fights on Hoth. He is the only X-wing pilot to carry a weapon, making him especially effective during combat. His minifigure appears in three sets and has a pioneering design, with a head and torso that have since appeared elsewhere in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy.

Zev wears a plain white helmet for the 2011 LEGO Star Wars advent calendar

All in a name

Zev Senesca was the first named character to feature in a LEGO Star Wars battle pack. Previously, the minifigures included in the LEGO battle packs were generic troopers and pilots.

Zev's flight suit torso features a white flak vest and detailed life-support chest pack

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7958 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar 2011
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Zev Senesca

X-WING PILOT

Doomed rebel pilot Dak Ralter is a gunner in Luke Skywalker's snowspeeder on Hoth. His happy and naive expression belies a murky fate. Dak looks a lot like other X-wing pilot minifigures but his face print makes him unique. Dak has appeared in four LEGO sets.

Another hero

A snowspeeder pilot with the same helmet, torso, and leg printing came with the Snowspeeder & Planet Hoth (set 75009) in 2013.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75049

Snowspeeder

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

There are two blue Rebel Alliance symbols on Dak's helmet

STAR VARIANTS

Yellow head

Dak has yellow flesh and darker gray hips in the 1999 Snowspeeder (set 7130). By 2003, the variant in the Rebel Snowspeeder (set 4500) has lighter hips, but still has yellow flesh.

All smiles

The Dak that comes with the 2007 Hoth Rebel Base (set 7666) has flesh-colored skin and a simple, smiling head. He has the same light bluish-gray hips as the 2003 variant.

Updated X-wing pilot torso printing first appears on the 2013 Luke Skywalker variant in the Battle of Hoth (set 75014)

The Luke minifigure in the Snowspeeder (set 75049) has the same jumpsuit bottoms with printed pockets

Previous Daks had standard issue X-wing pilot black flight glove

Uh oh!

This side of Dak's face appears to express his shock and dismay as he meets an untimely end.

Dak Ralter

REBEL PILOT

X-Wing Fighter (set 4502)

Luke's minifigure fits easily into the cockpit of his trusty X-wing starfighter. When he crashes on the swamp planet Dagobah, the X-wing can be separated into two large pieces and covered in green reeds.

In the LEGO Star Wars theme, this tan hair piece is used only for Luke minifigures

Jedi training

Luke's minifigure trains hard to improve his strength and willpower, with his mentor, Yoda, carried on his back. Yoda's minifigure is small enough to stand on Luke's backpack.

This torso is unique to this version of Luke

Rebel pilot

Luke's minifigure also has a helmet marked with rebel symbols. Luke's flight suit, however, is not included in this set.

In this set, Luke comes with a green lightsaber, even though his training as a Jedi is not yet complete

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2003

FIRST SET: 4502 X-Wing Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber, backpack, helmet

Luke Skywalker

JEDI IN TRAINING

This terrifying Trandoshan

bounty hunter made his minifigure debut alongside redesigns of Boba Fett and Han Solo in 2010's Slave I (set 8097), although he doesn't actually have a place to sit aboard the LEGO starship! Bossk's reptilian head, complete with smooth horns and sharp teeth, was specially cast for this dangerous LEGO minifigure.

Flying in style

Bossk's flight suit has intricate details on the back as well as the front.

Slave I (set 8097)

Bossk helps his fellow bounty hunter Boba Fett to capture Han Solo inside a block of carbonite in this 2010 set. Bossk doesn't have a seat aboard Fett's starship, Slave I, but he can fit beneath the cabin during flight.

Painted infrared-vision eyes

Unique sand-green head is made from hard ABS plastic

A blaster rifle is the weapon of choice for many LEGO Star Wars minifigures—including Senate commandos (p.89) and assassin droids (p.80)

Painted white teeth

Bossk's body

The torso design on Bossk's flight suit is unique to him. It is more detailed than the flight suit sported by rebel pilots Luke Skywalker, Duto Vander, Biggs Darklighter, Wedge Antilles (pp.186–191) and Dak Ralter (p.206).

White flak vest

Yellow high-altitude pressure suit

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2010
FIRST SET: 8097
Slave I
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster rifle

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 10221

Super Star Destroyer

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 2

ACCESSORIES: Blaster rifle

Dengar once suffered a severe head injury. Imperial agents fixed most of the damage, but Dengar always wears a head bandage

Scarred face from a swoop-racer crash

Dengar painted his armor brown

This minifigure might wear makeshift armor, but don't underestimate him! Dengar is a dangerous bounty hunter. He is hired by Darth Vader to capture the Millennium Falcon and its passengers. Two variants of Dengar appear in two LEGO Star Wars sets, both with his huge Valken-38 blaster rifle close at hand.

STAR VARIANT

Ninja bandage

The 2006 Dengar variant comes with the LEGO set Slave I (set 6209). His torso and legs are different and the minifigure's standard LEGO head piece is covered with a white Ninja hood.

Dengar's armor is built from discarded Imperial materials. It includes pieces of armor from sandtroopers, snowtroopers, and stormtroopers

White gloves to protect hands

Bounty hunters

Most of the bounty hunters hired by Darth Vader to track down the rebels can be found in LEGO Star Wars sets. Bossk, Dengar, Boba Fett, and IG-88 (pp.208-211) have all been made into LEGO minifigures. Only Zuckuss and 4-LOM remain elusive.

BANDAGED BOUNTY HUNTER

Dengar

Mandalorian bounty

hunter Boba Fett appears in 12 LEGO Star Wars sets, with 10 distinct variations. Boba's latest incarnation is battle-worn, but equipped with all he needs to catch his quarry: a probing rangefinder, a powerful jetpack, and unbeatable firepower.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75060

Slave I

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 7

ACCESSORIES:

Modified rifle, cape

Blue-gray detachable rangefinder fits into a hole in Boba's helmet

Gray markings are battle damage

Wookiee hair is worn as a prize

Unique new leg printing

Tattered fabric pauldron cloth is unique to Boba Fett

STAR VARIANTS

Bronze Boba

There are only two of these solid bronze Boba Fetts in existence. One was given away to a lucky competition winner as part of the LEGO "May the Fourth" promotion in 2010.

Cloud City

This is the first Boba variant to have leg and arm printing and is unique to Cloud City (set 10123), released in 2003. A similar variant with plain gray legs and arms was released in 2000.

New trousers

This 2010 Boba Fett is the first to feature blue legs. The pale blue part features in three later variants, all of which have additional printing.

EXCLUSIVE

Cover star

Available only with this book, this white Boba Fett variant is based on original concept designs for the character. A 2010 variant with the first Boba helmet mold has a simpler white look.

Cone-shaped head has motion, sound, and heat sensors that help IG-88 catch his prey

IG-88 has individual orange sensors on his silver head plate. Pre-2011 variants of his minifigure have a translucent orange round plate piece

STAR VARIANTS

Silver assassin

This metallic silver variant of IG-88 appears in Slave I (set 6209), released in 2006. He carries an older version of a LEGO Star Wars blaster.

White assassin

This white droid appears on the LEGO Death Star (set 10188). He is thought to be a variant of IG-88, but he is not named as him on the set box.

One of IG-88's hands is at a 90 degree angle to his opposite hand so he can hold his blaster vertically

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 10221
 Super Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 7
ACCESSORIES: Blaster rifle, blaster

Assassin droid IG-88 stalks the LEGO Star Wars galaxy in three sets, and in each one he has a slightly different look—though each is as intimidating as the last. The monstrous minifigure is obsessed with hunting and killing, and he comes well equipped to pursue his passion. His round, sensor-filled head can see in all directions at once!

IG-88's body is made up of identical pieces to the LEGO battle droid (p.26)

IG-88 holds a weapon in each hand—this one is a medium blaster

IG-88

BOUNTY HUNTER

This cool customer is the baron administrator of Cloud City. Lando Calrissian has a flamboyant personality and sense of style—something that is reflected in his LEGO minifigure, with his extravagant yellow-lined cape and baronial outfit. Lando in all his finery only stars in the 2003 set Cloud City (set 10123), alongside his old gambling partner Han Solo.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2003

FIRST SET: 10123

Cloud City

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster, cape

Lando's head

This Lando Calrissian has a unique brown head with a suave slim mustache and winning smile! The two other versions of LEGO Lando (p.229; p.242) have the same head piece in a reddish-brown color.

The version of Lando dressed as a general (p.242) has this same short black hair piece

Unique torso features a dark-blue collared shirt and matching baron administrator state belt

Blaster is made from a LEGO loudhailer piece

Lando's exclusive cape is blue on the outside and yellow on the inside. It is a status symbol that distinguishes him as baron administrator of Cloud City

Lando Calrissian
BARON OF CLOUD CITY

Twin-pod Cloud Car and Bespin (set 9678)

Lobot is the only minifigure to come with this LEGO Star Wars planet set. He uses the cloud car to run errands around Cloud City.

STAR VARIANT

in communication

This Lobot comes with the 2002 Twin-Pod Cloud Car (set 7119). Like his 2012 variant, he has a unique head that shows his implant. Instead of a blaster, however, he carries a radio.

Unique head piece with wrinkle lines

Unique torso is printed with Lobot's plain, functional gray tunic, and black belt uper computer computer device been implanted Lobot's brain.

allows him to ontrol Cloud City's puter system his mind.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9678

Twin-pod Cloud Car
& Bespin

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

I II CW III R IV V VI L

Half-man, half-robot,

Lobot is Lando Calrissian's cyborg assistant. Lobot's double-sided head is the only clue that he is not fully human: One side has a human face, while the other is printed with a computer implant. As Cloud City's computer liaison officer, Lobot is one of a kind—and so is his rare minifigure.

Unusual behavior

It is only in a LEGO Star Wars set that Lobot would pilot a twin-pod cloud car. Usually, Lobot would leave the flying of vehicles to cloud car pilots, and focus on controlling the computer systems on Cloud City.

CYBORG COMMAND CENTER

Lobot

Medium blaster

The Bespin security guard appears in just two LEGO sets, but he has a very important job. His minifigure helps keep the peace on Cloud City. The security guard's official blue uniform is enough to deter most minifigures from breaking the rules, but some criminals don't take the hint. He might have a smiling LEGO face, but beware of his deadly blaster!

Slave I (set 75060)

The Bespin security guard comes with the 2014 set Slave I. He helps carry Han Solo's carbonite-frozen minifigure to Boba Fett's ship, Slave I, which has a special compartment that opens to store the carbonite block containing Han Solo.

Updated peaked cap

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75060

Slave I

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Relby-K23 blaster pistols are standard issue for Bespip security guards

STAR VARIANT

First round

The 2006 Slave I (set 6209) comes with a Bespip security guard with a reddish-brown head piece. He carries a blaster, made from a LEGO loudhailer piece.

Unique torso is printed with a gold trim and the insignia of the Bespip security guards

Sergeant Edian?

This 2006 security guard might be Sergeant Edian, a loyal guard who works for Lando Calrissian on Cloud City—although he is not named in the LEGO set he comes in.

Cloud City (set 10123)

Leia's unique Cloud City minifigure is exclusive to this LEGO set. She can use the sliding cafeteria door to hide from stormtroopers, while Luke's Cloud City minifigure duels Darth Vader at the city's spiky core.

Hair tied into a single, long braid

Shared hair

The same long, top-braided hairstyle worn by Leia when she relaxes on Cloud City is also worn by Padmé, Leia's mother. The hair piece was first used for Padmé Naberrie's 1999 minifigure (p.9) and is exclusive to LEGO Star Wars.

Unique torso printed with a collared white cloak

A flesh-colored version of this head piece is used for Mon Mothma's minifigure (p.239)

This is the only Princess Leia minifigure without a flesh-colored variant

Leia's brown and dark orange top is decorated with a triangle-shaped belt

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2003

FIRST SET: 10123

Cloud City

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Princess Leia

CLOUD CITY CAPTIVE

Luke arrives on Cloud City to rescue his friends. But it is a trap! Darth Vader is waiting for him. This exclusive minifigure is dressed in a tan jumpsuit, which is not restrictive, allowing Luke to put up a good fight against Vader. But there is nothing Luke can do to protect his minifigure's right hand, which he loses in battle.

Cloud City (set 10123)

Luke's minifigure wields his blue lightsaber against Darth Vader. But Vader uses the Force to make a LEGO wall collapse! When Luke reaches the window, a LEGO mechanism catapults him over the city's reactor core.

Tan torso

This tan torso is unique to Luke's Cloud City minifigure in the LEGO Star Wars theme. However, it has also been used for farmer and worker minifigures in the LEGO City and LEGO® Town themes.

LEGO hand piece can be removed to show the outcome of Luke's duel with Darth Vader

This LEGO head piece is only used for Luke Skywalker minifigures

Luke's tan jumpsuit has a lot of utility pockets

Brown hip piece is printed with a silver belt buckle

Unique leg pieces are printed with pockets

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2003
FIRST SET: 10123
 Cloud City
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

STAR VARIANT

Increased

The original variant of this minifigure has yellow skin, light eyebrows, and no creases on his shirt—even though it appears in Desert Skiff (set 7104), when Han has just escaped after a few days in a cramped carbonite prison.

Torso with creased shirt also appears on the 2010 Han in Slave I (set 8097), the 2012 variant in Jabba's Palace (set 9516), and on young Han part from his stormtrooper disguise, this is the only Han without a gun holster on his pants. The prisoner Han in Jabba's Sail Barge (set 6210) has the same leg piece

LEGO Star Wars: The Padawan Menace

Young Han Solo is exclusive to the 11 Blue-Ray edition of this LEGO Star Wars special.

Ford's hair

The reddish-brown variant of this common LEGO hair piece is used only for Han Solo in the LEGO Star Wars theme. The same color is also used for Indiana Jones's minifigure, which is based on a character also played by actor Harrison Ford.

In 2014, Han's face got its first update since 2010, with a scar and chiseled cheekbones. This variant has a unique frozen-in-carbonite expression on the reverse side

Han Solo has been captured by Darth Vader! Dressed in casual brown pants and a plain white shirt, Han's minifigure is frozen inside a block of carbonite and delivered to Jabba the Hutt. His minifigure is so unprepared for his imminent capture that he is even without his trusty blaster!

Trapped!

Han is frozen in a block of carbonite! This unique piece cleverly traps Han's minifigure by securing him with clips inside the 3D mold.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75060
Slave I
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Han Solo

FROZEN IN CARBONITE

Jabba The Hutt

INTERGALACTIC GANGSTER

Jabba the Hutt is a slimy, green crime lord who orchestrates shady schemes across the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. The vile villain's head and torso piece is a unique LEGO mold. It is almost impossible to miss Jabba's enormous slug-like minifigure—even though he only comes in four LEGO sets.

STAR VARIANT

Plain slimy

The Jabba variant with the earlier Jabba's Palace (set 4480) and Jabba's Sail Barge (set 6210) has no printed detail but plenty of character, thanks to his unique mold. His head and torso are one piece, with poseable arms. His moveable tail is made of two pieces that clip together.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9516
 Jabba's Palace
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Jabba's olive-green coloring matches the skin tone of his Gamorrean guards

Detailed printed facial features include glowing orange eyes

Poseable arms are attached to the head and torso piece, which swivels above the chunky tail piece

Printing to show the folds of Jabba's flesh

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9516
JABBA'S PALACE
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 vibro-ax

Head and torso armor are a single, unique piece. It fits over a plain reddish-brown LEGO torso with olive arms

Gamorreans are boar-like creatures, so the guard's unique head-mold has horns, tusks, and a snout

Printed legs are unique to this minifigure

The Gamorrean guard protects
 Jabba the Hutt in four LEGO sets.

Brutish, strong, and dull-witted, this porky henchman does whatever his ruthless boss Jabba tells him and never makes a fuss. The green-skinned guard is also armed with a deadly vibro-ax.

Vibro-ax can inflict a lethal wound with minimal effort

STAR VARIANTS

Gray-armed guard

The original variant of this minifigure comes in the 2003 set Jabba's Prize (set 4476), guarding the Han Solo frozen in carbonite. He has gray arms, green hands,
 and a brown hip piece.

Red-handed

This 2006 variant watches over Jabba's prisoners Han Solo and Luke Skywalker on Jabba's Sail
 Barge (set 6210).
 His reddish-brown arms and hands poke out from his unique sand green head and torso armor piece.

Gamorrean Guard

JABBA'S PIG GUARD

Bib Fortuna is Jabba the Hutt's eerie assistant. The Twi'lek minifigure decides who gets to speak to Jabba—and who doesn't. His minifigure only comes in two LEGO sets and in two variants, both dressed in dark blue robes with a metal chestplate and black cape. His chestplate protects him from armed intruders, but it's no good against Jedi mind tricks!

STAR VARIANT

Bygone Bib

The first Bib Fortuna variant dates back to 2003. This malevolent minifigure from Jabba's Message (set 4475) does not have the bared teeth of the 2012 variant, but he does have menacing red eyes and lips.

Unique hat piece depicts Bib's bulging head and fully grown Twi'lek tentacles

Metal chestplate protects against attacks made by Jabba's enemies

Bib is very old, and has lived in Jabba's palace for many years. His skin is pale and wrinkled from decades without sunlight

Unique torso is printed with a blue belt that fastens Bib's robes

Bib Fortuna

TWI'LEK ASSISTANT

Twi'leks

Four LEGO Star Wars Twi'lek minifigures have been released: Bib Fortuna, Aayla Secura (p.94), Hera Syndulla (p.147), and Oola (p.222). The Twi'leks have tentacles that clip onto a standard LEGO head piece, although Bib's are longer, because he is older.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9516 Jabba's Palace

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Cape

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9516
 Jabba's Palace
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 12
ACCESSORIES: None

Jabba's Palace (set 9516)

Minister bunch of minifigures side in Jabba's Palace. They include a B'omarr monk who y be ready to assist Jabba imprisoning Princess Leia!

Telepath response unit allows the monks to communicate silently with each other

The strangest creatures in Jabba's palace are the B'omarr monks. These ancient beings used to be fully alive, but now only their brains remain, attached to a spider-like droid body. The monk's minifigure is made from 12 pieces, and is exclusive to Jabba's Palace (set 9516). Just one earlier variant exists, from a 2003 set.

Brain jar

The transparent jar that houses the B'omarr monk's brain is an upside-down LEGO crystal ball piece! It has appeared in various sets in the LEGO Harry Potter, LEGO® Atlantis, and Fantasy Era themes.

LEGO crystal ball piece has a thick section of plastic at the top, which looks like a collection of fluid

Transparent orange stud piece is used as the brain

Disembodied brain of the original B'omarr monk is kept alive in a fluid-filled container

Droid legs are automated to carry the brain around Jabba's palace

B'omarr Monk

WALKING BRAIN

Oola

DANCING SLAVE

Oola dances for her life in just one LEGO set. This green Twi'lek minifigure is a slave to Jabba the Hutt and must put on a show for him whenever he wants. At first glance Oola may seem to enjoy life in Jabba's Palace, but she lives in constant fear that each dance might be her last.

Trap door
In Jabba's Palace (set 9516), there is an easy way to dispose of those no longer required. A trap door set in the floor sends unlucky minifigures down to Jabba's pet rancor beast. Is this a fate that awaits poor Oola?

A glamorous headdress is printed on top of Oola's Twi'lek lekku, or brain tail

Green head piece shows Oola's eyeshadow and lipstick, and her set "happy" smile

New, unique torso shows skimpy dancing costume chosen by Jabba

Metal ring allows Oola to be chained to Jabba

Net costume details continue on leg pieces

Terrified Twi'lek
Oola's head piece is double sided. One side shows Oola's face when she is dancing for Jabba. But it only takes a moment for Oola's expression to change to one of pure fear.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9516
Jabba's Palace
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Going green

Oola is not the only green Twi'lek in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. Hera Syndulla's minifigure (p.147) is also green-skinned. However, Oola is the only minifigure in the Star Wars theme with lime-green hands.

Jabba's Palace (set 9516)

Jabba the Hutt's Tatooine hideaway is always full of strange and unsavory minifigures. In the many years that Salacious B. Crumb has been there, he has seen it all—from carbonite-frozen smugglers to princesses masquerading as bounty hunters.

Salacious B. Crumb is a mischievous little minifigure. This Kowakian monkey-lizard is employed to make Jabba the Hutt laugh every day—or else! Crumb's 2012 minifigure is created from a single piece of plastic and comes in only one LEGO set. Jabba's jester can be found lurking in his master's palace, thinking of mean tricks to play on other minifigures.

Bat-like ears allow Crumb to overhear many secrets

Sharp yellow eyes—nothing escapes Crumb's notice

Prehensile monkey tail

One-piece wonders

Very few minifigures are formed from a single piece of plastic. Other examples in the LEGO Star Wars theme include Sebulba (p.15) and Aldar Beedo (p.18).

Well fed—a result of being Jabba's pet!

Crumb's base has a hole so he can fit onto a stud beneath him

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9516, Jabba's Palace
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 1
ACCESSORIES: None

Salacious B. Crumb
 JABBA'S JESTER

New droids in Jabba's palace report for work to the red and gray droid EV-9D9. With her wicked grin and deranged eyes, she is a scary-looking minifigure—and she enjoys watching other droids suffer! EV-9D9 is a distinctive droid, but fortunately for the droids in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy, this evil robot only comes in one set.

Jabba's Palace (set 4480)

EV-9D9 is exclusive to the 2003 Jabba's Palace set. The demented droid has her own workspace beneath Jabba's throne, where she assesses new droids and puts them to work. The set includes a computer monitor to keep track of the droids and a poor GNK droid who is at EV-9D9's mercy!

Unique head piece is attached upside down

Outlet for power coupler

Dark red torso piece also appears on the security battle droid on the Naboo Starfighter (set 7877)

Droid parts

Droids come in all shapes and sizes, but EV-9D9's minifigure is very similar to a battle droid (p.26). The same arm, leg, and torso pieces are used, although in different colors. Only the neck and head pieces are different.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2003
FIRST SET: 4480
 Jabba's Palace
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 6
ACCESSORIES: None

Although EV-9D9's leg piece is not unique, she is the only LEGO minifigure to have it in dark gray

EV-9D9
 SADISTIC DROID

Gaderffii stick was a gift from a tribe of Tusken Raiders, whom Malakili saved from a giant pomp rat

Rancor Pit (set 75005)

The rancor pit is situated beneath
Jabba's Palace in Jabba's Palace.
Unfortunate victims are thrown down as fodder for the beast.
Malakili is proud of how ferocious the rancor is.

Rancor's friend

Malakili's minifigure has a double-sided head. It can be reversed to show the fast wrangler's despair when Luke Skywalker defeats his beloved rancor.

Unique bare torso with chest hair details

Printed loin cloth

Brown hood piece is also worn by various Jedi, including Obi-Wan and Qui-Gon

Large physique from years of training and taming enormous beasts

Hooded, bare-chested Malakili is employed by Jabba the Hutt in one set, Rancor Pit (set 75005).
He previously worked in a circus, building up a reputation as a famed beast tamer. Now Malakili looks after Jabba's rancor, making sure that it is always hungry and angry enough to devour anyone who is thrown into its pit.

Malakili
RANCOR TAMER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75005
Rancor Pit
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
Gaderffii stick

Boushh is a highly regarded

Ubese bounty hunter, but this minifigure is not Boushh—it is Princess Leia in disguise! Leia dons Boushh's armor and mask for her 2012 minifigure so that she can enter Jabba's palace and rescue Han Solo. To complete the disguise, Leia holds a thermal detonator, knowing that the bounty hunter is famous for his love of explosives.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9516

Jabba's Palace

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 7

ACCESSORIES:

Lance blade, thermal detonator, hair

Lance blade for intimidation

Versatile princess

Princess Leia has appeared in 18 LEGO Star Wars sets in eight different guises, including her slave girl and Hoth outfits. This is her only minifigure that is in disguise.

Ubese clan belt clasp

Traditional tan-colored Ubese boots

Face of a princess

Underneath Boushh's helmet, Leia's head piece is immediately recognizable! It has been used for five other Princess Leia minifigures.

Unique helmet

Optically enhanced vision scanner

Built-in voice scrambler allows Leia to deceive Jabba

Bandolier packed full of explosives and detonators

Thermal detonator is a unique LEGO piece, created for this set and used in two later LEGO Star Wars sets

Boushh

PRINCESS IN DISGUISE

STAR VARIANTS

Two-handed

Jedi Knight Luke has flesh-colored hands in the 2006 Jabba's Sail Barge (set 6210). His head piece also appears on the 2006 pilot-Luke and on a 2007 young Obi-Wan.

Hooded figure

Four Jedi Knight Luke variants have a yellow face. This one has a black hood and a cape to keep a low profile in the Star Wars #2 LEGO minifigure pack (set 3341). He doesn't come with hair.

Handy

Jedi Knight Luke lost his right hand in a duel with Darth Vader. Just four variants of his minifigure have a black cybernetic hand—they include one in the 2008 Death Star (set 10188) and one in the 2010 Imperial Shuttle (set 10212).

Bone of a former victim of Jabba's rancor beast

All variants of Jedi Knight Luke have the same black legs

This head with Luke's distinctive eyebrows and chin dimple was new for 2013. It also appears on the Luke in Ewok Village (set 10236). The 2010 Han also has white in his eyes.

Dressed in black Jedi clothing, Luke Skywalker has become a brave Jedi Knight. This minifigure appears in 11 sets, and in almost all he has a slightly different look, with changes to his head and hand pieces. Often, his new green lightsaber is close at hand!

Gray and black torso piece appears on only one other variant of Luke as a Jedi Knight—the one in the Desert Skiff (set 9496)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75005

Rancor Pit

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Bone

Luke Skywalker
JEDI KNIGHT

Princess Leia

JABBA'S SLAVE

Demure Princess Leia is now a scantily clad slave girl—property of Jabba the Hutt! Leia's minifigure is dressed in a gold, green, and dark red slave outfit for the entertainment of the grotesque gangster, with a chain around her neck to keep her in her place. But Jabba better watch out for that chain—Leia might just manage to wrap it around his neck!

Hair piece with dark brown pony tail and gold accessories is unique to this slave girl Leia

Jabba's Sail Barge (set 75020)

Princess Leia is at the mercy of Jabba the Hutt on his sail barge. The cruel crime lord attaches a neck brace and chain to Leia's minifigure to keep his slave close by at all times.

STAR VARIANTS

Changing slave
A yellow-fleshed slave girl Leia appears in Jabba's Palace (set 4480), released in 2003. The flesh-colored variant in the 2006 Jabba's Sail Barge (set 6210) has the same face and slave outfit printing.

This head piece first appears on Leia in 2011, on the Hoth Echo Base (set 7879)

Neck brace appears on all the slave girl Leia variants except for her magnet minifigure

Jabba the Hutt forces Leia to wear this revealing gold slave-girl harness

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75020
Jabba's Sail Barge
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 6
ACCESSORIES: None

Leia's unique hips and legs are printed with a dark red silk skirt and gold harness briefs

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012

FIRST SET: 9496

Desert Skiff

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Vibro-ax

Double trouble—
Lando's ax-head is mounted on a spear!

Integrated face guard obscures Lando's unique, smiling face

Lando's dark brown skiff guard helmet is unique to this minifigure

Unique torso with orange tunic and silver chest armor

Desert Skiff (set 9496)

Lando delivers Luke and Han to the Sarlacc Pit on Jabba's sand planet. There, the minifigures will be fed to the ferocious Sarlacc beast!

STAR VARIANT

Mustachioed hero

Lando first adopts his guard disguise in Jabba's Sail Barge
(set 6210), released in 2006.
This variant's helmet is silver and his chest armor is gold.

Lando Calrissian is disguised as Tamtel Skreej, a skiff guard on the Desert Skiff (set 9496). Don't blow his cover, or he won't manage to rescue his friend Luke from the clutches of bounty hunter Boba Fett, who wants Luke to walk the plank and fall into the jaws of the ferocious Sarlacc.

Lando Calrissian

SKIFF GUARD

This 2012 minifigure makes a short appearance traveling aboard Jabba's Sail Barge. The Weequay guard jumps into the fray against Jabba's prisoners over the Great Pit of Carkoon. His surly expression may be some hint of his impending doom—despite his efforts and heavy weapon, this minifigure becomes just another meal for the hungry Sarlacc.

Just a few

Only three other Weequay minifigures exist—and they are all pirates: Hondo Ohnaka, Turk Falso (pp.92–93), and Shahan Alama (p.108).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75020

Jabba's Sail Barge

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES:

Vibro-ax

Unique printing depicts heavy leather vest for desert combat

Fearsome weapon constructed from LEGO spear and ax head

Leathery Weequay skin does not use same pattern as printed on previous Weequay minifigures

Jabba's guards are trained to strike without any hesitation

Long'hair

The back of this minifigure has a messy ponytail. The unique printing begins on the back of the head piece and trails down the back of the torso.

Jabba's Sail Barge Set 75020

Jabba's Sail Barge, Ree-Yees stands aboard his master's magnificent craft. With him are Jabba the Hutt, R2-D2, Princess Leia, Max Rebo, and the Weequay Miff Guard. All minifigures but Jabba are exclusive to this set.

Unique tan head mold with three eyes. Like all Grans, Ree-Yees has great vision

This shady Gran alien has fallen on hard times. Ree-Yees is getting by as a servant—albeit a reluctant one—of Jabba the Hutt, but he hopes to one day return to his home planet of Kinyen. He just needs to clear the criminal charges against him first! This minifigure, released in 2013 as part of Jabba's Sail Barge (set 75020), is the first Gran LEGO Star Wars minifigure.

Short blaster gun for self defense—maybe against Jabba the Hutt

Like his muzzle, his ears are hairless

Well fed

Ree-Yees' unique torso printing shows his distinctive pleated tunic. The pleats help to make room for two stomachs—a feature of all Grans, who eat infrequent, large meals.

Pleated tunic printed on torso. His wrinkly skin is visible at the V-shaped neckline

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75020
Jabba's Sail Barge
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
Blaster

REE-YEES
ALIEN LOWLIFE

This half-mad musician is a reckless character who will do anything for a free meal. In fact, his wages as Jabba the Hutt's personal keyboard player are paid entirely in food form! The Ortolan band leader played at Jabba's palace and was onboard Jabba's sail barge when Luke Skywalker arrived to rescue Han Solo. This minifigure appears in just one set.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75020

Jabba's Sail Barge

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: None

Jabba's Sail Barge (set 75020)

This is the only set to contain the blue Ortolan. Perhaps Max's sweet music will distract Jabba while prisoner Princess Leia, in slave costume, and R2-D2 make their escape.

Mad maestro

Max—real name Siiruulian Phantele—plays the nalargon keyboard, also known as a red ball jet organ. The wild performer has his own music room at the back of Jabba's barge.

Rubbery azure head piece is unique to this minifigure

Printed and molded eyes

Long Ortolan ears

Elephantine Ortolan trunk with raised "dimples"

Short, unposeable azure legs also appear on the young Boba Fett (p.37)

Max Rebo

BAND LEADER

STAR VARIANT

Ready to serve

R2-D2 first appeared as a sail barge waiter in 2006, aboard an earlier Sail Barge (set 6210). This variant has different printing on his minifigure and carries a black, less overloaded tray.

This is the 28th LEGO set to include R2-D2, but only the second to feature the lovable astromech droid in his waiter's guise. Forced to serve drinks to the guests aboard Jabba's Sail Barge (set 75020), R2-D2 is laden with a heavy tray of refreshments. Fortunately for the little droid, Luke Skywalker is nearby, and has a plan to rescue Artoo.

New, dark tan tray sits between head and body pieces

Full glass of Tatooine's finest

Luke's lightsaber is hidden behind panel

A bottle of Jabba's favorite wine

All variants of R2-D2's minifigure have the same white astromech leg pieces

Fortunately, Artoo has excellent balance

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75020
 Jabba's Sail Barge
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 8
ACCESSORIES: None

R2-D2

SAIL BARGE WAITER

Yet another of Jabba's motley crew of guards and ruffians, Kithaba looks every bit as scruffy as his peers. His minifigure has an aggressive face, worn desert clothes, and a basic LEGO pistol. His task is to guard Luke Skywalker and Han Solo as they are brought to the Great Pit of Carkoon. However, Kithaba doesn't realize that his fellow skiff guard is Lando Calrissian in disguise...

Desert Skiff (set 9496)

Kithaba appears in just one 2012 set, alongside skiff guard Lando, Luke Skywalker, and Boba Fett. In the 2000 version of Desert Skiff (7104), Kithaba is nowhere to be found—Luke and Han are left to their own devices!

Beanie lowdown

Kithaba's hat is a common accessory for LEGO Star Wars villains, particularly pirates. It is also worn by many minifigures in the LEGO® Pirates theme.

Red hat with a bandanna-like tie at the back

Unique head piece has olive-green skin (typical for Klatooinians) and bared teeth

Bandolier full of ammunition is printed around the back of the torso, too

Brown gloves protect against harsh desert conditions

Small pistol

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9496
 Desert Skiff
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Blaster

Kithaba

KLATOONIAN ASSASSIN

STAR VARIANTS

Top troopers

Two troopers in black helmets with chin-straps (far left) man the Death Star (set 10188), released in 2008. The new flared helmet style first appears in 2012 on the visor-wearing trooper (near left) on the TIE Fighter (set 9492).

With his stern countenance and somber black attire, the Imperial Navy trooper is an intimidating minifigure. He is part of a handpicked, elite fighting force that can handle any number of combat and non-combat roles. Most recently, he appears aboard the Imperial Star Destroyer (set 75055) along with Darth Vader.

With its extended neck guard, the Imperial Navy trooper's helmet looks a bit like Darth Vader's (p.145)

The Imperial pilot (p.236) and Imperial gunner (p.182) also have this head piece with printed headset

The Imperial navy trooper wears the same torso as the Imperial pilot (p.236). It features a black imperial tunic and utility belt

Black gloves complete the all-black look

The Imperial Navy trooper has a blaster to use when he requires it, but for many of his duties he remains unarmed

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75055
 Imperial Star Destroyer
NO. OF SETS: 3
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Imperial Navy Trooper
 FEARSOME FIGHTER

The Imperial pilot transports many high-ranking officials aboard the Imperial shuttle. He always dresses in a freshly pressed black uniform and cap because his next passenger might be Darth Vader—or even the Emperor himself! This minifigure has piloted the Imperial shuttle in two LEGO sets since 2001.

Head piece with printed headset also appears on the Navy trooper (p.235) and gunner (p.182)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75033 Star Destroyer (Microfighter)

NO. OF SETS: 3

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Updated torso printing shows the pilot's blaster-proof vest in more detail. The Imperial pilot does not fly battle craft, so he does not require the life-support equipment that TIE pilots wear (p.192)

STAR VARIANTS

Happy pilot

The original Imperial pilot has a yellow head. He also wears an all-black uniform, but with much less detail. This rare, cheerful pilot appears only in the 2001 Imperial Shuttle (set 7166).

Not so happy

The 2010 pilot from the Imperial Shuttle (set 10212) has the same torso as the first Imperial navy trooper (p.235) and the same cap as Juno Eclipse (p.280).

Star Destroyer (set 75033)

Flying this LEGO Star Destroyer microfighter from 2014, the pilot is on a mission to track down the rebels. His ship has two flick missiles.

Imperial Crew

An Imperial crew member in a gray suit appears in the 2014 Imperial Star Destroyer (set 75055).

Updated leg piece with printed details

Flesh-colored hands instead of flying gloves

STAR VARIANT

Original R2-Q5

The original variant of R2-Q5 comes with Imperial Star Destroyer (set 6211). This 2006 R2-Q5 has an identical body piece to the 2008 minifigure, but features less printing on the domed head piece.

R2-Q5 is an astromech droid with a secret. His black and bronze minifigure has been fitted with Imperial spying technology, so he is not to be trusted! Two variants of R2-Q5's astromech minifigure have appeared in two sets since 2006: He works aboard the Death Star (set 10188) and the Imperial Star Destroyer (set 6211).

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 10188

Death Star

NO. OF SETS: 3

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

R2-Q5 is printed with all the familiar tools and access panels of a typical astromech droid, but he also contains hidden spy devices

Radar eye can record surroundings

Identity crisis

When R2-Q5 was first released as a LEGO minifigure in Imperial Star Destroyer (set 6211) in 2006, the astromech droid was incorrectly labeled as "R2-D5" on the box.

Head piece is unique to this minifigure

Holographic projector reveals his secret findings

R2-Q5 is the only minifigure to have black LEGO Technic pins

Inference pulse stabilizers

R2-Q5

DECEPTIVE DROID

The mysterious Royal Guard is the Emperor's deadly personal bodyguard. His minifigure is dressed in a full crimson uniform and cape. Even his hands and eyes are concealed. In his bright and otherworldly uniform, the Royal Guard stands out among other minifigures—he'll make anyone think twice about attacking the Emperor!

STAR VARIANT

Spear holder

This Royal Guard variant with bright red arms and black hands has appeared in three sets since 2001. He wields a LEGO spear as his force pike.

Death Star Troopers (set 75034)

Two Royal Guards come with this 2014 battle pack, along with two Death Star gunners. Together, they will try to rebel attackers with their powerful laser cannon.

Vibroactive force pike employs vibrating energy to stun opponents

Unique hood mold designed especially for the Royal Guard

Standard black LEGO head piece makes it look like the Royal Guard minifigure is wearing a black visor

The Royal Guard is the only LEGO Star Wars minifigure to wear a bright red LEGO cloth mantle

The Royal Guard on the Imperial Shuttle (set 7166) has red hands, too, but carries a spear

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75034 Death Star Troopers

NO. OF SETS: 5

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Cape, force pike

Royal Guard

CRIMSON PROTECTOR

Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser (set 7754)

On board rebel ship Home One, Mon Mothma briefs the other rebel leaders about plans for the attack on the second Death Star. They gather in the command center around an orange hologram of the Death Star.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 7754 Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Cape

Unique torso printed with silver Chandrilian Freedom Medal

Same head piece as Princess Leia, another former senator

Princess Leia wears the same white cape in Gold Leader's Y-wing Starfighter (set 9495)

Tousled hair

Mon Mothma's tousled reddish-brown hair is the same piece as that used for the Clone Wars version of Anakin Skywalker's minifigure (p.52).

Former senator Mon Mothma is the Supreme Commander of the Rebel Alliance. In her all-white outfit and rare white LEGO cape, her minifigure commands respect from all the rebel leaders. Mon Mothma is exclusive to the LEGO Star Wars set Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser (set 7754), where she discusses the latest rebel plans to defeat the Empire.

Mon Mothma

REBEL COMMANDER

Admirable Admiral Ackbar

commands the rebel assault on the second Death Star from his flagship Home One (set 7754). Ackbar appears in just two LEGO sets—but his minifigure plays a pivotal part in LEGO Star Wars history! Ackbar is one of three Mon Calamari minifigures, but his unique commander's uniform makes him stand out.

Solid plastic Mon Calamari head with large, bulbous eyes. The Mon Calamari officer on the ship has the same head piece, and so does Nahdar Vebb (p.90)

Unique LEGO torso features a cream Mon Calamari naval jerkin over a white space suit

Metallic command insignia denotes Ackbar's high rank

Reddish-brown webbed hands

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 7754 Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser
NO. OF SETS: 3
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: None

Mon Calamari officer

This officer maintains and repairs the Home One (set 7754). His head-mold is the same as the admiral's, but his torso is unique. The protective bib protects his tan uniform from oil and dirt, while the utility belt has a pair of roomy storage pockets.

Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser (set 7754)

Admiral Ackbar coordinates the rebel assault on the second Death Star in this set. He has a swiveling and sliding command chair, and a tactical computer that can mount his laptop. The set even contains his coffee cup!

Special set

Admiral Ackbar also appears in the exclusive LEGO Star Wars Collectible Display Set 2, which was available for one day only at the 2009 San Diego Comic-Con. Crix Madesha (p.241) and Jedi Knight Luke Skywalker (p.227) were also included in the set.

Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser (set 7754)
 Together with other rebel leaders on Mothma, Admiral Ackbar, and Gial Ackbar, General Crix Madine plans the destruction of the second Death Star in preparation for the Battle of Endor.

General Crix Madine has not always been loyal to the rebel cause—he was once an Imperial Army officer—but he is now an important leader of the Rebel Alliance with invaluable insider knowledge. His minifigure is exclusive to just two limited edition LEGO sets, but he is there when it counts—the most crucial battle in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy!

Exclusive

The General Madine minifigure that appears in the very rare Collectible Display Set 2 has lighter colored legs. Made for the 2009 San Diego Comic-Con, only 300 of the limited-edition sets were produced.

General Crix Madine's happy, brown-bearded face is unique to his minifigure

Collar pips denote rank

Communications badge allows Madine to contact rebel command and other leaders

Black-gloved hands

This tan torso piece was created specifically for Madine's minifigure

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 7754 Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

General Crix Madine
 REBEL LEADER

General Lando Calrissian is one of the rebel generals on board the Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser (set 7754), which is in battle against the second Death Star. His minifigure has a unique LEGO cape which makes him even more boldly confident than usual! It appears to help him direct a particularly assertive attack on the colossal Imperial battle station.

Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser (set 7754)

It is the rebels' final assault on the second Death Star and Lando a general in this 2009. He spends a lot of time in the briefing area of the command center.

The brown sash across Lando's chest is a gun holster. He wears a matching brown utility belt for storing ammunition.

Lando carries a blaster during battle.

General Calrissian's reddish-brown head is also seen on his skiff guard minifigure (p.229). When he is a baron of Cloud City (p.212), he has a darker brown head.

Badge displays Lando's rank, as do the pips on his collar.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009
FIRST SET: 7754 Home One Mon Calamari Star Cruiser
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Blaster, cape

Classic cape

This minifigure's cape design appears on many other LEGO minifigures. However, the sand-blue color is unique to Lando. His cape denotes his authority and rank as a rebel general. It fastens with a blue cord.

Lando Calrissian

REBEL GENERAL

STAR VARIANTS

Yellow face

This yellow-faced variant appears in the 2000 LEGO set B-Wing at Rebel Control Center (set 7180). Apart from skin color, variations include a face with eyebrows and a translucent yellow visor instead of a black one.

Reddish-brown flying helmet with unique fluorescent green visor piece

The B-wing pilot is ready to fly the largest single-seat starship in the rebel fleet! His minifigure has appeared in three LEGO sets since 2000, always with his B-wing starfighter. Like his fellow rebel pilots, he wears a jumpsuit and a life-support pack, but he is distinguished by his uniform's bright red coloring.

Cheerful chap

This cheery pilot with a flesh-colored head flies the 2006 B-Wing Fighter (set 6208). He wears the same silver helmet with yellow and black printing as the 2000 variant, but his visor is translucent black, not yellow.

Pilot torsos

The first two B-wing pilot minifigures share a unique red torso, but with similar printing to that seen on many other rebel pilot minifigures, such as Y-wing pilot Dutch Vander (p.188), and X-wing ace Wedge Antilles (p.191).

Torso and leg pieces very similar to those used for fellow B-wing pilot Ten Numb (p.244)

Standard head piece printing shows the pilot concentrating hard

Life-support pack

The pilot wears a red jumpsuit

Black flight gloves

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75010
B-Wing Starfighter &
Planet Endor

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

B-Wing Pilot

SPACE ACE

Sullustan pilot Ten Numb flies a B-wing during the Battle of Endor. His rebel call sign is Blue Five. Ten is the only Sullustan minifigure to date, and his face is printed with creases that are a common Sullustan feature. The two very different variants of his minifigure appear in two LEGO Star Wars sets: B-Wing Fighter (set 6208) and B-Wing (set 75050).

STAR VARIANT
All in white
 Ten Numb sits in the cockpit of the 2006 B-Wing Fighter (set 6208) in a white jumpsuit with a unique torso. His unique head piece is protected by the same helmet as the skyhopper pilot (p.166) but in reddish brown.

Color confusion
 In Episode VI, Sullustan pilots wear red jumpsuits, like the B-wing pilot (p.243). The original Ten minifigure was created from a pre-production image that showed Ten dressed in a white jumpsuit.

Ten Numb

BLUE FIVE

Helmet with built-in headset features printing unique to this minifigure

Ten's unique tan Sullustan face is printed wearing a breathing mask

Torso and leg printing very similar to that seen on the 2014 B-wing pilot (p.243)

Ten carries a wrench in this set so he can carry out essential repairs

Parachute harness

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75050
B-Wing
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Wrench

STAR VARIANT

Rebel control

In the 2000 set B-Wing at Rebel Control Center (set 7180), the rebel technician wears a tan uniform and a tan cap.

He has a yellow LEGO head piece with a large mustache and stubble.

This standard, smiling LEGO expression has appeared on hundreds of LEGO minifigures

This helmet design can be seen in varying colors on many LEGO minifigures in other themes, including skateboarders in LEGO® Gravity Games

Unique torso with plain gray jacket that has pockets for storing repair equipment

Practical plain brown belt

The rebel technician has looked after the rebel fleet in four sets. He debuted in 2000 with a yellow LEGO head and tan uniform. In the 2006 A-Wing Fighter (set 6207), he switched to a flesh-colored head and gray uniform with a sturdier helmet for added protection. His simple uniform reflects his practical role in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy.

Engineer

The A-Wing Fighter (set 7134) from 2000 contains a rebel engineer minifigure, which is very similar to the original rebel technician. He has the same body and cap, but his face has a straighter mustache and no stubble.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2006

FIRST SET: 6207

A-Wing Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

A-Wing Fighter (set 6207)

The rebel technician rides around on a yellow transport cart, or military cargo speeder, with joystick controls. His cart has a ladder integrated into it. The technician uses the ladder to board the A-Wing fighter in this set.

Rebel Technician
REBEL MECHANIC

This valiant rebel began his anti-Empire crusade as a mechanic, sabotaging Imperial sites on the planet Contruum. He later joined the Rebel Alliance as their intelligence officer, managing a team of spies that spanned the galaxy. Cracken is no stranger to the front line, and he makes his minifigure debut in the 2014 B-Wing (set 75050).

B-Wing (set 75050)

The B-wing starfighter streaks into action, carrying General Cracken and fellow rebel minifigures Ten Numb and the Gray Squadron pilot. All three are exclusive to this 2014 set, which features a B-wing with foldable wings.

Going gray

General Cracken's hair piece has been worn by 118 minifigures, in eight colors, since 2008. This light bluish-gray color is new for 2014. It is also worn by Owen Lars in Sandcrawler-UCS (set 75059).

Rebel vest worn open to reveal undershirt

Cracken's unique head bears the lines and wrinkles of his 51 years

Pin indicates rank

Tan legs printed with creases and deep pockets

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75050
 B-Wing
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

General Airen Cracken
 MECHANIC TURNED REBEL

Rotating cockpit

The Gray Squadron pilot prepares for battle in the B-Wing (set 75050). Its rotating cockpit provides a clear view of whatever is ahead, so the craft's spring-loaded shooters are sure to hit their Imperial targets.

In the pink

In contrast to the pilot's gray suit, the visor on one side of his reversible head piece is a vivid pink color. He also has a determined expression, rather than a faint smile.

Breathing tubes printed on legs

Formed shortly after the Battle of Hoth, Gray Squadron is one of several rebel starfighter units who take their name from a color. While other rebel pilots wear brightly colored flight suits, the Gray Squadron pilot has a light gray suit with a unique helmet mold and new printed detail on his torso and legs.

Unique open-face helmet with identifying markings

Breathing apparatus worn over flight suit

Gray Squadron Pilot

REBEL FLYER

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75050

B-Wing

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

A-wing Pilot

REBEL AIRMAN

The A-wing pilot is part of a flying force known as Green Squadron because of their distinctively colored jumpsuits. His minifigure plays a crucial role in the Battle of Endor, flying his A-wing fighter in four LEGO Star Wars sets—most recently the 2013 A-Wing Starfighter (set 75003). There are four variants of his minifigure, each with subtle differences.

STAR VARIANTS

Yellow pilot

The original A-wing pilot has a yellow face with a printed headset and appears only in the A-Wing Fighter (set 7134), released in 2000. He also has a different helmet design than later variants.

Revealing visors

Two A-wing pilots appeared in sets in 2006 and 2009. Near-identical, the 2006 pilot from A-Wing Fighter (set 6207) has a dark visor, while the 2009 pilot has a yellow one.

Uh oh!

The alternate side to the pilot's head piece shows his dismay as the Imperial fleet approaches.

Unique helmet has been made with a brand new mold

Flying colors

Only the A-wing pilot minifigure wears a green flight suit in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. Most X-wing and Y-wing pilots wear orange, while most B-wing pilots wear red.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75003

A-Wing Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Wrench

The A-wing pilot's unique green torso features a flight vest and life-support unit

Dark green legs with white hips and parachute strap printing do not appear on any other minifigure

STAR VARIANT

Camouflaged

This 1999 variant wears a camouflage tunic to help him blend in with the foliage on Endor. He is pursued by two scout troopers on speeder bikes (set 7128).

Hair piece

Luke's short hair is a classic LEGO piece, but only Luke Skywalker minifigures wear it in tan LEGO Star Wars. However, it is seen in other themes, including LEGO Harry Potter and LEGO Soccer.

Green lightsaber blends in with the forest environment on Endor

Black cybernetic hand

Flip face

One side of Luke's double-sided head piece has a contented smile; the other has teeth bared in a grimace.

Luke's torso with printed tunic is unique to this minifigure

Luke Skywalker

HIDING OUT ON ENDOR

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 10236
 Ewok Village
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

Princess Leia

EQUIPPED FOR ENDOR

Rebel leader Princess Leia Organa is preparing to fight Imperial forces on Endor. This 2013 Leia minifigure with flowing dark brown hair in long braids is exclusive to the treetop Ewok Village (set 10236). Leia's natural diplomacy skills help her befriend five Ewok minifigures who also feature in the set.

STAR VARIANT

Active on Endor.

This 2009 Leia minifigure comes with The Battle of Endor (set 8038). She wears a unique camouflaged tunic and handy utility belt, but her hair remains regal—first seen on a queen in the LEGO Fantasy Era theme, it has a hole a crown can fit into.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 10236 Ewok Village
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Leia wears a loose-fitting dress with a printed bow and flower details. The printing continues on the back

Long hair piece was first seen in dark orange on the Forest Maiden in LEGO® Collectible Minifigures Series 9

Unique leg piece has printed dark tan bikini briefs, underneath skirt

Ragged-edged fabric skirt in dark tan was created especially for this minifigure

STAR VARIANTS

All kinds of commandos

Two commandos appear in The Battle of Endor (set 8038)—a bearded one with a backpack (left) and another who is frowning. A 2012 battle pack (set 9489) has more variants—a commando with stubble (right) and one who has a tan vest instead of an ammunition belt.

Angry and angrier

On the other side of the rebel commando's unique head, he is gritting his teeth. His fellow commando in the set has the same head as Galen Marek (p.279) and is clean-shaven.

Unique LEGO helmet provides camouflage in the forest

Christmas treat

A rebel commando is included in the 2013 LEGO Star Wars Advent Calendar. He has the same head as Boromir from the LEGO Lord of the Rings theme.

Three rebel commando variants have beards, but each is different

Five variants of this minifigure have this torso printing with the ammunition and utility belts. Two do not—they wear vests instead

Only two other LEGO Star Wars minifigures have sand-green legs: Onaconda Farr (p.79) and the Gamorrean guard (p.219)

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 10236 Ewok Village

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

The rebel commandos are on a mission to destroy the shield generator bunker! Six versions of the camouflaged commando appear in four LEGO sets. They all wear green fatigues with lots of printed detail, but each has a different head.

The 2012 and 2013 variants do not have backpacks.

Rebel Commando
CAMOUFLAGED WARRIOR

The Imperial scout trooper is often sent on dangerous missions on his own. His minifigure wears a specialized scout helmet and white armor that is more lightweight than regular stormtrooper armor. He also carries a powerful blaster. Four variants of the scout trooper minifigure have appeared in eight LEGO sets since 1999.

STAR VARIANTS

Second scout

An Imperial scout trooper with dark bluish-gray torso printing appears in two sets (2009 and 2011).

Under his helmet is a plain black head piece.

Battle scout

This scout trooper with a black head piece and printed face appears in a 2012 battle pack (set 9489). He teams up with a stormtrooper to take on two rebels.

Kashyyyk trooper

This helmet piece is used in sand-green for the 2005 Kashyyyk trooper minifigure in Clone Turbo Tank (set 7261). These troopers are based in the jungles of Kashyyyk, where they require camouflaged armor.

Black LEGO head piece is visible beneath the helmet, creating a visor effect

Black arms and leg pieces show the jumpsuit worn under the scout trooper's armor

Built-in comlink system can support long-distance communication

The scout trooper often undertakes long, solo missions. He carries survival rations with him at all times

Armored knee pads printed on black legs

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 10236 Ewok Village

NO. OF SETS: 8

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Visor head

The first scout trooper variant, released in 1999, has a yellow head printed with a black visor. The minifigure has appeared in three sets from 1999 to 2003.

STAR VARIANT

Shady character

The pilot of the 2007 AT-ST (set 7657) has the same head piece as the original General Veers minifigure (p.202). As well as the printed chin-strap, it has a printed visor that shields the driver's eyes from bright snow or harsh sunlight.

Anti-shock helmet is also worn by General Veers (p.202)

Head piece is the same as the Imperial Navy trooper's (p.235)

Unique torso features a utilitarian gray jumpsuit with black stitching and new printed pockets

Thick, black driving gloves

Stationed on Endor

The Imperial Army used AT-STs extensively on Endor to defend the shield generator there. The 2012 AT-ST pilot minifigure comes with a model of the forest moon as well as a miniature AT-ST.

Black belt with silver buckle

Driving the two-legged AT-ST (All Terrain Scout Transport) requires training and skill. Luckily, the AT-ST driver has been taught by Imperial experts. His gray-clad minifigure is exclusive to just two LEGO sets, where his jumpsuit and open-faced helmet allow him to sit comfortably in the AT-ST's cramped LEGO cockpit.

AT-ST Driver

GUARD IN GRAY

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9679 AT-ST & Endor
NO. OF SETS: 2
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Wicket W. Warrick

EWOK WARRIOR

Wicket Wystri Warrick is a wide-eyed Ewok, native to the emerald moon of Endor. He is a minifigure of firsts in two ways: he is the first Ewok to befriend Princess Leia in The Battle of Endor (set 8038), and one of the first Ewoks to appear in LEGO form. Wicket wears a distinctive orange hood that sets him apart from other LEGO Ewoks.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 10236 Ewok Village
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Spear

Detailed face printing is first seen on the 2009 design

LEGO Ewoks

Along with his fellow Ewok warrior Paploo (p.256), Wicket was one of the earliest LEGO Ewoks. Chief Chirpa (p.259) followed in 2009, while Logray and Tokkat appeared in 2011 (pp.257–258).

Unique head-and-torso sandwich-board piece has textured fur

Ewoks are small in stature, so Wicket has short, unposeable LEGO legs

STAR VARIANTS

Original Ewok

The original Wicket W. Warrick is all brown, with no printing on his head-and-torso piece. The variant appears exclusively in the 2002 set Ewok Attack (set 7139).

Hooded Ewok

This variant of Wicket's minifigure has a new orange hood on a head-and-torso piece and new printed detail on his face. It appears in the Battle of Endor set (8038) in 2009.

Wicket's dark orange hood has stitching where he once tore it

Village guard

Teebo uses his scouting skills to secure the Ewok's treetop home, Bright Tree Village. Teebo is fierce and tough. No stormtrooper will be able to strike without being seen.

Gurreck beast skull displayed on headdress

Spear for forest combat

Teebo's coloring is similar to Chief Chirpa, but Teebo has beige details on his nose and lips

Like his former mentor, Logray, Teebo carries medicines in his pouch

Teebo makes his first and only LEGO Star Wars appearance in the 2013 Ewok Village (set 10236). A staunch member of the Ewok tribe, Teebo used to be a scout, then became apprentice to the shaman Logray, and has now become a full warrior. His minifigure evidently enjoys his warrior status, proudly sporting a skull-covered headdress and carrying a spear.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 10236 Ewok Village

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Spear

Head piece

Teebo's head piece mold is exclusive to him and Logray (p.257). It is printed with his face, headdress, and fur down his front and back.

Teebo
EWOK WARRIOR

Like his good friend Wicket, Paploo is one of the first LEGO Ewoks. His minifigure has appeared in two sets, and in each he has a different look. His redesigned 2009 minifigure has printing on his face that makes him look more realistic than his 2002 counterpart. Paploo bravely fights alongside the rebels in The Battle of Endor (set 8038).

STAR VARIANT

First Paploo

The original Paploo minifigure has a combined head-and-torso piece that is entirely tan. The rest of his body is brown-colored. This variant appears exclusively in 2002's Ewok Attack (set 7139).

The Battle of Endor (set 8038)

The 2009 variant of Paploo is exclusive to this set. He appears alongside his friend Wicket W. Warrick and his uncle Chief Chirpa. The scout trooper minifigures in the set should hold on to their speeder bikes —Paploo might just steal one!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 8038

The Battle of Endor

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Bow and arrow, spear

Paploo has a distinctive orange feather pattern on his tan hood

Paploo has stitched up a tear in his hood

Paploo's furry head piece extends down to cover a plain reddish-brown torso piece

LEGO Ewoks' legs are unposeable

Paploo

BRAVE EWOK

Shaman spear

Logray carries a brown spear in LEGO Star Wars, but in Episode VI he carries a staff of power adorned with the bones and feathers of defeated enemies.

Brown LEGO spear

Flowing feathers

Logray's brown-feathered headdress runs down the back of his torso and his striped fur pattern continues.

Shaman medicine bag

This Ewok shaman and medicine man is suspicious of outsiders, so watch out or his minifigure might just put a curse on you! Logray is exclusive to the 2011 set Ewok Attack (set 7956). His striped fur, tribal headdress, medicine bag, and mysterious powers make him an unusual LEGO Star Wars minifigure.

Shaman headdress adorned with a churi bird skull and brown feathers

Striped, fur-textured head-and-torso piece was specially created for Logray's minifigure

Logray
EWOK SHAMAN

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011
FIRST SET: 7956 Ewok Attack
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES: Spear

This minifigure may not be very tall because of his short LEGO legs, but he is a good shot with his bow and arrow—especially when hidden high in the trees of Endor in Ewok Attack (set 7956). His green hood helps him hide in dense foliage. The black Ewok battles in only one LEGO set alongside his tribe's shaman, Logray.

Ewok Attack (set 7956)

Tokkat hides in a treetop den with fellow Ewok Logray in this 2011 LEGO Star Wars set. Will they manage to ambush the lone Imperial scout trooper on his speeder bike?

Combined head-and-torso piece is also seen on Wicket (p.254), Paploo (p.256), Chief Chirpa (opposite), and Ewok Warrior (p.260), but with different colors and printing

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7956 Ewok Attack

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Bow and arrow

Tokkat has a feather on his hood

Coarse rope holds Tokkat's hood shut

Ewoks carry primitive tools like this bow and arrow

Tokkat

EWOK SCOUT

The horns on Chief Chirpa's staff are also seen on Viking helmets in the LEGO® Vikings theme

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2009

FIRST SET: 8038

The Battle of Endor

NO. OF SETS: 2

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Staff

Leader of the Ewoks, Chief Chirpa is a wizened old minifigure who commits his tribe to the fight against the Empire in The Battle of Endor (set 8038). Chief Chirpa's tribe of Ewok minifigures may be small but they are fierce warriors when called into battle. Chirpa has a unique ruling staff that is topped with the horns of animals he has hunted.

Chirpa wears a reddish-brown hood with a rough tie and a trophy tooth from an animal he has hunted

Ewoks keep their ears free from their hoods so they are able to hear well when out hunting

Chirpa's ruling staff distinguishes him as the leader of the Ewok tribe

Underneath Chief Chirpa's combined head-and-torso piece is a plain, light bluish-gray minifigure torso

Ewok sandwich

All LEGO Ewoks have combined head-and-torso pieces. The front and back of the integrated torso covers a standard minifigure torso like a sandwich-board advertising sign.

Chief Chirpa

EWOK LEADER

An accomplished archer, the Ewok Warrior is the seventh LEGO Ewok. His prized bow and arrow is a key weapon in the defense of the Ewok Village (set 10236), alongside the other Ewoks' spears and staffs. The warrior's olive-green hood provides perfect camouflage up in the trees, allowing his arrows to take the enemy completely by surprise.

Lookout

The Ewok Warrior's small minifigure stands guard from the highest point of Bright Tree Village. From here, he can see the surrounding forest.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 10236

Ewok Village.

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: Bow and arrow.

Reverse of hood includes printed stitches, which repair a tear

Unique printed details on head piece gives a defined nose and mouth among the fur

Hand-carved bow and arrow for perfect aim

Green hood helps this dark tan minifigure blend into the trees of Endor

Short, dark tan legs

Ewok Warrior

UNNAMED HERO

May the Fourth be with you

Darth Revan's red-and-black minifigure is a 2014 exclusive. Released in a polybag to mark International Star Wars Day (May 4), it was only available on May 3–4, 2014.

Darth Revan is no ordinary Sith Lord. Formerly a Jedi, Revan became embroiled in the Mandalorian Wars before turning to the dark side. Revan's minifigure is just as mysterious as his own past—with a mask printed on his head piece and some very unusual robes, even for a Sith.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 5002123

(May the Fourth Exclusive polybag)

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:
Lightsaber, cape

Darth Revan

ANCIENT SITH

Ancient indeed

Darth Revan is the most ancient Sith to appear in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. He was born around 3994 BBY, about 3,900 years before Darth Sidious.

Mandalorian mask covers Revan's human face

Unique torso printed with Revan's mystical, Force-powered robes

Lightsaber skills enhanced by Revan's Jedi training

Standard LEGO cape is worn by many other Sith Lords

Metal-ringed belt with scarlet and silver sash

Loyal trooper Jace Malcom gives his all to defend the Old Republic in one LEGO set. His minifigure wears unique red and white armor aboard the Republic Striker-class Starfighter (set 9497), where he joins Jedi Master Satele Shan and astromech droid T7-O1 on a mission to defeat the Sith Empire.

Heavy weapon

Jace is known for operating heavy, destructive weapons. His minifigure comes with an enormous blaster cannon, which Jace is trained and ready to use.

Combat knife in sheaf on chest

Unique torso printed with intricate armor details, front and back

Head piece used for only one other minifigure—the bounty hunter in Jek-14's Stealth
Starfighter (set 75018)

Determined expression, detailed with stubble and scar printing

Game character

Jace Malcom appears in the 2011 video game, Star Wars: The Old Republic. In the game, Jace's armor is more of an orangey-red than his minifigure's.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9497
Republic Striker-Class
Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster
cannon

Jace Malcom
OLD REPUBLIC WARRIOR

Sith Fury-Class Interceptor (set 9500)

Darth Malgus leads two Sith Troopers into battle aboard his Sith Interceptor. Sitting in his cockpit, Malgus's minifigure uses the control panel to steer his ship toward Old Republic targets.

Darth Malgus leads the armies of the Sith Empire against the Old Republic. The destruction he wreaks is impressive, especially since his minifigure appears in just one LEGO set. Malgus never shies away from a fight, even after suffering brutal injuries. His all-unique minifigure is scarred, battle damaged, and wears a respirator device at all times.

Respirator piece fits between head and torso pieces. It is unique to Darth Malgus

Printed details include battle scars and fearsome eyes

Crimson-bladed lightsaber

Black and gray armor is printed on both sides of torso and continues onto legs

Malgus's cape is exclusive to his minifigure. It has one hole, in contrast to the standard two-hole LEGO cape

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9500 Sith Fury-Class Interceptor
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 5
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber, cape

Darth Malgus

LORD OF THE OLD SITH EMPIRE

The Jedi Consular heads out on a peace-keeping mission in the Old Republic. Her minifigure wears white Jedi robes and a traditional Mirialan headdress. Although Jedi Consulars generally do not engage in battle, this minifigure always keeps her double-bladed lightsaber close.

These are dangerous times, after all.

Jedi Defender-Class Cruiser (set 75025)

The Consular travels across the galaxy on board the heavily-armored Jedi Cruiser. The starship has storage space for important Jedi cargo, and is equipped with missile launchers for defense.

Traditional Mirialan face tattoos printed on unique head piece

White Mirialan headdress is worn in black by fellow Mirialan Jedi Luminara Unduli

Gold printing depicts beautiful consular robes

Most Jedi Consulars have green-bladed lightsabers

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75025 Jedi Defender-Class Cruiser

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Double-bladed lightsaber

Top trio

Jedi Consular is the third Mirialan minifigure to be released. The other two are also Jedi, and also female: Luminara Unduli (p.57) and Barriss Offee (p.101).

Hidden holocrons

The Jedi Cruiser's hold contains a top secret cargo of holocrons.

These archives of Jedi history are incredibly valuable, so the Jedi Knight conceals them in gray crates.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75025 Jedi Defender-Class Cruiser

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:
Lightsaber

Zabrak horns are a special piece that sits atop head piece

This striking Jedi Knight

minifigure appears in just one LEGO set, accompanying the Jedi Consular onboard the Jedi Cruiser. Fiercely determined to confront dark side Force-users and defend the Old Republic from the Sith, the Jedi Knight carries a blue lightsaber—and he is not afraid to use it.

Piercing orange eyes intimidate Sith enemies

Unique printing shows green armor beneath brown Jedi robes

Facial tattoos are a Zabrak rite of passage

Blue lightsaber has destroyed countless enemies

Utility belt holds various communication devices

Inspiration?

It is possible that this minifigure is based on the character of Kao Cen Darach, from the video game Star Wars: The Old Republic. Kao Cen Darach is a Zabrak who wears Jedi robes over his green armor.

Jedi Knight
OLD REPUBLIC HERO

With his rare black-hilted lightsabers, masked, hooded face, and glowing red eyes, this is one minifigure not to be crossed. The Sith Warrior is trained to use his dark side powers on the battlefield, defeating enemies with enormous strength and no mercy. This minifigure battles enemies of the Sith Empire in just one LEGO set.

The Sith warrior is the only minifigure to wear a dark red hood

Silver mask protects face during battle—and frightens enemies

Chest plate protects against blaster fire

Belt buckle secures protective armor in place

Sith warriors use a forceful lightsaber technique, often favoring dual or double-sided blades

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75025
Jedi Defender-Class Cruiser
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Twin lightsaber

Behind his back
 The Sith Warrior's unique torso design includes a detailed reverse which shows the minifigure's silver armor and the straps of his metal belt.

Sith Warrior

DARK SIDE SOLDIER

Black hilt

Although the black hilt piece has been used to create various weapons and instruments in the LEGO Star Wars theme, this is the first time it has been used as a lightsaber hilt!

About faces

There are two variants of the Republic Trooper in Republic Troopers vs. Sith Troopers (set 75001). The only difference between them is the head piece. One has a stern expression and chin dimple; the other has lighter eyebrows and lines on his face.

These fearless warriors were in the thick of the action during the Great Galactic War. This epic struggle between the Old Republic and the returning Sith Empire cost the lives of many Republic troopers, but this new minifigure from the 2013 Republic Troopers vs. Sith Troopers (set 75001) seems to have survived unscathed.

New mold helmet has orange markings and gray breathing filter

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75001

Republic Troopers vs. Sith Troopers

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Heavy blaster

Orange stripe continues on torso. The back is printed with armor plate

Blaster gun is powerful but heavy and hard to handle

Knee pads printed on legs.

Republic Trooper

OLD REPUBLIC WARRIOR

Satele Shan

OLD REPUBLIC JEDI

Jedi Master Satele Shan is a powerful Force-user and fierce warrior for the Old Republic. She sometimes wears traditional Jedi robes, but her minifigure is dressed in olive green combat attire and holds her saberstaff at the ready. Shan plunges into battle in one LEGO Star Wars set, joining Jace Malcom aboard the Republic Striker-Class Starfighter (set 9497).

Blue-bladed saberstaff has been destroyed many times in battle, only to be replaced by a similar one

This head piece also appears on Wonder Woman in the LEGO® DC Super Heroes theme

Battle cry
Satele Shan might be a calm Jedi Knight, but when she charges onto the battlefield, her double-sided head piece reveals her fierce determination.

Long hair
In addition to the printed braids on her torso, Shan also wears a hair piece with a long ponytail. The same hair piece appears on Cardio Carrie in The LEGO® Movie theme.

Printed braids on front and back of torso

Gold details continue on hip and leg pieces

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9497
 Republic Striker-Class Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES:
 Saberstaff

Republic Striker-Class Starfighter (set 9497)

T7-01's minifigure helps Jedi Master Satele Shan pilot this sleek Republic starfighter as they race to warn the Old Republic of a new Sith threat.

Complex build

Most astromech droids are built from just four LEGO pieces, but T7-01's unusual minifigure has 15. His unique build reflects how astromechs had a different appearance during the days of the Old Republic.

Third wheel

T7-01's minifigure has a third leg at the back, which rolls on a wheel piece. No other LEGO astromech is built with this feature.

Unique printing of astromech circuitry decorates the 3x3 and 2x2 dish pieces that make up T7-01's head

Gray tile with unique printed details shows the extending arms and metal panels that cover T7-01's body

Leg pieces secured by Technic pins are the only parts of T7-01's minifigure that are the same as other LEGO astromechs T7-01 is an unusual astromech droid. Not only is he the only Old Republic-era astromech to exist in LEGO form, but he is also built from non-standard LEGO astromech parts. T7-01's minifigure works alongside many Jedi partners during the Galactic War, including Satele Shan. He is primarily a pilot and repair droid, but he has proved himself even more useful during battle.

T7-01 OLD REPUBLIC ASTROMECH

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2012
FIRST SET: 9497
Republic Striker-Class
Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 15
ACCESSORIES: None

This menacing Sith trooper minifigure was released in two sets in 2013. His serious face is concealed behind a specially designed helmet, while detailed armor covers his body. A soldier for the Sith Empire, the trooper has no Force powers himself but his faceless appearance is usually enough to scare enemies away! Failing that, he can always rely on his intimidating blaster.

Face facts

Beneath their helmets, both black-armored Sith trooper variants have the same head piece as Loki in the LEGO® Marvel Super Heroes theme and Bruce Wayne in the Batman™ theme. The red-armored trooper has a slightly different face, with an extra crease between the eyes and to the left of his mouth.

STAR VARIANTS

Sith soldiers

The 2012 Sith trooper (left) also wears a black helmet and armor, but his legs have no printing. Another variant fights alongside the 2013 trooper in set 75001. He has red armor, and slightly different printing on the helmet.

Sith Empire symbol on helmet

Hover speeder

The Sith trooper pilots his hover speeder in Republic Troopers vs. Sith Troopers (set 75001). The speeder has a control panel and two flick-fire missiles to aim at Republic foes.

New LEGO mold created for Sith trooper helmet

Full-body armor with red, silver, and blue details, which continue on the back

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 9500 Sith Fury-Class Interceptor

NO OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Legs with red armored knees are unique to this minifigure

Jedi Scout Fighter (set 75051)

Jek-14's superfast starship has a large cargo hold with space for all the Jedi holocrons. Rusty joins Jek-14 in the cockpit, which can also be used as an escape pod if necessary.

T-shaped face leads some to call Ithorians "hammerheads"

Rusty learned his lightsaber skills from Yoda

Orange-brown Jedi robes printed on front and back of torso

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014
FIRST SET: 75051
 Jedi Scout Fighter
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 3
ACCESSORIES:
 Lightsaber

The first Ithorian minifigure appeared in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy in 2014, one of just 13 Yoda Chronicles minifigures. He has a new curved head piece with a long neck and T-shaped head. Known as Rusty, this Jedi is Obi-Wan's old classmate—although Obi-Wan has trouble remembering him. Rusty travels across the galaxy with Jek-14, protecting a top-secret stash of holocrons.

Holocrons

On a mission to keep the holocrons away from the Sith, Rusty saves the day by securing them on board a damaged starship.

Unique printing on legs and hips

Ithorian Jedi Master HOLOCRON PROTECTOR

Jek-14 is a Sith clone, created by Count Dooku from a powerful Kyber crystal. Jek's minifigure has appeared in three sets since 2013, defying his Sith creator and joining forces with the Jedi. His 2014 minifigure pilots the Jedi Scout Fighter (set 75051) in new all-white armor with silver and black details—but he still has his distinctive translucent blue right arm.

Stormtrooper-style helmet, with printed details unique to this minifigure

Unique leg piece with gray and white leg armor

Lightning arm can produce Force lightning of incredible power

STAR VARIANT

Supercharged

Jek-14 first appeared in 2013, wearing different armor. His double-sided head piece has remained the same, across both variants, printed with Jek's electric blue eyes, lightning details, and a crazy expression.

Comic-Con exclusive

The exclusive Jek-14 Mini Stealth Starfighter set was available only at San Diego Comic-Con in July 2013. It included the 2013 variant of Jek-14. Just 1,000 sets were distributed.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75051 Jedi Scout Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Lightsaber

Jek-14
SITH CLONE

Back view

The printed detail of RA-7's body casing and abdominal wiring continues on the reverse of his unique torso.

New insectoid head mold created for RA-7

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2014

FIRST SET: 75051

Jedi Scout Fighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 3

ACCESSORIES: None

RA-7 protocol droids are less intelligent than 3PO-series droids. This minifigure, therefore, has a much blander personality than other protocol droids, such as C-3PO. He does, however, have a unique head piece, designed especially for him. RA-7 appears in just one LEGO set, accompanying Jek-14 and the Ithorian Jedi Master aboard the Jedi Scout Fighter (set 75051).

Large eyes enable this type of droid to be particularly observant of its surroundings

Worn, faded silver plating continues from torso to leg pieces

Basic metal casings are commonly used to cover RA-7 circuitry

RA-7 Protocol Droid

DULL-WITTED DROID

This bounty hunter is so mysterious, his minifigure doesn't even have a name! He tries to capture Jek-14 in one LEGO set, using his blaster rifle to intimidate the Sith clone. The bounty hunter wears olive and brown armor, which helps provide camouflage when he is in the jungle, but it won't be much use on board Jek-14's Stealth Starfighter (set 75018). This bounty hunter might not fulfill his mission this time...

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75018

Jek-14's Stealth
Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Blaster rifle.

New helmet

The bounty hunter's new helmet mold is unique to his minifigure. It is based on a Mandalorian design.

Facing a bounty

This minifigure has the same head piece as Jace Malcom (p.262). It is printed with stubble, scars, and a disgruntled expression.

Long range
blaster rifle for tracking down prey

Unique printing shows a basic helmet with a hinged jaw piece

Pouches on utility belt contain ammo,
restraining equipment,
and comms devices

Bounty Hunter

SEPARATIST AGENT

Getting a head

R4-G0's minifigure appears in just one LEGO set, although his head piece is also included in the 2013 Comic-Con exclusive set, Jek-14 Mini Stealth Starfighter.

Stealthy droid

R4-G0 fits snugly into the droid socket aboard the stealth starfighter. Jek-14 finds the astromech incredibly helpful during secret missions.

Conical head piece does not have as many display sensors as R2-series droids

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013
FIRST SET: 75018
 Jek-14's Stealth Starfighter
NO. OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: None

Two sockets for external devices resemble eyes

System ventilation

Unique red and gray printing depicts the usual astromech components

Interference pulse stabilizers

R4-G0
 JEK-14'S ASTROMECH

Special Forces Clone Trooper

ELITE TROOPER

I II CW III R IV V VI L

As a Special Forces clone trooper, everything about this minifigure is unique—apart from his face printing. Dressed in bright blue durasteel armor, this trooper wears a pauldron with unique printed details and carries a blaster and shield. Trained and equipped for special missions, will this trooper be able to capture the rogue Sith clone Jek-14?

Special Trooper

An exclusive Special Forces Commander appears in a white and blue suit in the 2013 release of LEGO Star Wars: The Force Awakens published by Dorling Kindersley.

Specialist clone

Although this minifigure is trained for special ops, he is still a clone. His minifigure shares a head piece with 19 other clone troopers.

Ensign of Special Forces

Narrow eye slits provide increased protection

Stormtrooper helmet mold with unique printing

Shoulder pauldron shows rank

Utility belt holds specialist gear

Blaster shield protects from deadly enemies

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2013

FIRST SET: 75018

Jek-14's Stealth Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES: Blaster, shield

Flight mask

The V-wing pilot wears the same flight mask head piece as the clone pilot—but in black. Printed silver goggles cover his eyes.

Emergency!

A parachute and oxygen tank are printed on the back of the V-wing pilot's torso, so he is prepared for any emergency.

The Imperial V-wing pilot flies the high-speed repurposed starship for the Empire following the end of the Clone Wars. His minifigure features elements from clone and Imperial trooper armor. He is built from the exact same pieces as the clone pilot (p.123), but with black Imperial coloring. His V-wing uniform is very similar to the TIE pilot's (p.146).

Imperial symbols

Breathing apparatus in helmet is connected to the air supply by two tubes

Utility belt is attached to the parachute on the pilot's back

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7915 Imperial V-Wing Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Self-contained armor has a life support pack that enables breathing in space

V-Wing Pilot
IMPERIAL ACE

Imperial droid R2-Q2 helps the V-wing pilot navigate his starship. His minifigure is built from standard LEGO astromech droid pieces but they are a unique pearlescent gray color. R2-Q2 contains the data for one the most comprehensive maps of the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. The Imperial army wants to keep this valuable droid safe, so he only appears in one set.

Imperial V-Wing Starfighter (set 7915)

R2-Q2 plugs into a socket on the V-wing starfighter. The starfighter has rotating wings and an opening cockpit with controls for the pilot.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2011

FIRST SET: 7915 Imperial V-Wing Starfighter

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: None

Perfect fit

In the Star Wars galaxy, V-wing fighters are designed to carry Q7-series droids, but in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy, R2-Q2 fits perfectly into the V-wing model, which he helps to navigate and repair.

Compartment houses a periscope

R2-Q2 acquires all his data through his photoreceptor

R2-Q2 can project a hologram of his galactic map from his holoprojector

R2-Q2 uses his computer interface arm to search the Tantive IV for Princess Leia's hidden Death Star plans

Astromech body piece is printed with the same pattern as most LEGO Star Wars astromech droids

Pearl light-gray leg pieces are not found in any other LEGO sets

R2-Q2

IMPERIAL ASTROMECH

Rogue Shadow (set 7672)

Galen Marek is mysteriously named only as "Vader's Apprentice" on the packaging for this 2008 set.

Galen Marek is Darth Vader's secret apprentice, codename Starkiller. His real name has been revealed only to some and his minifigure is elusive, too, appearing in just one 2008 set. He cuts an untidy figure with his unique torso that is printed with bandages and battle-damaged training gear.

Standard black LEGO hair piece

Tan head piece with worried expression is also used for a frowning variant of the rebel commando (p.251)

There are blood stains on the front of Galen's ripped shirt and he has different colored arms to represent a sleeve having been torn off in battle with Darth Vader

Same lightsaber hilt piece as Darth Vader's from the same set (p.281)

All in a name

Galen Marek is named as "Vader's Apprentice" on the LEGO box because the video game Star Wars: The Force Unleashed had not yet been released and the LEGO Group didn't want to give too much away!

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 7672 Rogue Shadow

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber

Standard black legs and hip piece have been used for many LEGO minifigures

Galen Marek

STARKILLER

Juno Eclipse is a high-ranking Imperial officer who works closely with Darth Vader and his secret apprentice on board the Rogue Shadow (set 7672). Her LEGO minifigure is distinctive, with unique torso and head pieces and interchangeable cap and hair for when she is piloting or on land.

Rogue Shadow (set 7672)

Juno Eclipse is the pilot of Rogue Shadow, which transports Darth Vader's apprentice across the LEGO Star Wars galaxy. It is a cumbersome ship to pilot, but Juno is a highly decorated pilot in the Imperial Navy and is more than capable.

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 7672 Rogue Shadow

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES: Cap, blaster

Tan hair piece has a ponytail at the back

Unique LEGO head piece is printed with bangs that can be seen when Eclipse is wearing her black cap

Printed feminine curves, a unique red-and-yellow rank insignia, and a new belt design makes Juno's uniform differ from the Imperial Navy trooper and Imperial pilot (pp.235-236)

Code cylinders allow high-ranking officers access to high-security areas

Kepi cap

As well as her ponytail head piece, Juno comes with a standard LEGO kepi cap in this set.

Girl power

Although there are lots of female minifigures in the LEGO Star Wars galaxy, Juno Eclipse is the only female Imperial minifigure to make an appearance.

Repurposed

Vader's damaged helmet piece is not an exclusive mold—having featured as underwater headgear in other LEGO themes, including Aquasharks and Hydronauts.

Helmet was damaged during a fight with Galen Marek and Juno Eclipse

Head piece shows Darth Vader's badly damaged mask and injured face

Normal helmet

The Rogue Shadow set includes Darth Vader's normal helmet as well as the battle-damaged version.

Vader's metal suit has been torn and broken in combat

Wires hang from the Sith Lord's torso after a hard-fought battle

Light bluish-gray hilt is the same as Galen Marek's (p.279)

This is the only Star Wars minifigure with one black leg and one gray leg

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2008

FIRST SET: 7672 Rogue Shadow

NO. OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 4

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber, helmet

Darth Vader DAMAGED SITH LORD

With his specialist training and distinctive, shadow-colored armor, the shadow trooper minifigure is ready for his next mission as part of an elite team of shock troopers assigned to the Empire's mysterious Shadow Guard. Two shadow trooper minifigures appear in the Shadow Troopers battle pack (set 75079).

Second shadow

An earlier shadow stormtrooper minifigure was released in 2007. As a member of an elite stormtrooper squadron, his armor is also based on stormtrooper armor, but is completely black with blue and gray details. He appears in two LEGO sets.

Stony faced

The shadow trooper's head piece is printed with the same grumpy expression as 23 other trooper minifigures.

Stormtrooper helmet mold, but details are designed to look like a scary skull

Stud shooter blaster fires red ammo at approaching enemies

Helmet details are similar to those found on stormtroopers

Armor is rumored to be laced with durasteel fibers, giving it a shadowy appearance

First pearl dark gray minifigure to be released

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015
FIRST SET: 75079
 Shadow Troopers
NO OF SETS: 1
PIECES: 4
ACCESSORIES: Blaster

Shadow Trooper

ELITE STORMTROOPER

Large lightsaber staff requires specialist training to handle effectively in a duel

Same helmet as Royal Guard minifigure—but in black

Part of an elite unit within the Emperor's Royal Guard, the shadow guard is a Force-user who takes orders from the Emperor himself. His mysterious minifigure wears all-black robes with a cape and a helmet with a red visor—in a style similar to the Royal Guard minifigure. He brandishes a lightsaber staff—particularly useful during battles against troublesome Jedi enemies.

Shadow Troopers (set 75079)

A pair of Shadow Guard minifigures lead a mission against the Empire's enemies in this set. They are joined by shadow troopers on a well-equipped speeder.

Plain black robes are both functional and ceremonial

DATA FILE

YEAR: 2015

FIRST SET: 75079

Shadow Troopers

NO OF SETS: 1

PIECES: 5

ACCESSORIES:

Lightsaber staff

Staff made of lightsaber-resistant phrik alloy

Sweeping cape gives an air of authority

Shadow Guard

FORCE-SENSITIVE SOLDIER

Interview: Jakob Liesenfeld

LEGO® STAR WARS® DESIGN MANAGER

Tell us about your role in the LEGO Group.

As the design manager for LEGO® Star Wars® graphic design, I have to think about the entire range—what new characters we are going to do, what new elements they need—all the early, big decisions. From there, I'll brief the designers and approve the finished designs. Plus I still try to do a few designs myself!

How do you choose which minifigures to make?

It's always a balance to find the right characters. We have to think about how important a character is in the Star Wars universe, as well as their aesthetic: what is the coolest, most interesting thing about a particular character that we can show in minifigure form?

How do you choose the exclusives?

Again, it's a balance, because we want the popular figures to be readily available, but we also want exclusives that will excite the fans. And with a long-running universe like Star Wars, we can't do everything at once—we have to hold some things back for when the right set comes along.

Why was Boba Fett right for this book?

This book is for people who appreciate the entire Star Wars universe, so we chose something to appeal to fans who are aware of the beautiful concept art of Ralph McQuarrie. The original concept was that Boba Fett was a sort of specialized stormtrooper—so all in white. I think it's truly something!

What is the process of creating a LEGO Star Wars minifigure?

We come up with an idea and send a detailed drawing with notes to Lucasfilm. We have a great relationship with them and both sides are really good at finding solutions when, for example, a Star Wars character has colors that aren't in the LEGO palette. When we get the OK, we use vector graphics software and sculpts to make the minifigure, which we then send to Lucasfilm for their final approval.

What is the biggest challenge in that process?

A movie costume will often have a lot of detail, so it's hard to choose what to include, what to hint at, and what to leave out. Fans really like our high level of detail, but we don't want to overload the design. Often it's the details that make the character—like the dirt on a trooper's uniform, or wrinkles in Han's outfit.

Why do some minifigures get redesigned?

We try to keep everything at the same level—and we're always raising the bar. Back when we started LEGO Star Wars, the production limitations were different. On our first Boba Fett, for example, the helmet and jetpack were all one piece, so you couldn't turn his head. Now you can!

Which LEGO Star Wars minifigure is your favorite?

The stormtrooper is both my favorite Star Wars design and my favorite minifigure (p.160). When I started out as a LEGO designer, I always hoped I'd get a chance to do my own version of the stormtrooper. I did, so now I'm really happy!

MEET THE TEAM

Martin Fink Designer

Jakob Liesenfeld
Design Manager

Paul-Constantin Turcanu
Designer

Marie Sertillanges
Junior Designer

This index lists each minifigure featured in this book alphabetically, along with its page number to help you find your favorites. For super fans, we have also added the reference number of every LEGO set in which each minifigure has ever appeared. This includes all variants of the minifigures. The number of variants is also given in brackets.

Index of Minifigures

AN ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINIFIGURES FEATURED IN THE BOOK, PLUS FULL DETAILS OF SETS

2-1B p.143 8096, 7879 [2]
212th Battalion Trooper p.134 75036 [1]
212th Clone Trooper p.68 75013 [1]
41st Elite Corps Trooper p.135 75035, 75042 [1]
41st Kashyyyk Clone Trooper p.135 75035 [1]
501st Clone Pilot p.69 75004 [1]
501st Clone Trooper p.68 75002, 75004 [1]
A-Wing Pilot p.248 7134, 6207, 7754, 75003 [4]
A4-D p.91 8095 [2]
Aayla Secura p.94 8098 [1]
Admiral Ackbar p.240 7754, 75003 [1]
Admiral Firmus Piett p.201 10221 [1]
Aerial Trooper p.137 7261 [1]
Agen Kolar p.130 9526 [1]
Agent Kallus p.156 75083 [1]
Ahsoka Tano p.58 7675, 7680, 7751, 8037, Comic-Con Exclusive, 8098, 853037, 75013, 75046 [2]
Airborne Clone Trooper p.136 75036 [1]
Aldar Beedo p.18 7159, 7186 [2]
Anakin Skywalker (CW) p.52 7669, 7675, 7680, 8037, 8098, 7931, 7957, 9515, 9494, 9526, 75038, 75046 [6]
Anakin Skywalker (Fallen Jedi) p.142 7251, 8096 [2]
Anakin Skywalker (Jedi Knight) p.121 7256, 7257, 7283, 9494, 9526, 75038 [5]
Anakin Skywalker (Padawan) p.34 7113, 7133, 75021 [3]
Anakin Skywalker (Parka Gear) p.95 8085 [1]
Anakin Skywalker (Podracer) p.12 7141, 7131, 7171, 7159, 7660, 7877, 7962 [4]
ARC Trooper p.66 9488 [1]
ARF Trooper p.66 7913, 9488 [2]
Asajj Ventres p.73 7676, Comic-Con Exclusive, 7957, 75087 [3]
ASP Droid p.174 10014 [1]
AT-AT Driver p.203 4483, 10178, 8084, 8129, 75054 [4]
AT-DP Driver p.155 75083 [1]
AT-ST Driver p.253 7657, 9679 [2]
Aurra Sing p.107 7133 [1]
B-Wing Pilot p.243 7180, 6208, 75010 [3]
B'omarr Monk p.221 4480, 9516 [2]

Bariss Offee p.101 8091, 9491 [2]
Battle Droid p.26 7121, 7141, 3343, 7155, 7184, 7126, 7258, 7261, 7654, 7662, 7675, 7670, 7678, 7681, 7748, 8018, 30004, 8091, DK Publishing Exclusive, 7868, 7869, 7929, 9515, 30058, 75023, 75037, 75042, 75043, 75044, 75058, 75086 [5]
Bespin Security Guard p.214 6209, 75060 [2]
Bib Fortuna p.220 4475, 9516 [2]
Biggs Darklighter p.189 7140, 7142 [1]
Bith Musician p.177 75052 [1]
Blue Astromech p.125 75051 [1]
Boba Fett p.210 3341, 4476, 7144, 6209, 6210, 8097, 9496, Celebration VI Exclusive, 75060 [9]
Boba Fett (White) p.210 30th Anniversary Exclusive, DK Publishing Exclusive [2]
Boba Fett (Young Clone) p.37 7153, 75023 [2]
Bomb Squad Trooper p.63 7913 [1]
Bossk p.208 8097 [1]
Bounty Hunter p.274 75018 [1]
Boushh p.226 9516 [1]
Buzz Droid p.126 7252, 7283, 7751, 75041, 75044 [2]
C-3PO p.161 7190, 7106, 4475, 4504, 10144, 10188, 10198, 8092, 8129, 9490, 10236, 75059 [5]
C1-10P p.148 75048, Comic-Con Exclusive [1]
Cad Bane p.97 8128, 8098, 75024 [2]
Captain Antilles p.162 10198 [1]
Captain Jag p.140 8088 [1]
Captain Panaka p.11 7961 [1]
Captain Rex p.65 7675, Comic-Con Exclusive, 7869, 75012 [3]
Chewbacca p.133 3342, 7190, 7127, 4504, 7260, 6212, 10179, 10188, 8038, 7879, 7958, 7965, 9516, 10236, 75042 [3]
Chief Chirpa p.259 8038 [1]
Chief Tarfful p.131 75043 [1]
Clone Commander p.61 8014 [1]
Clone Commander Wolffe p.85 7964 [1]
Clone Gunner p.63 8014, 8039 [1]
Clone Jet Trooper p.62 7748 [1]
Clone Pilot p.50 7674, 8019, 8039, 10195, 7958, 75021, 75076 [3]
Clone Pilot (Episode III) p.123 7259, 6205, 8096 [3]

Clone Trooper (Phase I) p.48 7163, 4482, 75000, 75007, 75015, 75016, 75023 [2]
Clone Trooper (CW - Phase I) p.61 Comic-Con Exclusive, 7679, 7681, 7675, 7679, 8018, 8019, 30006, 10195, DK Publishing Exclusive, 8091, 8098 [4]
Clone Trooper (Phase II) p.120 8091, 75028 [1]
Clone Trooper Commander p.64 8098 [1]
Clone Trooper Lieutenant p.64 5001709 [1]
Clone Troopers (Ranks) p.49 75019, 75000, 75021 [3]
Coleman Trebor p.41 75019 [1]
Commander Cody p.70 7676, 7959 [2]
Commander Fox p.81 7861 [1]
Commander Gree p.88 9491, DK Publishing Exclusive, 75043 [2]
Commander Neyo p.119 75037 [1]
Commando Droid Captain p.87 9488, 75012, DK Publishing Exclusive, 75002 [3]
Count Dooku p.44 7013, 75017 [2]
Count Dooku (CW) p.72 7752, 852555, Comic-Con Exclusive, 9515 [3]
Dak Ralter p.206 7130, 4500, 7666, 75049 [4]
Dark Eye Probe Droid p.172 7961, Comic-Con Exclusive [2]
Darth Malgus p.263 9500 [1]
Darth Maul p.20 7101, 7151, 7663, 7961, Toy Fair Exclusive [3]
Darth Maul (Mechanical Legs) p.118 75022 [1]
Darth Maul (Santa) p.20 9509 [1]
Darth Revan p.261 May the Fourth Exclusive [1]
Darth Vader p.145 7150, 7152, 7200, 10123, Nürnberg Toy Fair Exclusive, New York Toy Fair Exclusive, 7251, 7264, 6211, 10188, 8017, 10th Anniversary Exclusive, 7965, 10212, 10221, 5002198, 75055 [10]
Darth Vader (Battle Damaged) p.281 7672 [1]
Darth Vader (Santa) p.145 75056 [1]
Death Star Droid p.183 10188 [1]
Dengar p.209 6209, 10221 [2]
Destroyer Droid p.27 7163, 7203, 7662, 7877 [3]
Droid Brain p.172 10131 [1]
Droid Commander p.28 3343, 7204, 7670, 7680, 9515,

75043 [3]
Dutch Vander p.188 7150, 7152, 7262, 7658, 9495 [4]
Eeth Koth p.102 7964 [1]
Elite Assassin Droid p.80 8015, 7930, 8128 [2]
Embo p.99 7930 [1]
EV-9D9 p.224 4480 [1]
Even Piell p.113 9498 [1]
Ewok Warrior p.260 10236 [1]
Ezra Bridger p.153 75048, 75090 [1]
FA-4 Pilot Droid p.51 75017, 75023 [1]
FX-6 p.144 7251 [1]
Gamorrean Guard p.219 4476, 6210, 9516, 75005 [3]
Gasgano p.17 7171 [1]
General Airen Cracken p.246 75050 [1]
General Crix Madine p.241 7754 [1]
General Grievous p.127 7255, 7656, 75040 [3]
General Grievous (CW) p.75 8095, 9515 [1]
General Rieekan p.198 75014, 75056 [1]
General Veers p.202 10178, 8129, 75054 [3]
Geonosian Battle Droid p.43 4478, 75015, 75019 [3]
Geonosian Warrior p.46 4478 [2]
Geonosian Warrior (CW) p.103 7959, 9491 [2]
Geonosian Zombie p.104 9491 [1]
Glen Marek p.279 7672 [1]
GNK Droid p.170 4480, 10144, 9509, 75059 [3]
Grand Moff Tarkin p.180 6211, 10188 [1]
Gray Squadron Pilot p.247 75050 [1]
Greedo p.179 4501, 75052 [2]
Gungan Soldier p.25 7115, 7929, 9509, 75086 [3]
Han Solo p.178 7190, 10123, 4501, 8038, 10179, 10188, 7965, 1036, 75003, 75030, 75052 [8]
Han Solo (Carbonite) p.217 7014, 6210, 8097, 9516 [4]
Han Solo (Hoth) p.196 4504, 6212, 7749, 7879, May the Fourth Exclusive [5]
Han Solo (Medal Ceremony) p.194 DK Publishing Exclusive [1]
Han Solo (Stormtrooper Disguise) p.185 10188 [1]
Hera Syndulla p.147 75053 [1]
Hondo Ohnaka p.92 7753 [1]
Horn Company Clone Trooper p.64 7913 [1]

Hoth Rebel Trooper p.199
 7130, 4500, 7666, 7749, 8083,
 8129, 9059, 75014 [8]
I-20 interrogation droid
 p.172 10188 [1]
IG-88 p.211 6209, 10221 [2]
Imperial Crew p.236 75055 [1]
Imperial Gunner p.182 75034 [2]
Imperial Navy Trooper p.235
 10188, 8038, 75055 [3]
Imperial Officer p.181 7201,
 7264, 6211, 10212, 8084, 9509,
 9492 [6]
Imperial Officer (Rebels) p.154
 75082 [1]
Imperial Pilot p.236 7166, 10212,
 75033 [3]
Imperial Probe Droid p.173
 7666, 75014 [2]
Ithorian Jedi Master p.271
 75051 [1]
Jabba The Hutt p.218 4480, 6210,
 9516, 75020 [2]
Jace Malcom p.262 9497 [1]
Jango Fett p.36 75015, 7153 [2]
Jango Fett (Santa) p.36 75023 [1]
Jar Jar Binks p.8 7121, 7171,
 7161, 7159, 7115, 7929, 9499 [2]
Jawa p.168 10144, 75059 [3]
Jedi Consular p.264 75025 [1]
Jedi Knight p.40 7163 [1]
Jedi Knight (Old Republic) p.265
 75025 [1]
Jek Porkins p.190 9493 [1]
Jek-14 p.272 75018, 75051,
 Comic-Con Exclusive [2]
Juno Eclipse p.280 7672 [1]
K-3PO p.7 7666 [1]
Kanan Jarrus p.149 75053, 75084 [2]
Ki-Adi-Mundi p.100 7959 [1]
Kit Fisto p.129 7661, 8088, 9526 [2]
Kithaba p.234 9496 [1]
Lando Calrissian p.212 10123 [1]
Lando Calrissian (General) p.242
 7754 [1]
Lando Calrissian (Skiff Guard)
p.229 6210, 9496 [2]
Lobot p.213 7119, 9678 [2]
Logray p.257 7956 [1]
Luke Skywalker (Cloud City)
p.216 10123 [1]
Luke Skywalker (Dagobah)
p.207 4502 [1]
Luke Skywalker (Endor) p.249
 7128, 10236 [2]
Luke Skywalker (Hoth) p.195
 DK Publishing Exclusive [1]
Luke Skywalker (Infirmary)
p.200 7879 [1]
Luke Skywalker (Jedi Knight)
p.227 7104, 3341, 4480, 6210,
 9496, 75005 [6]
Luke Skywalker (Medal Ceremony) p.193 DK
 Publishing Exclusive [2]
Luke Skywalker
(Stormtrooper Disguise) p.184
 10188 [1]
Luke Skywalker (Tatooine) p.165
 7110, 7190, 4501, 10179, 10188,
 7965, 8092, Comic-Con Exclusive,
 75052, 75056, 75059, DK Publishing
 Exclusive [7]
Luke Skywalker (X-wing Pilot)
p.186 7130, 7140, 4483, 7142,
 2500, 6212, 7666, 10178, 8129,
 9493, 75014, 75049 [6]
Luminara Unduli p.57 7869 [1]
Mace Windu p.22 7261, 9526,
 75019 [4]
Magna Guard p.76 7673, 7752 [1]
Malakili p.225 75005 [1]
Mandalorian p.106 7914 [1]
Mandalorian Super Commando
p.71 75022 [2]
Max Rebo p.232 75020 [1]
Mon Mothma p.239 7754 [1]
Mouse Droid p.171 6211, 10188,
 75055, 75059 [2]
Naboo Fighter Pilot p.30 7660,
 7877, 9674 [2]
Naboo Security Guard p.31
 7124, 75058 [2]
Nahdar Vebb p.90 8095 [1]
Neimodian Warrior p.141 7504 [1]
Nikto Guard p.117 75024 [1]
Nute Gunray p.78 9494 [1]
Obi-Wan "Ben" Kenobi p.175
 7110, 4501, 10179, 10188, 8092,
 7965, 75052 [7]
Obi-Wan Kenobi (CW) p.54 7676,
 7753, Comic-Con Exclusive, 7931,
 9525 [2]
Obi-Wan Kenobi (Jedi Knight)
p.32 7133, 7143, 75021 [3]
Obi-Wan Kenobi (Jedi Master)
p.122 7283, 7255, 7257, 7661,
 9494, 75040 [6]
Obi-Wan Kenobi (Padawan) p.5
 7161, 7203, 7665, 7962, 9499,
 75058 [6]
Onaconda Farr p.79 8036 [1]
Oola p.222 9516 [1]
Owen Lars p.167 10144, 75079 [2]
Padmé Amidala (Senator) p.77
 9515 [1]
Padmé Amidala (Tatooine) p.39
 75021 [1]
Padmé Naberrie p.9 7131, 7171,
 7961 [2]
Palpatine, Chancellor p.74
 8039, 852844 [1]
Palpatine, Chancellor
(Exposed Sith Lord) p.138
 9526 [1]
Palpatine, Chancellor (Kidnapped Leader) p.128 75044 [1]
Palpatine, Emperor p.139
 7166, 7200, 10188, 8096, 7264,
 DK Publishing Exclusive [4]
Paploo p.256 7139, 8038 [2]
Pilot Droid (Specialist) p.29
 7126, 7662, 8036, 7929, 7958,
 75029, 75041, 75058, 75086 [5]
Pilot Droid (CW) p.82 7752 [1]
Pit Droid p.19 7131, 7171 [3]
Plo Koon p.55 7676, 8093, 75045 [2]
Poggle the Lesser p.45 75017 [1]
Pong Krell p.115 75004 [1]
Pre Vizsla p.105 9525 [1]
Princess Leia (Senator) p.164
 7190, 10179, 10188, 10198, 7965,
 9495 [4]
Princess Leia (Jabba's Prisoner)
p.228 4480, 6210, 75020 [3]
Princess Leia (Cloud City) p.215
 10123 [1]
Princess Leia (Endor) p.250
 8038, 10236 [2]
Princess Leia (Hoth) p.197 4504,
 6212, 7879 [1]
Queen Amidala p.10 9499 [1]
Qui-Gon Jinn p.4 7101, 7121,
 7161, 7171, 7204, 7665, 7961,
 9499, 75058 [5]
Quintan Vos p.109 7964 [1]
R-3PO p.7 7879 [1]
R1-G4 p.170 10144, 75059 [2]
R2 Unit p.24 75059 [1]
R2-D2 p.13 7140, 7141, 7171, 7190,
 7191, 7142, 7106, 4475, 4502,
 10144, 6212, 7660, 7669, 7680,
 10236, 75038, 75059, 10240,
 10225, 10198, 10188, 9494, 9493,
 9490, 8092, 8038, 7977 [27]
R2-D2 (CW) p.53 8037 [1]
R2-D2 (with Serving Tray) p.233
 6210, 75020 [2]
R2-Q2 p.278 7915 [1]
R2-O5 p.237 6211, 10188, 7958 [2]
R2-R7 p.24 7665 [1]
R3-D5 p.124 9498 [1]
R4-G0 p.275 75018 [1]
R4-P17 p.33 75006 [1]
R4-P44 p.124 8088 [1]
R5-D4 p.169 7150, 7180, 7152,
 7262, 10134, 7259, 7658, 10144,
 7493, 9493, 75059 [4]
R5-D7 p.125 9495, 75023 [1]
R5-D8 p.124 9493, 75059 [1]
R5-J2 p.125 9492 [1]
R7-A7 p.59 7751 [1]
R7-D4 p.124 8093 [1]
R8-B7 p.112 7868 [1]
RA-7 Protocol Droid p.273 75051 [1]
Rako Hardeen p.116 75024 [1]
Rebel Commando p.251 8038,
 9489, 10236 [5]
Rebel Scout Trooper p.163 7668,
 10198, 9509, 75011 [2]
Rebel Technician p.245 7140,
 7142, 7180, 6207 [2]
Recon Trooper p.137 7250 [1]
Red Astromech p.125 75039 [1]
Ree-Yees p.231 75020 [1]
Republic Captain p.23 7665 [1]
Republic Trooper p.267 75001 [2]
Rocket Droid Commander p.86
 8086 [1]
Rotta the Hutt p.60 7675, 7680 [1]
Royal Guard p.238 6211, 7166,
 7264, 10188, 75034 [3]
Sabine Wren p.151 75090 [1]
Saeesee Tiin p.111 7931, 9526 [2]
Salacious B. Crumb p.223 9516 [1]
Sandtrooper p.176 4501, 8092, 9490,
 75052, 7659, 9490 [6]
Satele Shah p.268 9497 [1]
Savage Opress p.110 7957 [1]
Scout Trooper p.252 7128, 7139,
 8038, 7956, 9489, 10236, 75023 [4]
Sebulba p.15 7171, 7962, 9695 [2]
Security Battle Droid p.29 7204,
 7877, 75044, 75073, 75077 [3]
Senate Commando Captain p.89
 8128, 75088 [2]
Sentry Droid p.173 8092 [1]
Shaak Ti p.83 7931 [1]
Shadow ARF Trooper p.67
 2856197 [1]
Shadow Guard p.283 75079 [1]
Shadow Trooper p.282 75079 [1]
Shahan Alama p.108 8128 [1]
Shock Trooper p.67 7655, 7671,
 75046 [3]
Siege Battalion Trooper p.136
 7260 [1]
Sith Trooper p.270 9500, 75001,
 75025 [3]
Sith Warrior p.266 75025 [1]
Skyhopper Pilot p.166 75081,
 4477 [2]
Snowtrooper p.204 4483, 4504,
 7666, 7749, 7879, 8084, 8129,
 10178, 852715, 9059, 75014,
 75056, 75049, 75054 [7]
Special Forces Clone
Commander p.276
 DK Publishing Exclusive [1]
Special Forces Clone Trooper
p.276 75018 [1]
Star Corps Trooper p.134 7261,
 7655 [2]
Stass Allie p.42 75016 [1]
Stormtrooper p.160 7146, 7139,
 7201, 10123, 7264, 6211, 7659,
 7667, 30005, 10188, 8087, 10212,
 10th Anniversary Exclusive,
 10236, DK Publishing Exclusive,
 9489, 75055 [8]
Stormtrooper (Rebels) p.150
 75053, 75078, 75083, 75090 [1]
Sugi p.98 7930 [1]
Super Battle Droid p.47 7163,
 7654, 7670, 7681, 8018, 8091,
 7869, 9509, 75016, 75021, 75037,
 75042, 75043, 750506 [3]
T7-O1 p.269 9497 [1]
Tactical Droid TX-20 p.84 7868 [1]
TC-14 p.6 May the Fourth
 Exclusive [1]
TC-4 p.6 5002122 [1]
Teebo (Ewok) p.255 10236 [1]
Ten Numb p.244 6208, 75050 [2]
The Inquisitor p.159 75082 [1]
Thi-Sen p.96 8085 [1]
TIE Pilot p.192 7146, 4479, 10131,
 7263, 6206, 7659, 8087, 7958,
 9492, 9676, 75008, 75031, 75056 [7]
TIE Pilot (Rebels) p.146 75082 [1]
Tokkat p.258 7956 [1]
Treadwell Droid p.171 10144,
 75059 [3]
Turk Falso p.93 7753 [1]
Tusken Raider p.38 7113, 75081 [2]
Umbaran Soldier p.114 75013 [1]
V-Wing Pilot p.277 7915 [1]
W. Wald p.16 7962 [1]
Watto p.14 7186, 7962 [2]
Wedge Antilles p.191 6212 [1]
Weequay Skiff Guard p.230
 75020 [1]
Wicket W. Warrick p.254 7139,
 8038, 10236 [3]
Wolfpack Clone Trooper p.69
 7964, 75045 [2]
Wookiee Warrior p.132 7258,
 7260 [1]
Wookiee Warrior (Rebels) p.158
 75084 [1]
Wullffwarro p.157 75084 [1]
X-wing Pilot p.187 9677, 75032 [2]
Yoda p.21 4502, 7103, 7260,
 75017 [2]
Yoda (CW) p.56 8018, 852555, 7964,
 75002 [3]
Zam Wessel p.35 7133 [1]
Zeb p.152 75053 [1]
Zev Senesca p.205 8083, 8089,
 7958 [2]

Penguin
Random House

Editors Pamela Afram, Hannah Dolan, Clare Hibbert, Shari Last, Julia March, and Victoria Taylor

Designers Elena Jarmoskaite, Pamela Shiels, Mark Richards, Anne Sharples, and Jon Hall

Senior Designer Jo Connor

Senior Pre-Production Producer Jennifer Murray

Senior Producer Lloyd Robertson

Managing Editor Simon Hugo

Design Manager Guy Harvey

Art Director Lisa Lanzarini

Publisher Julie Ferris

Publishing Director Simon Beecroft

Consultants Jon Hall and Ace Kim

Additional minifigures photographed by Gary Ombler

First published in the United States in 2011 by DK Publishing
345 Hudson Street, New York,
New York 10014

2015 American Edition,
Published in the United States
by DK Publishing
345 Hudson Street, New York,
New York 10014

Copyright © 2015 Dorling
Kindersley Limited
A Penguin Random House Company

15 16 17 18 19 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
003-182935-Apr/15

LEGO, the LEGO logo, the Brick and Knob configurations, and the Minifigure are trademarks of the LEGO Group. © 2015 The LEGO Group. Produced by Dorling Kindersley Limited under license from the LEGO Group.

© & TM 2015 Lucasfilm Ltd.

Without limiting the rights under the copyright reserved above, no part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in or introduced into a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form, or by any means (electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise), without the prior written permission of the copyright owner.

Published in Great Britain by Dorling Kindersley Limited.

A catalog record for this book is available from the Library of Congress.

ISBN 978-1-4654-3550-7

DK books are available at special discounts when purchased in bulk for sales promotions, premiums, fund-raising, or educational use. For details, contact: DK Publishing Special Markets, 4th Floor, 345 Hudson Street, New York, New York 10014
SpecialSales@dk.com

Printed in China

Dorling Kindersley would like to thank:
Randi Sørensen, Robert Stefan Ekblom, Paul Hansford, Heike Bornhausen, and Jakob Liesenfeld at the LEGO Group; J.W. Rinzler and Leland Chee at Lucasfilm; Julia March, Beth Davies, and Toby Mann for editorial assistance; Mik Gates, Akiko Kato, Jon Hall, and Jane Ewart for design assistance.

Discover more at www.dk.com www.LEGO.com/starwars

The full collection of LEGO® Star Wars® minifigures in one place!

Discover a galaxy of LEGO® Star Wars® minifigures in this fully updated and expanded guide. Meet all your favorites from the movie saga, Star Wars®: The Clone Wars, and Star Wars Rebels™, and find out fascinating facts about rare and exclusive releases!

$18.99 USA
$20.99 Canada

WARNING!
Choking hazard.
Small parts.

LEGO MINIFIGURE MADE IN DENMARK, HUNGARY,
CHINA, MEXICO, AND THE CZECH REPUBLIC.

LEGO, the LEGO logo, the Brick and Knob configurations, and the Minifigure are trademarks of the LEGO Group.
© 2015 The LEGO Group.
Produced by Dorling Kindersley under license from the LEGO Group. Distributed by DK Publishing, 345 Hudson Street, New York, New York 10014. Please keep this address for future reference.

© & TM 2015 Lucasfilm Ltd.
starwars.com

www.dk.com

Printed in China

ISBN 978-1-4654-3550-7

5 1 8 9 9